INVESTIGATIVE SUMMARY

INVESTIGATIVE SUMMARY
DEPUTY INVOLVED SHOOTING: HIT
SH# 2285686
URN 911-05058-2176-055

DATE / TIME / LOCATIONS

Monday, April 4, 2011
0900 hours
[redacted] East 92nd Street, Los Angeles

On Monday, April 4, 2011, at 0826 hours, Deputies Fisk #[redacted] and Rines #[redacted] (Century Unit 217B) received a prowler call (Tag 74) in the area of [redacted] Baird Avenue, Los Angeles. Deputy Inzunza and his partner, Deputy Sibrian, (Century Unit 217A) assigned themselves to the call and went enroute.

Deputies Sibrian and Inzunza were in a marked black and white sheriff's patrol car, in full Class A uniform, and it was the second time they had worked together.

While enroute to the call, Deputies Inzunza and Sibrian were directed by the handling unit to go to 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue, and eventually parked their patrol car at the northwest corner of 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue.

Deputies Inzunza and Sibrian started walking westbound on the south sidewalk of 92nd Street towards the general area where the suspect had been seen. Deputy Inzunza was in the lead, armed with an Ithaca shotgun, followed by Deputy Sibrian.

Deputy Inzunza stopped at the east fence located at [redacted] East 92nd Street, when he heard over the radio that the suspect was running to the front of 92nd Street. Deputy Inzunza believed he was dealing with a burglary suspect because someone put out over the radio that the suspect was seen coming out of a residence. They saw a female Hispanic (later identified as Witness [redacted] come from the backyard of this location to the driveway (east side of residence), followed by a male (later identified as the suspect), who stopped when he saw the deputies.

Deputy Inzunza asked Witness [redacted] if she knew the suspect, and she replied she did not know him and thought the suspect was trying to break into the neighbor's residence. Deputy Inzunza noticed Witness [redacted] appeared scared by her body language and he told the suspect to come to him. The suspect ran to the rear of the location and out of view.

The suspect reappeared on the west side of the residence located at [redacted] East 92nd Street, along a fence, with a gun in his right hand. The suspect was coming north toward the sidewalk as Deputies Inzunza and Sibrian approached westbound on the sidewalk to this residence. The suspect pointed the gun at Deputy Inzunza. Fearing for his safety, and the safety of his partner, Deputy Inzunza fired one round from the shotgun, striking the suspect. After firing one round from the shotgun, the shotgun jammed, so Deputy Inzunza drew his county issued 9MM Beretta.

The suspect jumped over a fence and into the front yard of [redacted] East 92nd Street, with the gun still in his hand. Deputies Inzunza and Sibrian continued westbound on the sidewalk to the northwest corner of the residence located at [redacted] East 92nd Street, as the suspect continued running south down the driveway of the same location. The suspect turned toward his right and pointed the gun at Deputy Inzunza. Deputy Inzunza gave commands for the suspect to stop and put his hands up. Believing the suspect was going to shoot him or Deputy Sibrian, Deputy Inzunza fired four rounds from his Beretta, striking the suspect.

The suspect tossed his gun and continued running south down the driveway, then eastbound, possibly between the residence and detached garage. Deputy Inzunza put out radio traffic indicating he had been involved in a shooting, along with the location, suspect's direction of travel, and clothing description. He also retrieved the suspect's gun from the ground because he was concerned the suspect would return and pick up the weapon.

Deputy Inzunza and his partner returned to their patrol car (northwest corner of 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue) to ensure the suspect remained in the containment area, and to secure the suspect's weapon in the trunk of the patrol car.

The suspect barricaded himself inside a garage at [redacted] Zamora Avenue. After obtaining a search warrant, personnel from the Department's Special Enforcement Bureau (SEB) introduced chemical agents into the garage. After several minutes, the suspect stepped out of the garage and laid down on the ground with his hands underneath him. After failing to comply with numerous commands to stand up and walk back to the arrest team, Deputy Gaunt deployed his K9 on the suspect. The arrest team moved in and placed the suspect under arrest several hours after the initial prowler call.

The suspect was initially treated on scene for his injuries, then transported to Saint Francis Medical Center for additional medical treatment.

IAB Note: Homicide Bureau's complete case book is included in this case book (See Exhibit A).

Internal Affairs Bureau Lieutenant Stefanie Fredericks was notified, and Sergeants John Rossi and Scott Graham responded to the Incident Command Post. The following review is based on written documentation, interviews of witnesses, involved deputies, and medical staff.

IAB Note: Lieutenant Fredericks checked to see that the watch commander, Sergeant Figueroa, took reasonable steps to ensure that the involved and witness personnel did not discuss the incident among themselves or with uninvolved persons prior to being interviewed by the assigned investigators, and that the involved and witness personnel did not collectively consult with their attorney or representative. In addition, Lieutenant Fredericks checked to see if the watch commander attempted to have involved and witness personnel gather in the company of a supervisor until they have provided a statement to the assigned investigators.

INJURIES

Suspect

Suspect Billups sustained three gunshot wounds to his left back, left thigh, and right buttock regions. He also sustained dog bites on the right side of his back. The suspect was treated on scene and transported to Saint Francis Medical Center in Lynwood, for additional medical treatment.

Deputy Personnel:

No deputy personnel were injured during the incident.

PHYSICAL EVIDENCE

The crime scene was approximately one block in size. Several expended bullet casings, lead/pellet fragments, fired bullets, and some of the suspect's clothing and property were found throughout the scene. Bullet impacts were also found and documented.

> IAB Note: For a complete listing of physical evidence collected at the scene, see Exhibit A, Pages 145 through 146.

DISTANCE

Approximately 20 to 30 yards.

INVESTIGATOR OBSERVATIONS

The 1300 block of East 92nd Street is primarily residential. 92nd Street is an east/west street, single lane asphalt service, which accommodates parking on the north and south sides of the street. The shooting incidents occurred between Baird Avenue to the west and Zamora Avenue to the east. To the south of 92nd Street is an east/west alleyway, which can provide access to vehicles and pedestrians.

The primary locations of this incident were [redacted] East 92nd Street, and [redacted] Zamora Avenue. [redacted] and [redacted] East 92nd Street are the two locations where Deputy Inzunza fired his weapons.

IAB Note: Photographs of the primary residences (front of residences along 92nd Street) involving Deputy Inzunza's shooting are included in this case book (See Exhibit B). A sketch of the scene is also included (See Exhibit A, Page 105).

REVIEW OF RADIO TRANSMISSIONS

The Internal Affairs Bureau Investigator reviewed the radio transmissions associated with the incident. The Working Channel, Local Tactical Channel (L-TAC), and Area Tactical Channel (A-TAC 4) were reviewed.

On the Working Channel, at 0836 hours, Deputy Inzunza is heard requesting emergency clearance, and for the "Patch." He advises he had just been involved in a "998" (shooting) at 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue of an armed burglary suspect. He provides a clothing description of the suspect, and he advises the suspect is going to the rear of [redacted] East 92nd Street.

Deputies can be heard acknowledging the radio traffic and providing response times, when a deputy can be heard over the radio saying, "Let me see your hands." Aero Unit (Air-7) also comes up on the frequency asking the deputies for their location.

Initially, the radio traffic indicates that deputies might have detained the suspect, then a deputy comes over the air advising the suspect is between the house and the green garage ([redacted] East 92nd Street). The same deputy advises everyone to hold their positions and to watch their crossfire.

Seconds later, Deputy Inzunza broadcasts the suspect's physical and clothing description again, and advises the suspect is contained between Baird Avenue and Zamora Avenue, south of 92nd Street. Deputy Inzunza also advises the shotgun "jammed up."

Radio traffic indicates the suspect is jumping fences and running eastbound. Deputies can be heard adjusting their containment positions, along with a supervisor and Air-7 responding. A deputy then advises he was contacted by a resident at [redacted] Zamora Avenue, who told him the suspect just entered their garage.

Radio traffic continues with a K9 request, Command Post issues, assignments to block traffic in the area, Air-7 providing surveillance information, and Roll Call before switching to the Area Tactical Channel (A-TAC 4).

On the Local Tactical Channel (L-TAC), at 0831 hours, deputies can be heard providing additional information about the call.

Deputy Inzunza can be heard arriving in the area. Approximately three minutes later (0834 hours), Deputy Inzunza is directed to the front of a "Cream colored" or "Light yellow" house on 92nd Street. At 0836 hours, deputies can be heard advising the suspect is running westbound on 92nd Street.

On the Area Tactical Channel (A-TAC 4), at 0848 hours, a K9 Unit deputy can be heard confirming the circumstances with Command Post personnel, along with a description of the suspect, and the address of the barricaded suspect.

Deputy personnel can be heard confirming the need for evacuations of the crime scene area, and other instructions regarding the containment and Command Post duties. A K9 Unit deputy also advises the Command Post they will be arriving in a few minutes and will go directly to the target location ([redacted] Zamora Avenue).

Additional information is broadcasted to the Command Post regarding the informants at [redacted] Zamora Avenue and the suspect inside the garage. The Command Post indicates they would be making telephonic contact with the informants at the location. They also advised that a weapon had been recovered from the suspect, and it was unknown if he had additional weapons.

Radio traffic indicated evacuations were being done, and victims from [redacted] Zamora Avenue were being transported to the Command Post for additional information. A K9 Unit also advises of an open door at [redacted] East 92nd Street, and they were going to clear the location.

> IAB Note: A Compact Disc, containing the recordings of the Working Channel, Local Tactical Channel, and Area Tactical Channel is included in this case book. Refer to the compact disc for additional information.

LIGHTING AND WEATHER CONDITIONS

It was daylight when the incident occurred (0900 hours). The weather was sunny and dry.

WEAPONS USED BY DEPUTY PERSONNEL

Deputy Inzunza:

Service Weapon Type:	Ithaca 12 Gauge Shotgun
Rounds Fired:	One

Type of Ammunition Used:	Federal Tactical, 12 Gauge, 2 3/4, #4 Buck Shotshell.
Date Employee Last Qualified:	01/06/2009

Service Weapon Type:	Beretta 9mm Semi-Automatic
Rounds Fired:	Four
Type of Ammunition Used:	Department Issued 9MM Luger (Win)
Date Employee Last Qualified:	05/24/2010

Four expended, 9 MM, casings, 3 fired bullets, Shotshell wadding and pellets were recovered at the scene. (See Exhibit A, Pages 145, 146, and 152.

IAB Note: Deputy Inzunza indicated in his IAB interview that he had qualified with his firearm. A check of Deputy Inzunza's qualification records indicated the last time he qualified was in the 2nd Trimester of 2010. Range Staff said no delinquency report was generated for the 3rd Trimester of 2010; however, the draft version of the delinquency report for the 1st Trimester of 2011 listed Deputy Inzunza's name. Deputy Inzunza was unable to produce a shooting card score for the 3rd Trimester of 2010, or the 1st Trimester of 2011.

WEAPONS USED BY SUSPECT

The suspect's firearm was recovered at [redacted] 92nd Street. The firearm is a "Lorcin," Semiautomatic pistol, 380 Caliber, Model "L380," Serial Number 217662. The chamber was empty, and the magazine contained no cartridges (See Exhibit A, Page 144).

Further inspection of the suspect's firearm by crime lab personnel determined the weapon to be non-functional, due to a broken firing pin (See Exhibit A, Page 141).

IAB Note: Photographs of the suspect's firearm are included in this case book (See Exhibit C).

PROPERTY DAMAGE

Bullet impacts were observed on the north facing surface of the north side of the stairway leading to [redacted] East 92nd Street, [redacted], at the north exterior wall of the garage located south of [redacted] East 92nd Street, and bullet related damage to the grass located west of the walkway, west of [redacted] East 92nd Street (See Exhibit A, Pages 143 through 144).

Shot pellet damage was also located on the east and north exterior walls of [redacted] East 92nd Street. This damage consisted of three impacts on the east wall and two impacts on the north wall. Based on Deputy Inzunza's statements, the damage was caused by Deputy Inzunza's use of his service weapon and Department shotgun while engaging the suspect (See Exhibit A, Pages 143 through 144).

IAB Note: Photographs of the damage are included in this case book (See Exhibit D).

CRIMINAL INVESTIGATOR/CHARGES FILED

Investigators: Homicide Bureau - Sergeants John Fredendall #[redacted] and Ken Clark #[redacted]

Charges: Suspect was charged with four counts of Assault on a Peace Officer with a Semiautomatic Firearm, 245(d)(2) PC, five counts of Resisting Executive Officer, 69 PC, two counts of Residential Burglary, 459 PC, one count of Possession of Firearm by a Felon, 12021(a)(1), and one count of Resist, Obstruct, Delay of Peace Officer, 148(a)(1) PC.

INVOLVED EMPLOYEE STATEMENTS

Involved Deputy Gonzalo Inzunza was interviewed by Homicide Bureau investigators John Fredendall and Ken Clark in the presence of his attorney, Audra Call of Green & Shinee, on April 4, 2011, at 1733 hours. The interview was conducted at Century Station, and was audio recorded.

Deputy Inzunza said Century Unit 216B received the handle on a prowler call in the area of Baird. He said they (he and his partner, Deputy Sibrian) assigned themselves to the call and started responding from 59th Street and Central Avenue.

Deputy Inzunza said they were directed by the handling unit to go to Zamora and 92nd Street. They arrived at the location and the handling deputy gathered information from an informant that they had seen the suspect in the backyard of a property on 92nd Street. He and his partner were directed to the front of a property on 92nd Street. They got back into their patrol car and went to the northwest corner of 92nd Street and Zamora. They started walking westbound on the south sidewalk towards the target location. Deputy Inzunza had an Ithaca shotgun in his hand, followed by his partner.

Deputy Inzunza said they got to [redacted] 92nd Street and approached the driveway as he heard over the radio that the suspect was running eastbound and to the front toward 92nd Street. Deputy Inzunza said he saw the suspect approximately 20 yards away, standing to the left of a female Hispanic. He said the suspect was less than one foot away from the female Hispanic. He said the suspect saw him, attempted to grab the female Hispanic, and had "that look" like he was scared or panicked. Deputy Inzunza asked the female Hispanic if she knew the suspect. She said, "No. No." and shrugged away from the suspect. She told Deputy Inzunza she did not know who the suspect was and thought he was trying to break in (to the neighbor's house).

Deputy Inzunza said the suspect ran to the rear of the property where he lost sight of him. He said he raised the shotgun and speed walked toward the direction of the suspect, with Deputy Sibrian behind him. The suspect re-appeared on the number three side of the target location with a handgun in his hand. The suspect saw Deputy Inzunza , started to walk toward him, and pointed the handgun at Deputy Inzunza. He said he told the suspect to put his hands up and fired one round from the shotgun at the suspect.

Deputy Inzunza said he racked the shotgun, but it jammed, as he told the suspect to put his hands up. The suspect jumped over a fence. Deputy Inzunza dropped the shotgun and ran to the front yard to the next house west of this location. Deputy Inzunza temporarily lost sight of the suspect, but the suspect re-appeared. Deputy Inzunza yelled at the suspect, who turned toward him with a handgun in his right hand. Deputy Inzunza said he shot at the suspect with his 9mm Beretta three to five times.

Deputy Inzunza said the suspect tossed his handgun and disappeared by running eastbound. He said he got on the patch and heard radio traffic that the suspect was seen. Deputy Inzunza and his partner went back to Zamora to contain the area when someone said the suspect went into a garage. Deputy Inzunza said he had no cover or concealment when confronted by the suspect.

Deputy Inzunza said he recovered the suspect's handgun (black .380 caliber semi-automatic) because he did not want the suspect to recover his own weapon. He secured the handgun in the trunk of their patrol vehicle and remained at the car with his partner until relieved. Once relieved, he reported to the Command Post (92nd Street and Central Avenue) with his partner, and ultimately went to Century Station.

Deputy Inzunza said he believed the prowler call might turn into a burglary call as they got there because an informant mentioned seeing the suspect peaking through windows, and then lost sight of him.

IAB Note: The Homicide Bureau Investigators summarized their interview with Deputy Inzunza in a Supplemental Report included in this case book (See Exhibit A, Pages 80 through 87).

A Compact Disc, containing the audio recording of Deputy Inzunza's Homicide interview, is also included in this case book.

Involved Deputy Gonzalo Inzunza was interviewed by Internal Affairs investigators John Rossi and Scott Graham in the presence of his attorney, Audra Call of Green & Shinee, on August 17, 2011, at 1010 hours. The interview was conducted at Internal Affairs Bureau, Interview Room B, and was audio recorded.

Deputy Inzunza said he has been with the Sheriff's Department for 12 years. Deputy Inzunza said after the academy, he worked the Inmate Reception Center (5 years), Century Station (5 ½ years), and is currently assigned to Narcotics Bureau.

At the beginning of the interview, Deputy Inzunza was given the opportunity to change, modify, or add to any portion of his statement he made to homicide investigators the day of the incident since several months had passed and he has had time to reflect on the incident. Deputy Inzunza chose not to make any changes to his prior statement.

IAB investigators briefly went through Deputy Inzunza's statement given to homicide detectives to confirm its accuracy and to provide clarity in certain areas, along with providing additional information in the area of tactics and training.

Deputy Inzunza said on the day of the incident, he and his partner (Deputy Sibrian) were working 214A (Willowbrook Area). He was the bookman and Deputy Sibrian was the driver of a marked black and white Sheriff's patrol car.

IAB Note: The Daily In-Service and Deputy Daily Worksheet (DDWS) showed Deputy Inzunza and Deputy Sibrian were working Century Unit 217A.

Deputy Inzunza said they assigned themselves to a prowler call in the Area of Baird Avenue. Enroute to the call, they were directed to go to 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue. Deputy Inzunza said initially, they had parked their patrol car at Zamora Avenue and the east/west alley, south of 92nd Street, facing north. He said the handling unit then directed them to 92nd Street, so they parked their patrol car at the northwest corner of 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue.

Deputy Inzunza said he started walking westbound on the south sidewalk of 92nd Street towards the general area where the suspect had been seen. Deputy Inzunza said he was in the lead, armed with the Ithaca shotgun, followed by Deputy Sibrian.

Deputy Inzunza said he stopped at the east fence located at [redacted] East 92nd Street, when he heard over the radio that the suspect was running to the front of 92nd Street, and believed he was dealing with a burglary suspect because someone put out over the radio that the suspect had been seen coming out of a residence. He said he saw a female (later identified as [redacted] come from the backyard of this location to the driveway (east side of residence), followed by the suspect, who stopped when he saw Deputy Inzunza. Deputy Inzunza said he was approximately 20 yards away from the suspect, who was shoulder to shoulder with the female.

Deputy Inzunza said he asked the female if she knew the suspect, and she replied she did not know him and thought the suspect was trying to break into the residence. Deputy Inzunza noticed a petrified look on the female's face and saw the suspect try to reach for the female's shoulder. He said once the female shrugged off to the left, he told the suspect to come to him. The suspect ran to the rear of the location and out of view.

Deputy Inzunza said the suspect reappeared on the west side of the residence located at [redacted] East 92nd Street, along a fence, with a gun in his right hand. He said the suspect came north, along the fence, as if he was going to climb over it. Deputy Inzunza said the suspect slipped as he tried to climb over the fence, and continued north along the fence toward the sidewalk.

Deputy Inzunza said the suspect was approximately 10 yards from the sidewalk, as he was approaching westbound on the sidewalk of 92nd Street at [redacted] East 92nd Street. He said the suspect turned toward him, and pointed a gun at him, so Deputy Inzunza fired one round from the shotgun. Deputy Inzunza said he was approximately 20 yards from the suspect when he fired the shotgun.

Deputy Inzunza indicated the wall to the residence located at [redacted] East 92nd Street was his backdrop, and he aimed with the sights prior to firing the shotgun. He said the only thing between him and the suspect was the wrought iron fence in front of [redacted] East 92nd Street, and indicated some of the pellets may have hit the wrought iron fence when he shot. Deputy Inzunza said his partner was approximately five to eight feet behind him when he fired the shotgun, and he believes he struck the suspect.

Deputy Inzunza said after he shot the first round, the shotgun jammed, and he tossed it to the ground. After the incident was over, he noticed that one of the forks used to load the round into the barrel was severely bent.

Deputy Inzunza said he did not put out any radio traffic at this time about the shooting because his focus was on the suspect, who was jumping over a fence and into the front yard of [redacted] East 92nd Street, with a gun in his hand. He added he was also flustered as he tried several times to rack a new round into the barrel of the shotgun.

Deputy Inzunza said he drew his 9MM Beretta and continued westbound on the sidewalk to the northwest corner of the residence located at [redacted] East 92nd Street, as the suspect continued running south down the driveway of the same location. Deputy Inzunza said the suspect was approximately 30 yards away, when the suspect turned toward his right and pointed the gun at him. He gave commands for the suspect to stop and put his hands up, then fired four rounds from his Beretta because he believed the suspect was going to shoot him or Deputy Sibrian. Deputy Inzunza said he utilized his sights, shot all four rounds one after the other, and his backdrop was the detached garage located south of the residence at [redacted] East 92nd Street. He believed he hit the suspect with the rounds in the torso area because the suspect made a noise, and by the way the suspect's body motioned, after the shooting.

Deputy Inzunza said the suspect tossed his gun to the ground and continued running south down the driveway, then eastbound, possibly between the residence and the detached garage. Deputy Inzunza said he put out radio traffic indicating he had been involved in a shooting, along with the location, suspect's direction of travel, and clothing description. He also said he retrieved the suspect's gun because he was concerned the suspect would return and pick up the weapon.

Deputy Inzunza and his partner returned to their patrol car (northwest corner of 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue) to ensure the suspect remained in the containment area. They were ultimately relieved of their containment position, responded to the Command Post, then to Century Station.

Deputy Inzunza said the suspect had several opportunities to give up and prevent the shooting, such as when he and his partner first made contact with the suspect, and the suspect was instructed to stop in the driveway at [redacted] East 92nd Street. When they made contact with the suspect, he was instructed to stop and put his hands up in the driveway at [redacted] East 92nd Street, and when they made contact with the suspect and he was again instructed to stop and put his hands up in the driveway at [redacted] East 92nd Street.

For Deputy Inzunza's complete statements, refer to his verbatim interview transcripts.

SUSPECT STATEMENTS

Suspect Tennell Billups Jr. was interviewed by Homicide Bureau investigators John Fredendall and Ken Clark on April 4, 2011, at 2040 hours. The interview was conducted at Saint Francis Medical Center, Intensive Care Unit - Room 3105, and was audio recorded.

Investigator Fredendall read Suspect Billups his Miranda Warnings, but the suspect was unable to maintain a clear response to the investigators questions and the interview was terminated.

> IAB Note: During this interview, the suspect appeared to be under medication and was unable to provide clear verbal responses to the investigators questions (See Exhibit A, Pages 90 through 91).

Subject Billups was interviewed a second time by Homicide Bureau investigators John Fredendall and Ken Clark on April 5, 2011, at 1211 hours. The interview was conducted at Saint Francis Medical Center, Intensive Care Unit, and was audio recorded.

Investigator Fredendall read Suspect Billups his Miranda Warnings, and he agreed to talk with investigators without the presence of an attorney.

Subject Billups said his car broke down so he started walking. He said he got to 92nd. Street and was wearing a lot of blue, when some guys in a car pulled up and said something to him. Subject Billups said he ran down a side street and jumped a gate, and stayed there for at least 20 minutes because the car kept coming past. He said he waited, then went into another yard and came out on the next block far away from them (people in the car), and was confronted by the police.

Subject Billups said the police told him to freeze and they started shooting at him. The police said he had a gun, and he told them he did not have a gun, and the officer started shooting. Subject Billups said he started running and jumped over a gate as the deputy got out of his car, went running toward him, and shot at him. Subject Billups said he ran around the back of a house, and another officer was there and that officer started to shoot at him. He said the officer was trying to kill him and he got shot. He told the officer he got shot and the officer told him, "I'm going to shoot you again mother fucker." The suspect said he kept running and was scared.

As investigators questioned the suspect about the incident, he said his white truck registered to him broke down on Avalon as he was trying to go to his sister's house. He said the people that confronted him in the car were black and in a gray Impala. The suspect admitted to being a member of the Santana Block gang (Crips) and said the guys in the car were Bloods.

Suspect Billups said when he first saw the deputies, he did not recognize them as cops. He said he saw the gun and did not know if they were the guys from the gray Impala or not. He said it happened so fast and he (deputy) started shooting. The suspect said he does not know who shot him, but the police were shooting at him and he did not have a gun. During his interview, the suspect said he had been shot 11 times prior to this incident, so when someone brandishes a gun, "he is gone."

The suspect said there was a woman there during the incident and he told the woman, "These people are trying to do something to me." The suspect said the woman told him to stay right there and the police started shooting at him.

The suspect said once he was shot, he started running. The suspect said he was shot at approximately 16 times. He said the second time he was shot at, he laid on the ground once he realized it was the police. He said the police told him not to move, and mentioned he had been shot and he was hurting. The suspect said while he was on the ground, the police started shooting again. The suspect said they released the (police) dog on him, and the dog dragged him for two blocks.

The suspect denied on several occasions that he had a gun during any part of this incident.

The suspect said after he was shot, he ran into someone's garage. The suspect said he was shot in the back and in the back of his legs, and did not know it was the police. He said once he was hiding in the garage, he knew the police were outside but he was scared. He said the police were saying come out or we are going to start shooting again. The suspect denied going into anyone's house during the incident.

The suspect said he has been diagnosed with [redacted], and has not been taking his medication for the past couple of weeks.

Investigators questioned the suspect further regarding him going into someone's house. They told the suspect that a witness saw him coming out of someone's house. The suspect started to deny entering anyone's house, but as Investigators questioned him further, he said he did not know because he was running, scared, and he had been shot. They continued to question the suspect and the suspect admitted to being in three adjacent yards, but denied going into any of the houses.

As investigators were summarizing the suspect's story with him, the suspect said he was running from the guys in the car. He ran through a couple yards trying to work his way to his sister's house. The suspect said he peeked his head out when he was contacted. The woman was next to him and he told her it was the cops. The suspect said the woman told him to stay there. He said when he looked again, the officer started shooting. The suspect said the woman had already run away when the officer started shooting.

The suspect said he ran into another yard, and an officer started shooting. The suspect said he ran back to the other yard and stopped because he knew he had been shot and he was getting weak. The suspect said he went into the garage and laid there. The suspect said they shot tear gas into the garage which caused him to crawl out. At one point, the suspect spoke with his female friend "[redacted]n the telephone. He told her to stop calling his phone because he had been shot.

The suspect said he was arrested once in the past for [redacted] as a juvenile.

For Suspect Billups' complete statements, refer to his verbatim interview transcripts.

IAB Note: The Homicide Bureau Investigators summarized their interview with Suspect Billups in a Supplemental Report included in this case book (See Exhibit A, Pages 91 through 96).

A Compact Disc, containing the audio recording of Suspect Billups' interview, is also included in this case book.

SWORN WITNESSES

Witness Deputy Erik Sibrian was interviewed by Homicide Bureau investigators John Fredendall and Ken Clark in the presence of his attorney, Audra Call of Green & Shinee, on April 4, 2011, at 1837 hours. The interview was conducted at Century Station, and was audio recorded.

Deputy Sibrian said he was working uniformed patrol as "217 Adam" (driver) with his partner, Deputy Inzunza (bookman). He said they heard a prowler call, in the area of 92nd Street, over the radio and they assigned themselves to the call. When asked about any additional information about the call, Deputy Sibrian said it was transferred from the Los Angeles Police Department and it involved a male Hispanic in a backyard. He could not remember if the call indicated the male Hispanic was "just hanging out" or if he was looking through windows.

Deputy Sibrian said when they arrived, they parked their vehicle on the corner of 92nd. Street and Zamora. Deputy Sibrian and his partner got out of the vehicle and stood by one house south of the alley on containment, waiting for additional information regarding the location.

Deputy Sibrian said his partner was armed with the department issued shotgun. He said he (Deputy Sibrian) had loaded the shotgun with 00 Buck shells.

IAB Note: Crime Lab personnel indicated the shotgun was loaded with #4 Buck shotshells (See Exhibit A, Page 142)

Deputy Sibrian said one of the units requested them over the radio to go to mid-block 92nd Street. He said they walked west on 92nd Street (south sidewalk) with his partner in front of him. He said they were looking at every house from the sidewalk, when they saw a lady (female Hispanic, 18 to 25 years old, dark hair, slim figure) "pop out" from an open driveway. He said they looked at her and started walking toward the driveway. He said the lady (later identified as [redacted] did not look normal, like she appeared to be startled, surprised, or scared.

Deputy Sibrian said his partner made contact with the female asking if everything was okay. He said she just looked at them, when they saw a guy (suspect) standing next to her. Deputy Sibrian said it seemed like the suspect was holding her hand and she was not free to come to them. Deputy Sibrian said his partner asked the female if she knew the suspect and she said "No." Deputy Inzunza told the suspect to come to him so he could talk to him. Deputy Sibrian said the female was able to walk to the middle of the driveway and told deputies she did not know the suspect and the suspect was trying to go into her house, as the suspect was trying to hide from them. He said the suspect kept popping his head in and out at them.

Deputy Sibrian said the suspect ran westbound. He said Deputy Inzunza starting heading westbound on 92nd Street while he momentarily stayed where he was because he was unsure where the suspect was going, then he (Deputy Sibrian) followed Deputy Inzunza.

Deputy Sibrian said he was approximately five to ten feet behind his partner, when he heard the "boom" from the shotgun as he saw the suspect running, and tried to see where the suspect was going. Deputy Sibrian said the suspect jumped a fence westbound as he tried to see what was going on and thought the suspect might have a gun. Deputy Sibrian said he started looking for cover. The suspect stopped, turned toward them, and Deputy Inzunza fired three to four rounds from his county issued Beretta. He said the suspect ran southbound on a pathway.

Deputy Sibrian said he never saw the suspect with a gun in his hand, and was concerned that they did not have any cover or concealment.

Deputy Sibrian said Deputy Inzunza went down the pathway and picked up the suspect's gun from the ground, and they walked back to their patrol car and took cover. Deputy Sibrian said his partner was putting out radio traffic about the incident. Deputy Inzunza secured the suspect's gun in the trunk of their patrol car.

Deputy Sibrian mentioned he was scared, he was positioned behind his partner during the incident, and he did not realize what was happening until later when he started piecing the incident together.

Deputy Sibrian said they eventually went to the command post.

IAB Note: The Homicide Bureau Investigators summarized their interview with Deputy Sibrian in a Supplemental Report included in this case book (See Exhibit A, Pages 87 through 90).

A Compact Disc, containing the audio recording of Deputy Inzunza's interview, is also included in this case book.

Witness Deputy Erik Sibrian was interviewed by Internal Affairs investigators John Rossi and Hector Velasquez in the presence of his attorney, Audra Call of Green & Shinee, on September 1, 2011, at 1104 hours. The interview was conducted at Internal Affairs Bureau, Interview Room A, and was audio recorded.

Deputy Sibrian said he has been on the Sheriff's Department for approximately five years. During that time, he has worked Pitchess Detention Center - South Facility for approximately 4 years, and he is currently assigned to Century Station. Deputy Sibrian did his patrol training at Century Station and he said he had been off of training for approximately two to three months at the time of the incident.

IAB Note: Century's Training Staff indicated Deputy Sibrian was on training from August 1, 2010 through February 5, 2011. His training officers were Deputy R. Martinez #[redacted] and Deputy C. Roberts [redacted] and Deputy Sibrian successfully completed his patrol training without any extensions.

At the beginning of the interview, Deputy Sibrian was given the opportunity to change, modify, or add to any portion of his statement he made to homicide investigators the day of the incident since several months had passed and he has had time to reflect on the incident. Deputy Sibrian chose not to make any changes to his prior statement.

IAB investigators briefly went through Deputy Sibrian's statement given to homicide detectives to confirm its accuracy and to provide clarity in certain areas, along with providing additional information in the area of tactics and training.

Deputy Sibrian said on the day of the incident, he was working Century 217Adam on dayshift. He was the driver, and his partner, Deputy Inzunza, was the bookman in a marked black and white Sheriff's patrol car. Both deputies were in Class A uniforms. They had worked together approximately two to three times prior to this incident.

Deputy Sibrian said a prowler call was assigned to another unit in the area of Baird at approximately 0826 hours, and he and Deputy Inzunza assigned themselves to assist on the call. While enroute to the call, they were directed by the handling unit to go to 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue.

Deputy Sibrian said they eventually parked their patrol car at the northwest corner of 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue, and they were directed to go to the front of a location on 92nd Street because the suspect had been seen in the area.

Deputy Sibrian said he and Deputy Inzunza started to walk westbound on the south sidewalk of 92nd Street (from Zamora Avenue). He said Deputy Inzunza was in the lead, with a shotgun in his hand. Deputy Sibrian said he inspected and loaded the shotgun at the beginning of the shift, but was unsure if he loaded the shotgun with 00 Buck shotshells or #4 Buck shotshells.

IAB Note: Crime Lab personnel indicated the shotgun was loaded with #4 Buck shotshells (See Exhibit A, Page 142)

As they were walking westbound on 92nd Street, Deputy Inzunza said he was approximately five feet behind Deputy Inzunza. Deputy Sibrian said he was wondering if the suspect was going to appear at the front of one of the residences and surprise them, he was wondering if they were dealing with a burglary suspect, and he was focused on Deputy Inzunza waiting for Deputy Inzunza to tell him what to do.

Deputy Sibrian said they came across a female Hispanic (later identified as [redacted] in a driveway at [redacted] East 92nd Street, who appeared startled, surprised, or scared. He said he saw a male (suspect) who kept poking his head back and forth at them from the rear of the residence, and appeared to be startled by their presence. He said they asked the female if she was okay, when the suspect appeared next to her. Deputy Sibrian said Deputy Inzunza asked the female Hispanic if she knew the suspect and she said, "No." He said Deputy Inzunza told the suspect to come to him. Deputy Sibrian estimated the female Hispanic and suspect were approximately 15 to 20 feet away from them.

Deputy Sibrian said the suspect started running westbound from the rear of the residence at [redacted] East 92nd Street. Deputy Sibrian said he momentarily stayed where he was at because he was unsure where the suspect was going, while Deputy Inzunza continued walking westbound. He said he was approximately five to ten feet away from Deputy Inzunza when he heard a shotgun blast, which caught him off guard. Deputy Sibrian said he was unsure who shot, or who got shot, because there was a containment, but he did see the suspect in the driveway of [redacted] East 92nd Street. Deputy Sibrian said he was not looking at Deputy Inzunza, and his attention was drawn to the rear of the yards to make sure the suspect did not reappear behind them (east of them on 92nd Street). The suspect then went into the front yard of [redacted] East 92nd Street.

Deputy Sibrian said he did not shoot at the suspect because he did not know what he was shooting at. He said he did not see a gun (in the suspect's hands) and was still stunned by the shotgun blast. He said he did not know what was going on, and he did not want to shoot because he was behind Deputy Inzunza. Deputy Sibrian also indicated there was no cover or concealment immediate available to them, and he said he was unclear as to whether or not Deputy Inzunza told him the suspect had a gun because he was scared.

Deputy Sibrian said they walked westbound on the sidewalk area toward the front of [redacted] East 92nd Street. He said Deputy Inzunza was still in front of him when the suspect turned, and Deputy Inzunza fired some rounds from his Beretta. Deputy Sibrian said he was trying to see what was going on, and he was hiding behind Deputy Inzunza because he was the only cover available. Deputy Sibrian said he was scared he was going to be shot based on the suspect's actions.

Deputy Sibrian said he did not shoot at the suspect because he did not have a clear shot, he would have missed if he did shoot, and he was afraid he would accidentally shoot Deputy Inzunza because Deputy Inzunza was in front of him. Deputy Sibrian said he was prevented from taking a position to the side of Deputy Inzunza because he would not have any cover or concealment.

Deputy Sibrian said the suspect continued south down the driveway of [redacted] 92nd Street and out of view. He said Deputy Inzunza retrieved the suspect's firearm, which the suspect had tossed on the driveway. Deputy Sibrian said this is the first time he saw the suspect's firearm during this incident, and never saw the firearm in the suspect's hands. He said they secured the suspect's firearm in the trunk of their patrol car.

Deputy Sibrian said Deputy Inzunza had been putting out radio traffic by this time, but did not recall what information he put out over the radio. Deputy Sibrian said he did not put out any radio traffic during this incident.

Deputy Sibrian said he and Deputy Inzunza were ultimately relieved from their containment position, responded to the Command Post, then to Century Station.

Deputy Sibrian said he and Deputy Inzunza did not go in foot pursuit of the suspect during this incident.

During the suspect's interview with Homicide Bureau investigators, the suspect alleged a couple of deputies shot at him, and he was shot at approximately 16 times. Deputy Sibrian said he was not aware of any deputy shooting at the suspect, other than Deputy Inzunza.

The suspect alleged that a deputy said, "I am going to shoot you again, Mother Fucker." Deputy Sibrian said neither he or Deputy Inzunza told the suspect that.

The suspect alleged that after the second shooting, he laid down on the ground once he realized it was the police, and the deputies started to shoot at him again. Deputy Sibrian said he did not remember seeing the suspect lay down on the ground during either one of Deputy Inzunza's shootings.

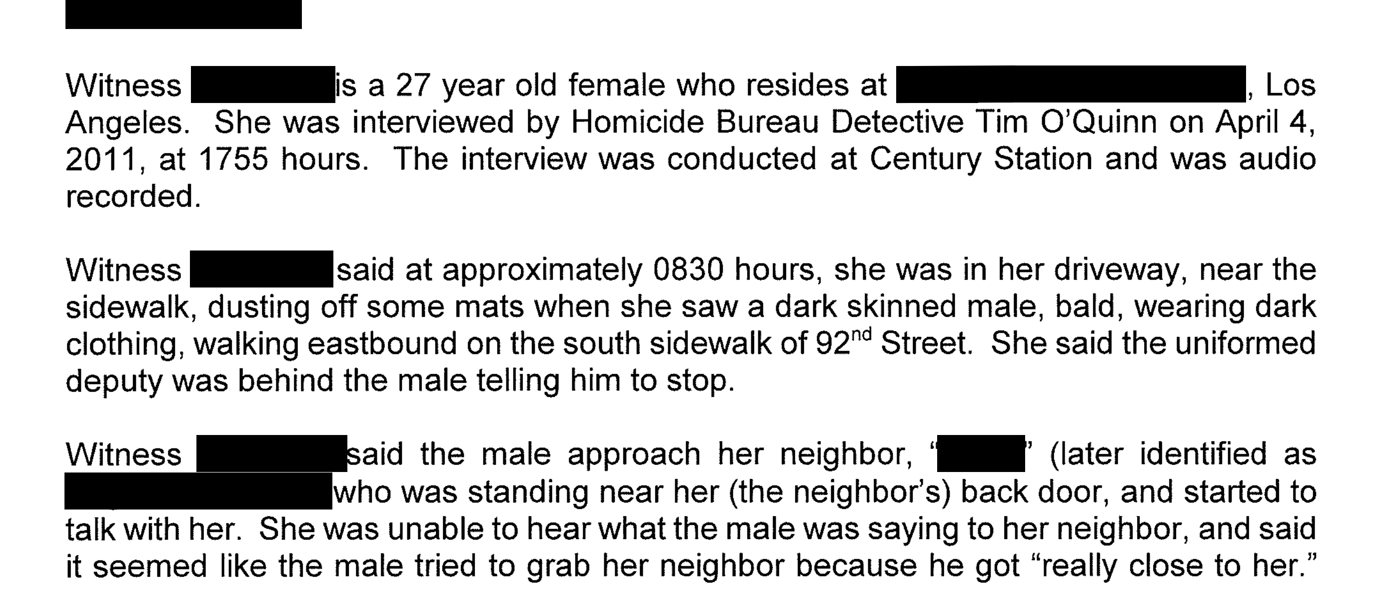

During the interview, Deputy Sibrian mentioned that he was still in training mode. He said he had just gotten off patrol training, and he was looking at Deputy Inzunza to see what Deputy Inzunza wanted him to do because Deputy Inzunza had more experience.

Deputy Sibrian said they did not discuss the issue of a designated shooter.

For Deputy Sibrian's complete statements, refer to his verbatim interview transcripts.

CIVILIAN WITNESSES

The residential neighborhood near the shooting scene was canvassed for any potential witnesses. The area was canvassed by Century Station Deputies, and Homicide Bureau Investigators (See Exhibit A).

[redacted]

Witness [redacted] is a 27 year old female who resides at [redacted], Los Angeles. She was interviewed by Homicide Bureau Detective Tim O'Quinn on April 4, 2011, at 1755 hours. The interview was conducted at Century Station and was audio recorded.

Witness [redacted] said at approximately 0830 hours, she was in her driveway, near the sidewalk, dusting off some mats when she saw a dark skinned male, bald, wearing dark clothing, walking eastbound on the south sidewalk of 92nd Street. She said the uniformed deputy was behind the male telling him to stop.

Witness [redacted] said the male approach her neighbor, "[redacted]" (later identified as [redacted] who was standing near her (the neighbor's) back door, and started to talk with her. She was unable to hear what the male was saying to her neighbor, and said it seemed like the male tried to grab her neighbor because he got "really close to her."

Witness [redacted] said she asked her neighbor later if the male grabbed her, and the neighbor said, "No."

Witness [redacted] said the deputy asked her neighbor if she knew the male. The neighbor said, "No." She said the deputy told everyone to go inside, as the male started to run east down 92nd Street, on the south sidewalk, past Witness [redacted] residence. She said the deputies ran after the male as she went inside her house. Later in the interview, Witness [redacted] said the male ran across the grass in front of the neighbor's house as the deputy pursued him (indicating a possible westbound direction).

Witness [redacted] said approximately 25 to 30 seconds later, she heard one gunshot, a pause, then three to four more gunshots. She said she did not look outside her house because she was looking for her mother inside the house.

Witness [redacted] said deputies arrived at her residence approximately five minutes after the shooting, and told her she needed to leave her house.

[redacted]

Witness [redacted] is a 38 year old female who resides at [redacted] Los Angeles. She was interviewed by Homicide Bureau Detective Tim O'Quinn on April 4, 2011, at 1927 hours. The interview was conducted at Century Station and was audio recorded.

Witness [redacted] said at approximately 0830 hours, her daughter (Witness [redacted] was taking out her pet. Witness [redacted] heard a "bang" on the exterior wall of the residence. She was about to go outside through the doorway near her driveway to check on her daughter, and she saw her daughter with her arms up and she appeared "frozen."

Witness [redacted] said she looked in the other direction (to her left) and saw a deputy with a shotgun standing at the beginning of her driveway, in front of her house, near the sidewalk. She said the deputy was looking toward her daughter, and she did not see anyone else next to her or the deputy.

IAB Note: Witness [redacted] is the neighbor west of Witness [redacted]

Witness [redacted] said the deputy started running westbound, away from Witness [redacted] residence, and she heard approximately two gunshots. Witness [redacted] told her daughter to go into the house.

Once inside the house, Witness [redacted] said her daughter told her there was a guy trying to open the side door of the neighbor's house when he saw her. The daughter said the guy jumped the fence, approached her, and asked her for a 'Joint." Witness [redacted] said her daughter did not see where the guy went.

IAB Note: A Compact Disc containing the homicide interview is included in this case book. Refer to Homicide Detective O'Quinn's supplemental report (Exhibit A, Pages 113 through 114) for additional information.

[redacted]

Witness [redacted] is a 20 year old female who resides at [redacted] Los Angeles. She was interviewed by Homicide Bureau Detective Brian Schoonmaker on April 4, 2011, at 1719 hours. The interview was conducted at Witness [redacted] residence and was audio recorded.

Witness [redacted] said it was approximately 0830 hours and she was sleeping, when she heard what sounded like a car tire "pop." She later realized this tire pop sound was a single shot from the shotgun because she saw the shotgun laying on the ground. Moments later, she heard three different sounding pops, which she later realized was from the deputy's handgun.

Witness [redacted] said she went to the window and saw three to four deputy sheriffs yelling for someone to come outside. She heard the male yell back at the deputies that he had a gun.

Witness [redacted] said she saw the male run eastbound from the green house ([redacted] East 92nd Street) to the yellow house ([redacted] 92nd Street), and saw the deputies move after him. She heard someone yell, "Man Down," and assumed the guy had been caught, so she went back to sleep. Witness [redacted] awoke and saw a different group of deputies wearing helmets and dark green uniforms (Special Enforcement Bureau). She realized they were still trying to apprehend the male.

Witness [redacted] said she left the location to go eat, and returned to see more deputies in the area, along with helicopters. At approximately 1250 hours, she saw the male being wheeled away on a gurney (from the area of [redacted] Zamora Avenue).

Witness [redacted] described the male as a male Hispanic or light skinned male Black, bald, slim build, and estimated his height to be approximately 5'-11". She believed the male was wearing a white shirt and shorts.

Witness [redacted] said her father, Witness [redacted] was outside watering the grass at the time of the incident.

IAB Note: A Compact Disc containing the homicide interview is included in this case book. Refer to Homicide Detective Schoonmaker's supplemental report (Exhibit A, Pages 115 through 116) for additional information.

[redacted]

Witness [redacted] is a 44 year old male who resides at [redacted] 92nd Street, Los Angeles. He was interviewed by Homicide Bureau Detective Brian Schoonmaker on April 4, 2011, at 1738 hours. The interview was conducted at Witness [redacted] residence and was audio recorded. Witness [redacted] daughter, Witness [redacted] assisted as the interpreter.

Witness [redacted] said he was outside watering his grass when he heard a loud pop (shotgun blast), followed by the other three gunshots. After hearing the gunshots, he went inside his house because he was scared.

Witness [redacted] said he heard the deputies yelling at someone to "Come Out," but never saw the suspect or heard the suspect make any statements.

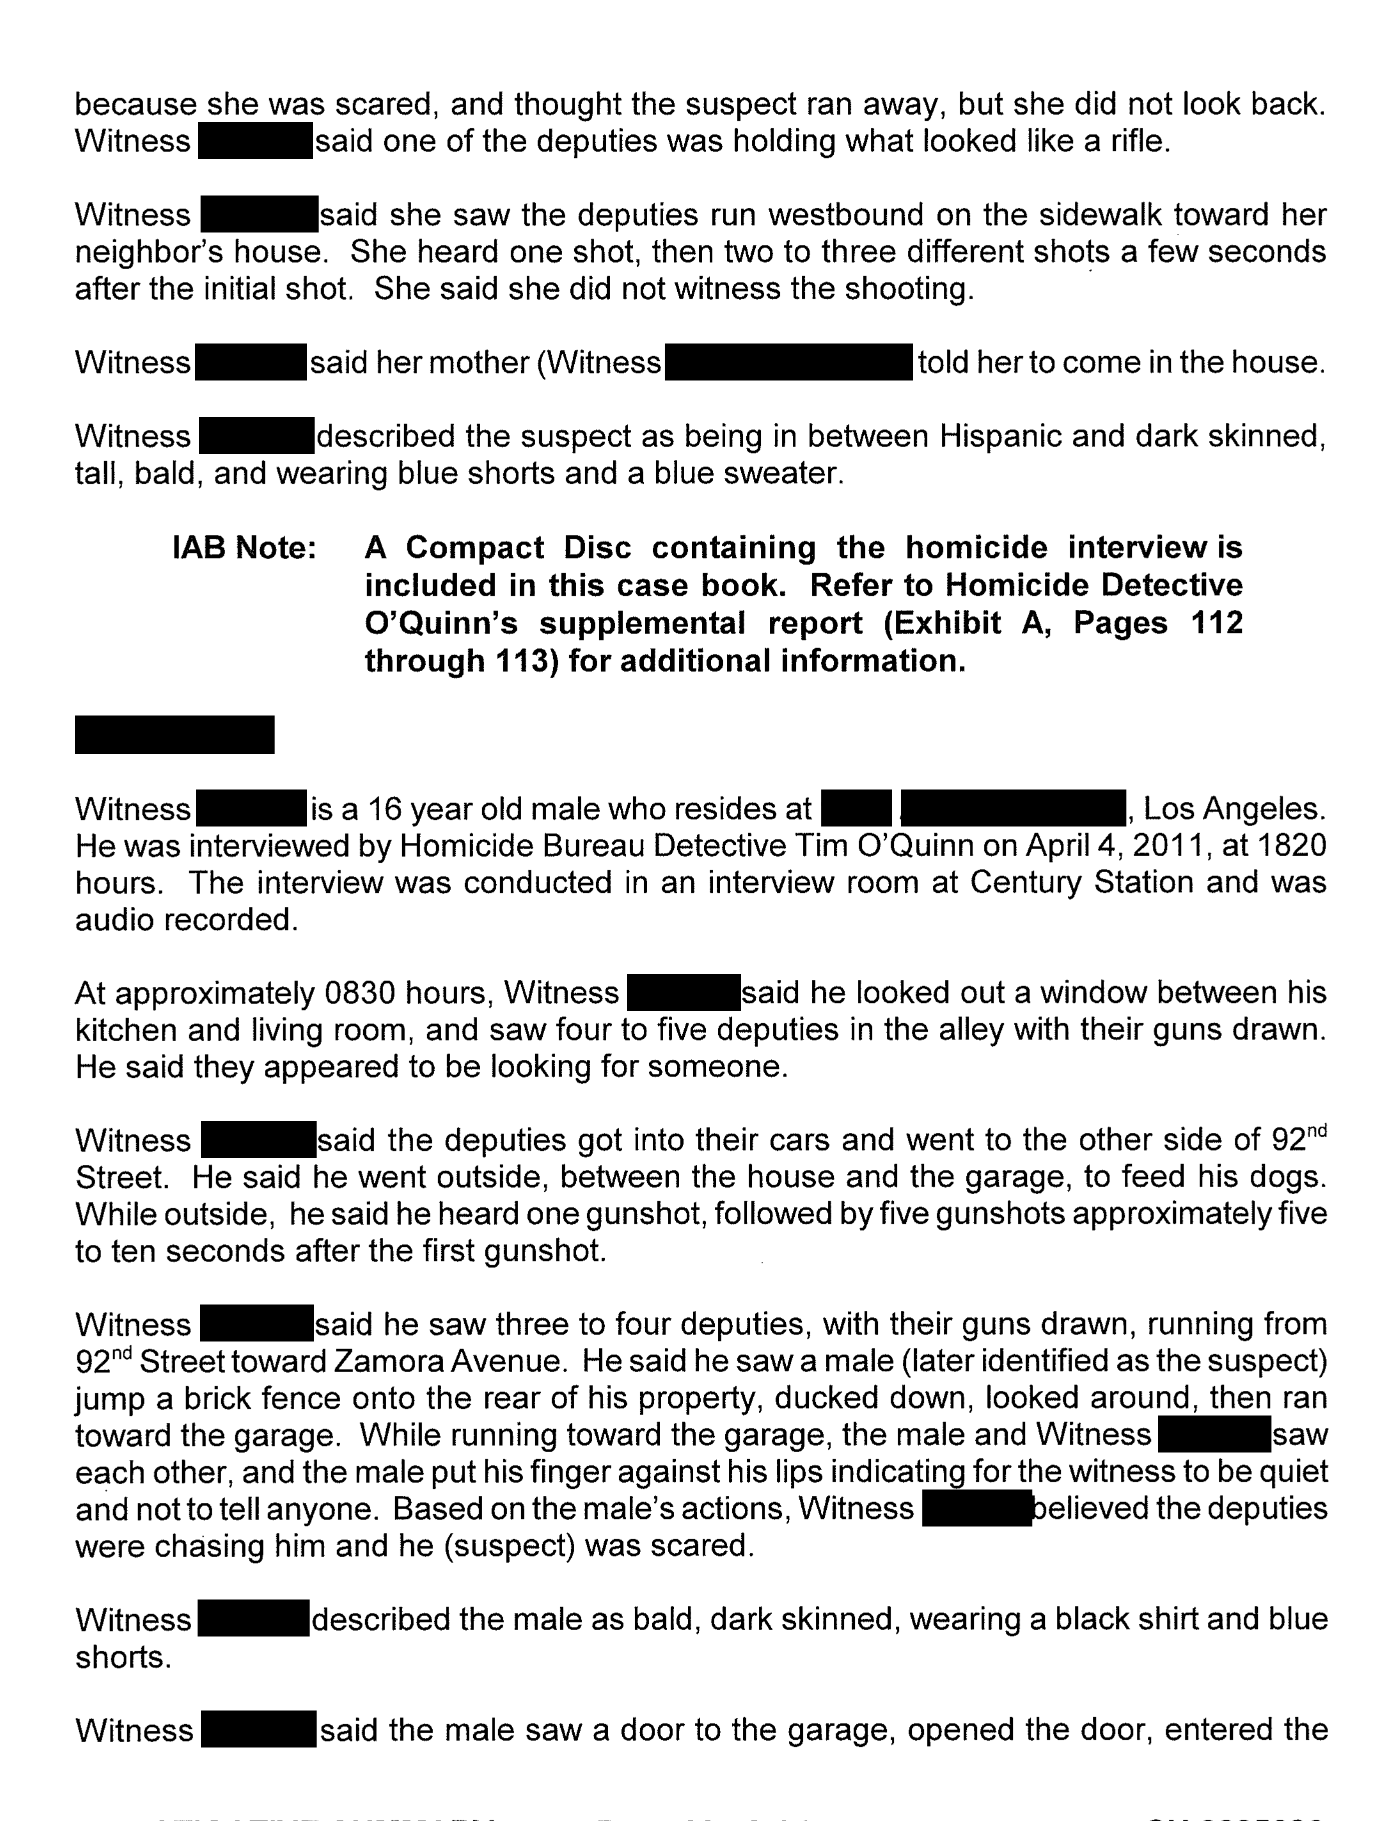

IAB Note: A Compact Disc containing the homicide interview is included in this case book. Refer to Homicide Detective Schoonmaker's supplemental report (Exhibit A, Pages 116 through 117) for additional information.

[redacted]

Witness [redacted] is a 21 year old female who resides at [redacted] Los Angeles. She was interviewed by Homicide Bureau Detective Tim O'Quinn on April 4, 2011, at 1840 hours. The interview was conducted in an interview room at Century Station and was audio recorded.

Witness [redacted] said at approximately 0800 hours, she went out to the backyard with her guinea pig and saw a male (later identified as the suspect) opening the back door to her neighbor's house ([redacted] 92nd Street). She initially thought it was her neighbor, but the suspect jumped over her fence toward her. She said the suspect approached within approximately one foot of her and asked her if she had a "joint." She said when the suspect asked her for a "joint," the suspect was looking around and had his left hand in his sweater pocket (Hoodie).

Witness [redacted] told the suspect, "No," and started to back away from him because she was scared. She said she heard a voice ask her if she knew the suspect, she turned around, and she saw two deputies. She told the deputies, "No." She said she stood still because she was scared, and thought the suspect ran away, but she did not look back. Witness [redacted] said one of the deputies was holding what looked like a rifle.

Witness [redacted] said she saw the deputies run westbound on the sidewalk toward her neighbor's house. She heard one shot, then two to three different shots a few seconds after the initial shot. She said she did not witness the shooting.

Witness [redacted] said her mother (Witness [redacted] told her to come in the house.

Witness [redacted] described the suspect as being in between Hispanic and dark skinned, tall, bald, and wearing blue shorts and a blue sweater.

IAB Note: A Compact Disc containing the homicide interview is included in this case book. Refer to Homicide Detective O'Quinn's supplemental report (Exhibit A, Pages 112 through 113) for additional information.

[redacted]

Witness [redacted] is a 16 year old male who resides at [redacted] [redacted], Los Angeles. He was interviewed by Homicide Bureau Detective Tim O'Quinn on April 4, 2011, at 1820 hours. The interview was conducted in an interview room at Century Station and was audio recorded.

At approximately 0830 hours, Witness [redacted] said he looked out a window between his kitchen and living room, and saw four to five deputies in the alley with their guns drawn. He said they appeared to be looking for someone.

Witness [redacted] said the deputies got into their cars and went to the other side of 92nd Street. He said he went outside, between the house and the garage, to feed his dogs. While outside, he said he heard one gunshot, followed by five gunshots approximately five to ten seconds after the first gunshot.

Witness [redacted] said he saw three to four deputies, with their guns drawn, running from 92nd Street toward Zamora Avenue. He said he saw a male (later identified as the suspect) jump a brick fence onto the rear of his property, ducked down, looked around, then ran toward the garage. While running toward the garage, the male and Witness [redacted] saw each other, and the male put his finger against his lips indicating for the witness to be quiet and not to tell anyone. Based on the male's actions, Witness [redacted] believed the deputies were chasing him and he (suspect) was scared.

Witness [redacted] described the male as bald, dark skinned, wearing a black shirt and blue shorts.

Witness [redacted] said the male saw a door to the garage, opened the door, entered the garage, and closed the door behind him. Witness [redacted] said he went around to his front door and saw his mother, [redacted] and sister, [redacted] He told them there was a male in the back house (garage), and his sister told him to tell the deputies.

Witness [redacted] said he went out the front door and told the deputies in the alley there was a male in his garage. Witness [redacted] returned to his house, and he and his family were eventually evacuated.

IAB Note: A Compact Disc containing the homicide interview is included in this case book. Refer to Homicide Detective O'Quinn's supplemental report (Exhibit A, Pages 110 through 111) for additional information.

[redacted]

Witness [redacted] is a 40 year old female who resides at [redacted], Los Angeles. She was interviewed by Homicide Bureau Detective Tim O'Quinn on April 4, 2011, at 1910 hours. The interview was conducted in an interview room at Century Station and was audio recorded. Deputy Alma Gonzales #[redacted] translated for Witness [redacted] who spoke Spanish.

Witness [redacted] was standing in the front yard of her residence, when she saw a male adult standing, then sitting down on the side porch stairs of her neighbor's residence. Her neighbor's residence is across an alley from hers. She described the male as bald and wearing a dark blue sweater.

Witness [redacted] said she saw several police officers and decided to go inside her residence. She said she heard one gun shot a short time later, but did not see where it occurred, or who was involved in the shooting.

IAB Note: Witnes[redacted]s had an upset and crying child on her lap during the entire interview.

IAB Note: A Compact Disc containing the homicide interview is included in this case book. Refer to Homicide Detective O'Quinn's supplemental report (Exhibit A, Page 113) for additional information.

INVOLVED DEPUTY INTERVIEWS

INVOLVED DEPUTY INZUNZA'S HOMICIDE INTERVIEW

IAB NUMBER SH 2285686

INVOLVED DEPUTY INTERVIEW

GONZALO INZUNZA

CLARK: This is just creature of habit. That's why we have two tapes because we just don't know sometimes.

FREDENDALL: All right. We're on. It's, uh John Fredendall from LA County Sheriff's Homicide. I'm present with my partner, Sergeant --

CLARK: Tim Clark.

FREDENDALL: And also present with us today is attorney Audra C. Call, C-A-L-L. She's an attorney at law for, uh, Green and Shinee; is that correct?

CALL: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And also present with us is, uh, Deputy Gonzalo Inzunza.

INZUNZA: Correct.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: What time are you going to stamp this?

FREDENDALL: It's going -- We're going to go on the record. Today's date April 4th, 2011, at 5:33 p.m.

CLARK: And just for record, uh, with your representative here, we did get some preliminary information, uh, county information from you, your employment, how long you've been working, uh, for the Sheriff's Department, and, uh, your -- your employment history. Uh, and then we turned the tapes on.

FREDENDALL: All right. Okay. We're currently in the, uh, captain's conference office inside Century Sheriff Station. Uh, Deputy Inzunza, what we're going to discuss today is a, uh, uh, circumstances, a situation you were confronted with on the streets in response to a, uh -- a call for service earlier this afternoon. Uh, with that being said, uh, you were in, uh, a full Class A uniform today; is that correct?

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And what car were you working today, sir?

INZUNZA: I was 217 Adam.

FREDENDALL: And that's on day watch?

INZUNZA: Yes, sir.

FREDENDALL: And your hours for today's day watch is?

INZUNZA: 05 to, uh, 1500.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And were you working by yourself?

INZUNZA: No, I was not.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And were you working with a partner?

INZUNZA: Yes, uh, Deputy Sibrian, Sam, Ida, Boy, Robert, Ida, Adam, Nora.

FREDENDALL: First name?

CLARK: One more time for me, please? Sam, Ida, Boy, Robert?

INZUNZA: Ida, Adam, Nora.

FREDENDALL: And is that his first name or last name?

INZUNZA: That's his last name.

FREDENDALL: His --

INZUNZA: First name is Erik with a K, E-R-I-C -- E-R-I-K.

FREDENDALL: E-R-I-K, correct?

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Do you know his, uh, employee number?

INZUNZA: I do not, sir.

FREDENDALL: Okay. No problem. We'll take care of that. And were you assigned to any particular jurisdiction or area today working at --

INZUNZA: We were Firestone.

FREDENDALL: Firestone car. All right. And you guys started at 0500 on today's date and was off at 1500, correct?

INZUNZA: Correct.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Uh, during the course of your duties, uh, today -- on today's date, did you receive a radio call or an MDC message or -- in response to a call that occurred in Firestone's area today?

INZUNZA: Yes. Uh, you want to me to go through it?

FREDENDALL: Yeah. Yes.

CLARK: Go through what happened.

INZUNZA: Uh, I believe, uh, 216B had the handle on a 921 call. It was a prowler call somewhere -- the address, I don't recall the address but it somewhere on Baird. We AS'd the call, and we were en route from I believe we were somewhere on 59 and Central. As we were getting there, we were directed by the handling unit to, uh, go to Zamora and 92. We got to the location, 92 and Zamora, and, uh, the handling deputy was on Baird, which is the next block west of Zamora. And we set up. I got the car and we set up, and then, uh, shortly thereafter, on L-Tac he puts out he's getting, uh, information from an informant off of Baird Street that he -- he saw the -- they saw the suspect on the rear yard of a property off of 92. So the handling deputy asked us to go from our location to the front of the location, which is on 92, so --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: -- we copied that info, and got into our car. We went -- We parked the car on the corner -- on the northwest corner of 92 and Zamora, exited our vehicles, and started walking down the sidewalk westbound towards the target loc.

FREDENDALL: Now when you say we -- that you were with your partner?

INZUNZA: Me and my partner, Sibrian, Deputy Sibrian.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Were you walking -- When you were walking towards the location, were you walking on the north sidewalk or the south sidewalk on --

INZUNZA: South sidewalk, on the south sidewalk.

FREDENDALL: -- on 92nd Street?

INZUNZA: -- on 92nd Street.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: I did have the -- the shotgun with me at the time. Uh, my partner was behind me. I told him to keep your eyes on the houses as we're passing them up to see if you -- to see if you see anything. Uh, as we come up to, uh -- I don't recall the address, but I want to say it's [redacted] 92nd Street. As I approached the sidewalk -- I mean the driveway, on the radio I heard that he's running towards -- he's running -- he's running eastbound. He's running eastbound, and then, uh, somebody says he's -- he's going to the front towards 92. At that point, we stopped and we see him approximately 20 yards. It was one of those long driveways if I remember correctly. Um, I see the suspect. Then to his right, there was a female, Hispanic female, and, um, I saw him. They were -- He was probably less than foot next to her. Uh --

CLARK: When you say that -- I apologize for you cutting you off. Just so we can keep this clear --

INZUNZA: Okay.

CLARK: -- had you been advised that a crime had been committed at that point?

INZUNZA: Uh, I believe on L-Tac they put out that he was coming out of a -- out of the door of, uh -- of a property.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: I don't know which property.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: And then right immediately after that that he's running.

FREDENDALL: Okay. You see this female.

INZUNZA: So based on the prompting, it's a 459 now, uh --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: -- suspect. So I'm dealing with a 459 suspect. Um, I see the female. I see him. Again, he's -- he's approximately less than a foot, uh, shoulder-to-shoulder. He sees me. He gives me that look where, oh, shit, uh, he's scared. Now he's like -- He like panicked, like that panic look mode. Uh, I had my shotgun, uh, drawn up or not. I had it drawn pointing towards the floor. I said, uh, "Ma'am?" I go, "Do you know him?" And then, uh, she says, "No, no." At that -- At that time, she shrugged her -- she shrugged away from him, uh, stepping like back one -- one step. "Um, Do you know him?" She says, "No, I don't know who he is. I think he's trying to break in." At that point, the -- the guy runs. The guy disappears to the rear.

FREDENDALL: Of that property?

INZUNZA: -- of that property.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: I lose sight of him, um, and I -- and I -- I now go -- my gun goes up, and I'm speed walking towards his direction where he's going.

FREDENDALL: Was that west or east?

INZUNZA: It was westbound.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: I'm walking westbound.

FREDENDALL: South sidewalk?

INZUNZA: South sidewalk.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: Um, like my gun is up. My shotgun is up. I'll say seconds after that he reappears on the number three side of that target loc, [redacted] I believe it was.

FREDENDALL: The house next door to where you --

INZUNZA: This, uh --

FREDENDALL: -- initially saw him?

INZUNZA: The same house I want to say.

FREDENDALL: Okay

INZUNZA: The -- The same house. He just basically went from around to the number three side up -- up to the front yard. Um, and when I say front yard, can I draw it for you? Would that be okay or paint a picture?

CLARK: Sure. I'll, uh --

INZUNZA: Because when I say front yard, he wasn't on the front yard. He was like mid front yard, mid backyard.

CALL: Let me get a big pad out.

CLARK: Thank you.

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh.

INZUNZA: And I'll speak as I'm drawing so --

FREDENDALL: All right. That'll work.

INZUNZA: This is 92. This here is Zamora. This is Baird.

FREDENDALL: And can you just throw a little indicator on that piece of paper indicating which way is north?

INZUNZA: Yep. That's North. So this I believe is -- Let's just say this is going to be the [redacted] address.

CLARK: Can you write that there so we'll know?

INZUNZA: Yeah.

CLARK: It -- It won't make sense --

INZUNZA: Okay.

CLARK: -- to us later on unless you write it.

INZUNZA: This is, uh, the next house to the west.

CLARK: Okay.

INZUNZA: I don't know the address of that.

CLARK: All right.

INZUNZA: Separating these two if I recollect correct is it was a wrought iron fence, wrought iron.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: Uh, let's make this the front yard.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: So I at first -- This is the driveway.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: I'll be on the sidewalk when I first see him here with the female.

CLARK: Can you put a number one for you and number two for him?

INZUNZA: Okay. A one for me, two for him.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: The female is here. When he starts running this way, I -- I lose sight of him obviously.

FREDENDALL: He's running behind the house?

INZUNZA: Yeah, he's in the rear.

FREDENDALL: And you think he's --

INZUNZA: I obviously -- I don't see which way he's going. I'm just assuming because I saw him go west.

CLARK: Do you know where the female went when he ran?

INZUNZA: The female stays so I lost -- Once he ran --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh.

INZUNZA: -- she stayed there.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: She stayed there.

FREDENDALL: That's good for her.

INZUNZA: I -- I speed walked this with my guns up. He next reappears somewhere here.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: At this point, the guy stops, he sees me, I see the gun, and he goes towards me and points, and then I fire the one round from my shotgun. I said, "Put your hands up." At the same time I shot. "Put you hands," because --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh.

INZUNZA: -- I saw the gun. So I was afraid he was going to shoot me or a partner that was behind me. Um, I shot once. I go to, uh, re-pump and -- and it, uh, the chamber just wasn't going to go. It got stuck.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: It got -- It got stuck. I tried probably three or four times. At the same time, I'm yelling at this guy, "Stop. Stop. Put your hands up. Put your hands up." Uh, he jumps the fence. I dump the shotgun to my right. Now I run to this location here. So he jumped the fence here. This is the front yard of the next house to the west. He jumped the fence here. He's on the front yard. I'm running to this containment spot here. He runs through here, so when he cuts this corner here going southbound now, I lose sight of him for about a split second because I may be here somewhere. When I went to this point, he's somewhere here. I'm yelling at him. He turns around again. He does something like this, and I shoot again with my 9. Now I have my 9 mil out.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And when --

INZUNZA: And now --

FREDENDALL: -- you stood up, you were -- you were pointing like he had a gun in his hand?

INZUNZA: Yeah. Well, he had the gun in his right hand.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: And when he's here in the middle --

FREDENDALL: Yes.

INZUNZA: -- I'm yelling at him, and he's looking like this and he goes like this. When he does like this --

FREDENDALL: He turns around towards you?

INZUNZA: -- he turns around towards me with the gun again.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: I -- There's a wall. I don't know if this is a house. I'm sorry, not a wall, but a house or a detached garage.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: I couldn't tell you what it is.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: I shot with my 9 probably three to five times in his direction --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh.

INZUNZA: -- to stop the threat. shoot. He -- He -- He tosses the gun somewhere in this general area here.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: And he disappears running westbound now.

FREDENDALL: Back behind another house?

INZUNZA: Between this house or --

FREDENDALL: He's running west?

INZUNZA: -- garage.

FREDENDALL: Is he running west or east?

INZUNZA: West. West. I'm sorry. East.

FREDENDALL: Okay

CLARK: Right.

INZUNZA: East. Um, so once when I see him going east, at that point this here is Zamora --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh.

INZUNZA: -- because he's off this, 92 --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: Zamora. Um, I see a partner. I see a deputy behind me now coming down Zamora. So he holds this spot here. You know, my partner Sibrian, we run back to contain this spot --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh.

INZUNZA: -- because at the same time once he goes to the rear --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh.

INZUNZA: -- I hear deputies saying, "He's going -- He's running eastbound. He's running eastbound." And since we left our car here, I'll put car --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh.

INZUNZA: -- there was nobody here. The rear is an alley --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh.

INZUNZA: -- of this loc. It's an alley.

CLARK: Can you -- Can you draw that alley. Just, uh --

INZUNZA: Yeah.

CLARK: Just write the word alley back there. That would make sense. Again, when we get ready to write this, this is going to have to -- it'll be difficult to tell when you're taping this.

INZUNZA: Um, when we left here, there -- there was -- there was nobody here as far as deputies, uh, both there with the containment. There was somebody on this alley here. So I told Sibrian, let's run back to the alley, run back, um, I mean to the corner of 92 and Zamora, so we run back. At that point, people are seeing him. Um, I believe it was -- I don't want to say names, but some deputy said he --

CLARK: But you're -- you're getting --

INZUNZA: -- was going into a garage.

CLARK: -- reports from people that --

INZUNZA: From L-Tac, yeah.

CLARK: -- that he's being seen?

INZUNZA: Yeah.

CLARK: So you have some general idea that someone has an eye on him --

INZUNZA: Yeah.

CLARK: -- at some point.

INZUNZA: I lean back up because at this point I'm on the patch already.

CLARK: Okay.

INZUNZA: When I shot with my shotgun the first one here --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh.

INZUNZA: -- okay, I was on L-Tac. Uh, when I shot, my gun was up. When I shot, uh, the guy saw the gun I -- and I was trying to (indiscernible) on the patch.

FREDENDALL: Yeah.

INZUNZA: My -- My shotgun was up still. He was still moving. The gun was still in his hand. I'm racking, racking, racking, nothing. I toss it and get my 9. At that point I'm here. I'm yelling at him. No time to go on the patch, though, yet because I was in fear because he still had the gun. The guy didn't drop it yet.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: At that point, I shot.

CLARK: The second time.

INZUNZA: As soon as I lost him here, I went on the patch.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: Um, he tossed the gun here. Then I'll just go back to where I was at. Um, as I'm running back here, a deputy was telling that he's going, uh -- he's jumping the gate going eastbound. The whole time he was going eastbound, and then, uh, somebody's on -- on -- on the patch that he went into a garage I believe or -- or -- or he went inside a garage or something of that nature.

CLARK: Could you, um, tell me what you could remember as far as clothing that this guy was wearing --

INZUNZA: Oh, yeah.

CLARK: -- if anything?

INZUNZA: Yeah. The whole time when I first saw him on the driveway --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh.

INZUNZA: -- he was wearing a blue jacket or a blue sweater. He was wearing shorts, tennis shoes, uh --

FREDENDALL: Yeah.

INZUNZA: -- no hat. He was like a number one, almost shaved --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh.

INZUNZA: -- uh, haircut.

FREDENDALL: Was he Hispanic, white, African American, do you know?

INZUNZA: Well, now that I know he's black, but he was -- he looked very Hispanic to me.

CLARK: Yeah, when you saw him --

INZUNZA: Very Hispanic.

CLARK: -- what did he look to you? That's -- That's what we want to know.

INZUNZA: He looked Hispanic.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: About how old?

INZUNZA: Uh, 20 -- 25 to 30 years, and he probably weighed --

CLARK: And you say he had a bald head?

INZUNZA: It wasn't bald.

CLARK: But -- But cut --

INZUNZA: But, uh --

CLARK: -- real close?

INZUNZA: Yeah.

CLARK: Like double-ought type size blade or --

INZUNZA: Yeah. Like a number one or --

CLARK: -- number one?

INZUNZA: -- you know.

FREDENDALL: Yeah. Okay. Okay. Male Hispanic, 25 to 30 years of age. About how tall?

INZUNZA: I want to say he's maybe, um, 5'7". He was tall. He wasn't short, so 5'7", 5'9" range.

FREDENDALL: Okay. How much did he weigh? Do you know?

INZUNZA: Approximately, uh, 170, 180 if that.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: I think that.

FREDENDALL: You said a blue jacket or a blue sweatshirt?

INZUNZA: Blue -- Blue -- Yeah, blue jacket or blue sweater.

FREDENDALL: And when you say sweater, it was like a button down sweater or is it like a sweatshirt?

INZUNZA: It was -- Because don't remember seeing a hoodie. I don't recall seeing a hoodie.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And what color were his shorts?

INZUNZA: Blue.

FREDENDALL: Happen to see his shoes?

INZUNZA: Yeah, he was wearing --

FREDENDALL: What style?

INZUNZA: -- tennis shoes. I don't know what style except for he was wearing tennis shoes.

FREDENDALL: What color if you remember?

INZUNZA: I don't recall.

FREDENDALL: No problem.

INZUNZA: I don't recall.

FREDENDALL: Did he have any facial hair that you remember?

INZUNZA: Uh, unshaven. He wasn't bald but peach fuzz.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: I just want to say on record that when I saw that female she looked, uh, petrified. She was scared.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: She was scared.

FREDENDALL: Well, we're going -- we're going to talk about that right now, Gonzalo.

INZUNZA: Okay.

FREDENDALL: So, uh, if you can clarify for me on the map --

INZUNZA: Yeah.

FREDENDALL: -- where did you and your partner park your radio car when you got there?

INZUNZA: We parked the car on Zamora and 92.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And based on the information you received initially in response to this call, there was additional information coming in as you guys were arriving and starting to deploy from your car; is that true?

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And during that time, did you formulate, uh -- did you have an opinion or maybe a conclusion as to what might have been going on out there or what type of crimes were being committed if any?

INZUNZA: Yeah. I -- I knew -- I knew possibly there was 459 now from -- from a prowler to a 459 now call, uh, based on the fact that as we got there, we had another informant tell, uh, the deputy that they definitely did see a guy peeking through windows and then they lost sight of him. They -- They don't know where he was at, but he was -- they said they last saw him peeking through the windows on one of these two residences.

FREDENDALL: Very well.

INZUNZA: Uh, so now we're looking at a 459 right now type of call. That's what was running through my mind, and I related that to my partner as well. Hey -- I told him, "Heads up. There might be a 459 now call. So just so you know, keep your head up."

FREDENDALL: Okay. Very well. And if I may, I'm just going to refer to this as we're -- as we're talking. Um, as you and your partner, uh, make yourself -- make your way west on 92nd Street, um, as you earlier stated when you were out on the sidewalk -- the south sidewalk on 92nd Street west of Zamora, uh, at an address and it's possibly [redacted] East 92nd Street, you saw a female; is that correct?

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: And you saw an individual, uh, standing close to her; is that correct?

INZUNZA: I saw a -- a female and then the male.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Is that the male that you described --

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: -- just now and --

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: -- ultimately --

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: -- had a, uh, armed encounter with?

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: And if I may, sir, it just came to me?

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

CLARK: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

INZUNZA: The address is [redacted] That's what I put on the patch.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: Just in case (Indiscernible).

FREDENDALL: That's why we, uh -- we talk about this because --

INZUNZA: Yeah.

FREDENDALL: -- it's -- it's memory, uh --

INZUNZA: Yeah.

FREDENDALL: -- recall as we go over it. Okay. Um, when -- Specifically, when you saw him, where in relation was he to her?

INZUNZA: He was to her left, to his right, and he was like shoulder-to-shoulder like I said and not even a foot distance --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: -- because they were tight.

FREDENDALL: And were they facing you?

INZUNZA: They were facing me, which they were facing north.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Very well. Did he have his hands on her at all?

INZUNZA: He attempted to grab her. I remember him -- him reaching out or lunging at her on her -- on her shoulder or arm and she backed off. And that's why I said, you know him, because it was odd that she would do that.

FREDENDALL: Thank you. And I was going to ask you when in relation to the question that was posed by you, "Hey, do you know this guy?"

INZUNZA: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

FREDENDALL: When did -- When would -- When did -- When did he do that? When did he reach out?

INZUNZA: Almost simultaneously as, uh, he -- he reached over for her, and then she shrugged at the same time because I saw him abruptly because they just -- For a second, uh, when I looked on the driveway, there was nobody there, and then they appeared, so it was like boom. It was real quick, so it was pretty much at the time that he tried grabbing her. I said, "Do you know this guy?" Because, like I said, he gave me that look where -- where he -- he looked scared and, uh -- and, uh, like surprised. He had a very surprised look. And she gave me a look, and she was like -- like help type of thing, you know. Help me because this guy -- I -- I don't know this guy.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Were you able to see his hands, his right and his left hand, during that time?

INZUNZA: Yes, I did.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: Yeah.

FREDENDALL: And you mentioned earlier, Gonzalo, that -- that he kind of had that, oh -- oh, crap look on his face, and he was nervous and that sort of thing. Can you kind of just go over as to exactly what he was doing at that time with the female and what your impressions were of -- of how he was --

INZUNZA: Yeah.

FREDENDALL: -- acting?

INZUNZA: Sure. Um, he -- he -- he looked at me so he saw me. He saw me dead in the eye, and I just saw his eyes got bigger like -- like -- like and then he took like maybe a step back like -- like, uh -- like he came to a stop because he was walking forward and then he came to a stop. And that's when he tried to get her, and then he missed her, but he was looking at me, so he never really looked at her to grab her. He looked at me and -- and attempted to grab her at the same time through his peripheral vision I guess. Uh, so she -- that's when she shrugged her shoulder. Uh, but you're asking me to describe his look or --

FREDENDALL: Yeah. I mean just, uh, you know, just to give us a basis or an understanding at to what you saw. And -- But when you saw him, and when you -- when you reacted in such a way and he grabbed at the female, um, did you have an opinion or come to a conclusion as to who this guy might be?

INZUNZA: Yeah. At that point, I know -- I know we had the suspect there because she said that she didn't know the guy. And then, uh, by him grabbing her, I thought he was trying to pull her back into cover behind that wall, which is the rear house, to take her back or take her back in the house. I couldn't tell if the door was open, the back door. And it happened within -- within a second where he missed and he took off.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And the female that was out there, was she screaming, was she scared?

INZUNZA: She did not scream.

FREDENDALL: I mean --

INZUNZA: Yeah. She -- She was definitely scared. Um, when I asked her, "Do you know this guy," um, at the same time I told him I remember now, "Put your hands up." And he didn't do it. You know, "Do you know this guy? Put your hands up." And my partner is telling him the same thing. Um, he was -- he was more directing it towards the -- towards the guy, "Put your hands up." She was -- She had the look where she saw a ghost pretty much. The best way I can explain it like. You could tell she was -- she was very nervous and she was scared because she said, "No, no. I don't -- I don't know this guy." As she was telling me, she was backing -- she was distancing her way away from him.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: Did you speak Spanish or English to her?

INZUNZA: In English.

CLARK: In English?

INZUNZA: In English.

CLARK: She's English speaking?

INZUNZA: Yeah.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: You lost sight of him as he's running west behind the building --

INZUNZA: Correct.

FREDENDALL: -- where you first saw him running west --

INZUNZA: Correct.

FREDENDALL: -- behind the residence. Um, ultimately, um, he appeared, um, on the westside of the house and you're out on the sidewalk; is that correct?

INZUNZA: Correct.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Um, you have the shotgun with you. When you see him as he appears from either behind the, uh, residence or -- or the garage, did -- was he wearing the same clothing?

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: He was still wearing the jacket or the blue --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: -- jacket --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: -- and, you know, shorts.

FREDENDALL: Got you. Now at the end of this driveway north of where the suspect was, um, is there a fence in front of that house?

INZUNZA: Yes. There was a fence here --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

INZUNZA: -- dividing the front yard to the sidewalk.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: And it's, uh, a wrought iron fence I want to say and a wrought iron fence here.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And were you standing on the sidewalk in the, uh -- in the driveway?

INZUNZA: No. When -- No. Because I was looking for cover at the same time, you know. I wasn't going to just pop up and have him here.

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

INZUNZA: So I -- I was walking. That's why I know I wasn't running because I was maybe walking slow just to cut -- cut the pie so to speak. And so when he popped up, I was still -- I was -- I was still a good, um, 15 yards from where I saw him to where I was.

CLARK: So he moved a lot faster than you did?

INZUNZA: Oh, yeah. Yeah, he was running. I wasn't running towards -- towards this corner here.

FREDENDALL: And when he appeared, um, when you were out there, at what time did you see a weapon in his hand?

INZUNZA: When he got up to the gate, the wrought iron gate here to this corner here --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

INZUNZA: -- and then were yelling at him, "Put your hands up." And then he turned, and he that's -- because he's got that jacket. It was -- I want to say it was unzippered -- unzipped.

FREDENDALL: Is his back to you at that time?

INZUNZA: His back was to me --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: -- because, uh, I don't think he saw us -- I don't know what he was thinking to be honest, but his back was towards me. And then when we were yelling at him, he turned and that's when I saw the gun up this way.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Now just for record on tape, um, was the gun in the right hand --

INZUNZA: On the right hand.

FREDENDALL: -- or left hand?

INZUNZA: It was in the right hand.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And you have your arm bent at, uh -- at a 90-degree angle?

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: Yes. So he turned towards me, pointing the gun towards us, and as soon as I saw that, you know, figuring he's going to shoot at us --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: -- uh, I shot first.

FREDENDALL: Okay. When you fired that first round, uh, based on everything that was transpiring out there, uh, did you have any cover or concealment at that time?

INZUNZA: Uh, my cover -- There was no -- no -- besides the fence that was here, there was -- I want to say there was tree here maybe. But as far as solid cover, I probably didn't have any solid cover. My frame of -- My frame of thought was going -- crossing the street to get that cover, but the guy popped out within seconds of, uh, the rear and didn't give me the opportunity to look -- to turn and look for cover because I was too busy looking at this guy and having a feeling that he was going to pop up to the front again. And I say that because the -- the deputies in the back were saying he's running westbound. He's running, so I know he's coming westbound now.

FREDENDALL: Is it safe to say that other than a wrought iron fence you had no cover or concealment --

INZUNZA: Yeah.

FREDENDALL: -- when you were confronted with the, uh, suspect with --

INZUNZA: Correct.

FREDENDALL: -- a gun in his hand --

INZUNZA: Correct.

FREDENDALL: -- is that correct?

INZUNZA: Correct.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And based on, uh, your observations, uh, the fact that you have reasonable -- it's reasonable to believe that he's committed a, uh -- one or more crimes in the area --

INZUNZA: Correct.

FREDENDALL: -- in this case burglary --

INZUNZA: Correct.

FREDENDALL: -- um, the fact that he's armed, the fact you had no cover or concealment, and he's armed with a handgun --

INZUNZA: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

FREDENDALL: -- why did you shoot?

INZUNZA: I was fearing for my life and I shot to stop the threat pretty much.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: And my partner that -- that he was five feet behind me.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Uh, did you partner, um, he was armed with his --

INZUNZA: With his 9. He had his 9 out. His Beretta --

FREDENDALL: Beretta 9 millimeter?

INZUNZA: -- pistol.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Do you know if he fired any rounds?

INZUNZA: He did not.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: He did not.

FREDENDALL: In the first encounter that you had with this suspect --

INZUNZA: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

FREDENDALL: -- um, do you know if he got a round off?

INZUNZA: The suspect?

FREDENDALL: Yes.

INZUNZA: No, I don't believe so.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Uh, once -- once he turned and you saw that gun in his hand, and let's talk about this just for a moment.

INZUNZA: Okay.

FREDENDALL: Do you know what kind of gun it was?

INZUNZA: Uh, after the fact, that --

FREDENDALL: No, I mean --

INZUNZA: -- because I recovered it --

FREDENDALL: -- just basically, and we'll talk about that --

INZUNZA: Okay.

FREDENDALL: -- but just what was your perception --

INZUNZA: I knew it was a pistol.

FREDENDALL: -- threat assessment?

INZUNZA: I saw a pistol.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: A black pistol.

FREDENDALL: Was it a semi-automatic or was it --

INZUNZA: I couldn't tell --

FREDENDALL: -- a revolver?

INZUNZA: -- from where I was at.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Was it a small, medium, or large frame --

INZUNZA: Uh --

FREDENDALL: -- if you know?

INZUNZA: Oh, to tell you the truth, I just saw the -- the black pistol. Don't know.

FREDENDALL: Understood.

INZUNZA: Don't know.

FREDENDALL: Understood. Okay. Um, and we're going to talk about when you recovered that.

INZUNZA: Okay.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Now based on this, you discharge one round from the shotgun. You explained to us what happened next. Um, and ultimately he proceeded to go westbound; is that correct?

INZUNZA: Westbound from --

FREDENDALL: The driveway here.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And this is an apartment complex and this is, uh, a garage.

INZUNZA: Okay.

FREDENDALL: And he pops and he goes west, and then he comes out into like a little courtyard. There's a wooden fence here and a -- and, uh, the apartment complex is here. And --

INZUNZA: Okay.

FREDENDALL: -- when he popped out, did it, was --

INZUNZA: Um --

FREDENDALL: What?

INZUNZA: -- well, you're pointing toward --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

INZUNZA: -- the wrong, uh -- He jumped the fence here --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

INZUNZA: -- and he ran through the front yard here.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: He ran through the front yard.

CLARK: Okay.

INZUNZA: Uh, and then he ran south. So number one --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: -- two, three, four sides. So he was to the one side and to the four side.

CLARK: All right.

FREDENDALL: Very well. Okay. When he left after this situation over here, did he run east in this area?

INZUNZA: He ran from -- He ran east from that area.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: And I said because the deputy was saying he was running east, you know. He's running east and then back and forth, but then he's running east.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Very well. When you saw him on the westside of this area, obviously you made your -- you and your partner made your -- your way west.

INZUNZA: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

FREDENDALL: And where the second shooting occurred when you saw him, um, for confirmation, did he pop out from behind this building here or -- or was he was running and what happened when -- when the second shooting happened?

INZUNZA: He was running.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: He was running, running, running, running, running.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: Running at this point somewhere around this area.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: That's when he turned back around towards us.

FREDENDALL: Okay. He had a gun on him?

INZUNZA: Yes, he still had the gun on him.

FREDENDALL: Same hand?

INZUNZA: Same hand.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And as he turned to you, did he turn to his left or did he turn --

INZUNZA: To his right.

FREDENDALL: -- to his right?

INZUNZA: To his right again this way.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And is there a reason why he, uh -- he turned towards you guys?

INZUNZA: We were yelling at him to stop.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: "Stop. Put your hands up. Put your hands up."

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: And, uh, did not stop, kept on running. Uh, running really fast.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: And, uh, you know he turned again towards us with gun and pointed the gun towards us, and then I fired another, uh, two to three to five rounds. Um, my --

FREDENDALL: With your gun.

INZUNZA: -- partner was still behind me at this point here.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: Um, and then he dropped the gun at this -- somewhere here in this area.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: And then he ran towards the back going eastbound last time I saw him.

FREDENDALL: Got you. So he -- Once he ran and fled from that area, he ran between the two buildings --

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: -- eastbound, correct --

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: -- to the best of your recollection?

INZUNZA: And right when -- when he dropped the gun, I distinctly heard a, uh -- some type of a, uh -- of, uh, yell like, "Ah!" Or something like that, and he moved his body kind of funky-ish, and then he -- he dropped it --

CLARK: In response --

INZUNZA: -- and he went around.

CLARK: -- to your shots?

INZUNZA: Probably.

CLARK: Okay.

INZUNZA: I probably hit him.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Uh, was that weapon -- Was there a weapon recovered out there?

INZUNZA: Yes, there was.

FREDENDALL: And who recovered that weapon?

INZUNZA: I did.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And when did you recover that weapon?

INZUNZA: I recovered that weapon once, uh, this guy went eastbound, and then they were saying he's jumping the fence going east. I didn't want that gun to be recovered by him again if he comes back. So I went and my partner covered as I went and grabbed it, and we walked backwards and we -- that's when we came back this way towards 92 and Zamora.

FREDENDALL: So you went east on 92nd over towards Zamora to --

INZUNZA: Yes, sir.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Uh, what -- what -- what weapon -- Can you describe the weapon that you saw and you ultimately, uh, seized?

INZUNZA: Yeah, it's a black, uh, small with -- It ended up being a small semi-auto .380.

FREDENDALL: Okay. You don't know -- You don't know what make or model, though, correct?

INZUNZA: No.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And once you obtained that weapon, you made it back eastbound on 92nd to Zamora, did you secure that weapon anywhere?

INZUNZA: Yes, I did.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And where did you secure that weapon?

INZUNZA: In the trunk of our car.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Do you remember the rooftop or your car number for today?

INZUNZA: I don't recall.

FREDENDALL: Do you know if the car is still out there?

INZUNZA: It should still be out there, yeah.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: In that location, no, because from there we were to the CP.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And that's what I wanted to ask you. Um, once you made it back to your car, you secured it in the trunk of your vehicle --

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: -- is that correct? Okay. And what did you guys do next?

INZUNZA: Uh, we -- we remained there up until we were relieved by another unit.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: And we went to the CP.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And the command post was over near Central and --

INZUNZA: 92nd. And Central.

FREDENDALL: -- 92nd. Okay. Um, when you say we, that was you and your partner, correct?

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Um, and then ultimately what did you do after that?

INZUNZA: From after going to the CP?

FREDENDALL: Yes.

INZUNZA: We came here --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: -- to the station.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Is your car at the CP right now or is it --

INZUNZA: Yes, it should be there.

FREDENDALL: Okay. All right. Um, do you know what happened to your shotgun once it -- once you discarded it?

INZUNZA: Yeah. Uh, when I discarded it on the front yard of one of -- of, uh, I want to say this property here or somewhere in between, a deputy picked it up and, uh, put it in a unit. That should also -- That car should -- 6 Adam's car.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: 216 Adam.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Is that one of the new tactical shotguns departmental issued?

INZUNZA: It's an old Ithaca.

FREDENDALL: Ithaca?

INZUNZA: Yeah.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Very well.

CLARK: Could you, uh -- Do you -- Do you know what caused the weapon to jam or do you know what happened? It just --

INZUNZA: I have no idea, sir. It just jammed. Uh, it felt like it was jammed really good because after the first round it -- it would not budge.

CLARK: It -- It did fire, though, the first time?

INZUNZA: Yeah, it did fire one round.

CLARK: Okay.

INZUNZA: It did fire one round.

CLARK: Okay.

INZUNZA: And, uh, after that, it would not budge.

FREDENDALL: Did you load that shotgun today?

INZUNZA: My partner did.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Now is your partner on training?

INZUNZA: He -- He's not on training. He got off training, um, recently.

CLARK: You would be the senior in the car, though, correct?

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Were you driving today?

INZUNZA: He was driving.

FREDENDALL: He was.

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: And you were book man?

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: And I want to say that's the reason why I was in front of him through the whole ordeal because I got out the car first obviously and, uh, you know --

FREDENDALL: Okay. Are --

INZUNZA: It is what it is.

FREDENDALL: Are you familiar with that area at all?

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Do you know, uh, based on recent criminal activity in the area what -- what crimes predominately occur down there?

INZUNZA: Oh, recent there's been a lot of, uh, burglaries in that general area, um, amongst robberies, gunshot victims, gang-related victims, I mean gun -- gun -- gang-related, um, shootings, uh, so, yeah, busy.

FREDENDALL: Would it be safe to say that there was a, uh, more of a heightened state of awareness on you -- your part based on the --

INZUNZA: Oh, definitely.

FREDENDALL: -- the activity that's been going on in recent weeks or months in this area?

INZUNZA: Definitely. Definitely. Uh, my frame of mind going there, even though the call was a 921, I'm already thinking it's going to be a 459 now. Someone is probably going to be already in the house and does not know we're coming. Um --

CLARK: Do you know if you guys coordinated over the patch or anything like that?

INZUNZA: We coordinated on L-Tac because it was a 921 call at first --

CLARK: That's common --.

INZUNZA: -- so it was already, the containment was there.

CLARK: Okay.

INZUNZA: But like I said, I previously mentioned that an informant told the deputy that was in the rear that she saw a suspect on a different loc, so we kind of moved it --

CLARK: Right.

INZUNZA: -- just -- just north of where we were at originally.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: Okay. I'm good with this portion.

CLARK: Yeah, I'm -- I'm --

FREDENDALL: We can go into the equipment and stuff.

CLARK: Yeah, I'm good. I'm good with it. Do you have any questions?

INZUNZA: No, sir.

CLARK: Do you have any questions?

CALL: Nothing.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: All right.

FREDENDALL: What we'd like to do now, um, is just go over, uh, um, your uniform. Obviously, you're in a Class A, wool, short-sleeve uniform shirt, tan in color. You have, uh, your badge, pencil, nametag. You have, uh, the mic to a radio, the 480 radio on your shirt. You wear a vest, correct?

INZUNZA: Yes, I do.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Um --

CLARK: He's describing your uniform for the purpose of the tape.

FREDENDALL: Just for the record. Okay. And obviously, you carry a department-issued, uh, Beretta 92F; is that correct?

INZUNZA: That's correct, sir.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Any backup guns?

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And what kind of backup gun do you --

INZUNZA: Smith and Wesson, uh, two-inch snub nose.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And you have that currently on your person?

INZUNZA: I put it away in my -- in my locker earlier today.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Uh, was that weapon discharged at all today?

INZUNZA: No, it was not.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Was it ever pulled out at any time?

INZUNZA: Not at all.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Um, after this shooting incident, after the shots were fired, did you secure your -- your duty weapon anywhere?

INZUNZA: It's been -- It's been in my holster the whole time.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: That's the one you -- you have with you now?

INZUNZA: Yes, sir.

FREDENDALL: And -- And it's been in your possession the whole time?

INZUNZA: Yes.

FREDENDALL: And no one's asked to or -- or looked at your --

INZUNZA: No. I --

FREDENDALL: -- firearms?

INZUNZA: I counted my own rounds to figure out how many rounds that I went and shot.

CLARK: And you counted them yourself?

INZUNZA: Yes, I did.

CLARK: After?

INZUNZA: After.

CLARK: Okay. I think that's one of the things he's going to get at because we're going to ask you to count them --

INZUNZA: Yeah.

CLARK: -- so we'll know how many you got in there.

INZUNZA: Okay.

CLARK: All right. So do you remember where you were when you counted them?

INZUNZA: I was, uh, on 92 and Zamora --

CLARK: Okay.

INZUNZA: -- uh, when we were -- just right before we were going to the CP.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: Now when you say you counted the rounds, did you remove the gun from your holster?

INZUNZA: Yes, I did. No. My -- My -- My gun was in my hand still the whole time.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: All right.

INZUNZA: I just took the magazine out. I took out the rounds from the magazine, counted them, and put them back in and loaded it back. Well, actually I switched to a new mag.

CLARK: Okay.

INZUNZA: And I put my old mag -- my old mag that was originally on the shooting in the front holster.

CLARK: That's cool.

INZUNZA: And that's what I did.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: And since coming to the station, I -- I put back the old magazine that I had from the shooting.

CLARK: Why did you do that?

INZUNZA: Just so I don't forget that this -- this is the one that I used.

CLARK: Okay.

INZUNZA: So there would be no -- no issues there.

CLARK: All right. Um, our job is simply the criminal side, so, um, do you remember how many bullets you had started out with if it's a standard --

INZUNZA: 16 total.

CLARK: -- 15 and one in the -- in the --

INZUNZA: Chamber.

CLARK: -- chamber and then 15 --

INZUNZA: Yes, sir.

CLARK: -- in the mag? Okay. And, uh, the questions we got to ask you is because did you qualify?

INZUNZA: Did I qualify? Yes.

CLARK: Okay. Uh, what month, do you know? You -- You said you just recently did it, right?

INZUNZA: I don't recall. No. So I'll be honest with you, it's -- I don't recall when, but it was last month.

CLARK: No. I mean -- What I'm getting at is, you know, we qualify your alphabet.

INZUNZA: Oh, I qualified, yes. Yes. Yes.

CLARK: Yeah. That's what I'm getting at.

INZUNZA: Yeah.

CLARK: You qualified (indiscernible).

INZUNZA: Somewhere in the 90s or 80s.

CLARK: Okay. That's good.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And you're certain this was 15 and one, correct?

INZUNZA: Yes, positive.

FREDENDALL: Fifteen in the magazine and one down the pipe?

INZUNZA: Oh, I -- Yes, sir.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: And there's a -- there's a time when we're going to ask you to pull it out and --

INZUNZA: Okay.

CLARK: -- recount it. How many did you count when you were out there?

INZUNZA: Twelve.

CLARK: Twelve plus one still in the --

INZUNZA: No, 12 total.

CLARK: Just 12 total?

INZUNZA: Eleven plus one.

CLARK: Eleven plus one.

INZUNZA: Yeah.

CLARK: Okay. One in -- One in the chamber and 11 in your magazine.

INZUNZA: Correct.

CLARK: So that's, what, four?

INZUNZA: Yes.

CLARK: All right. Good shot. We've got to try to do this safely because we have to follow department policies.

INZUNZA: Okay.

CLARK: Uh, but if you'd like -- Well, we'd like you to --

INZUNZA: It's on safe mode right now.

CLARK: -- so can you make that safe and then, uh -- just, uh, drop the magazine? And that's one.

INZUNZA: Well, there should (indiscernible).

CLARK: Okay. Okay. All right. So, um, what will happen just so you know is that will go to firearms. They're going to go through it, and we'll give you -- we'll give you a replacement. We won't send you home without a gun.

INZUNZA: Uh-huh (Affirmative)

CLARK: You'll get a replacement, and when they're done with it, you'll get it back. Twelve.

FREDENDALL: Twelve.

CLARK: All right.

FREDENDALL: Can I see your, uh -- see your weapon real quick? Thank you. It's a Beretta 92F. You ready for the, uh --

CLARK: Just go ahead and reload it, because we'll take that and, uh, then your other magazines they're fully loaded, right?

INZUNZA: Yes they are.

CLARK: Okay. Uh, we'll have to count those. The only thing we're concerned with is this one in that.

INZUNZA: Okay.

CLARK: And then, uh, we'll make sure that, uh, the lieutenant gives you a gun before you go home. Is this your original Beretta that you had from --

INZUNZA: Yes, sir.

CLARK: Do you remember when you were issued it?

INZUNZA: Well, when I -- Well, I think they give it to us before we graduate.

CLARK: So you got, what? How many years you been on? I forgot?

INZUNZA: Uh, 11.

CLARK: Eleven. Wow. You got better than eyes than me? I just need the, uh, serial number.

INZUNZA: Yeah. BR I want to say it's 12331 honestly.

CLARK: No.

INZUNZA: No?

CLARK: No.

INZUNZA: Huh?

CLARK: You remember your -- your --

INZUNZA: Well, I'm damn warm. I know that.

CLARK: 112 -- I'm impressed.

INZUNZA: 331? Something like that.

CLARK: BER 331. I need a magnifying glass. I can't see that.

FREDENDALL: Yeah.

CLARK: All right. The only one we're concerned about is -- Take this mag right --

INZUNZA: I just, uh, count these, right?

CLARK: Yeah. I just need to make sure. That's all. That's 15. You don't have to count them. It's okay.

FREDENDALL: Yeah, 15.

CLARK: Fifteen. Fifteen.

FREDENDALL: And he had 12 in here, right?

CLARK: Twelve in that one and then three extras with 15.

FREDENDALL: So it's two mags with -- each with 15?

CLARK: Did you -- Were able to write the serial number down?

FREDENDALL: Yeah, I got, uh --

CLARK: Could you share that with me?

FREDENDALL: Yeah, it's BER --

CLARK: Yeah.

FREDENDALL: -- for Beretta, 112331.

CLARK: I can remember my two-inch, but I can't remember my Beretta so. I think if I remember correctly I think I was the fifth person in the department to get the Beretta.

INZUNZA: Oh, is that right?

CLARK: Yeah. Yeah. When I -- When I was in patrol.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Aside from the two magazine holders, the radio holder, do you have a Stinger flashlight --

INZUNZA: Yes, I do.

FREDENDALL: -- on your belt? Okay.

INZUNZA: I don't think it's a Stinger but, uh --

FREDENDALL: Similar to a --

INZUNZA: Yeah, a Z2.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And you have a, uh -- a collapsible baton?

INZUNZA: Yes, I do.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Anything else you carry on your belt besides the holster and the --

INZUNZA: My -- My, uh -- My handcuff, my pepper spray --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: -- and, uh --

FREDENDALL: You carry two handcuff, uh, cases?

INZUNZA: Yeah, two.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: And your, uh --

INZUNZA: And the leatheman.

CLARK: -- leatherman.

INZUNZA: Yeah. That's pretty much it.

CLARK: Just for the purpose of this tape, uh, the deputy is, uh, dressed completely in a full Class A uniform short sleeve with the, uh, LA County Sheriff's patch with his, uh, LA County Sheriff's star badge. Uh, he's wearing a vest, and it's tan and green. Uh, he has his radio with him, so there would be no mistake that he's a law enforcement officer. And your radio car is black and white, correct?

INZUNZA: Yes, it is.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: And your partner was in a full --

INZUNZA: Yes, he was.

FREDENDALL: -- Class A uniform today, correct?

INZUNZA: Yes, he was.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Um, is -- is there anything, uh, deputy that we failed to talk about or touch upon that may be important or anything you'd like add in regards to, uh, what happened out there today?

INZUNZA: No, sir. I'm good.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

INZUNZA: Thank you.

CLARK: All right.

FREDENDALL: Partner, you got any?

CLARK: No, I'm done.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Counsel, do you have any questions?

CALL: Nothing. Thank you.

CLARK: All right.

FREDENDALL: Okay. We're going to go off the record then. Again, it's April 4th, 2011, at, uh, 6:12 p.m. and we're off tape.

INVOLVED DEPUTY INZUNZA'S IAB INTERVIEW

IAB NUMBER SH 2285686

INVOLVED DEPUTY INTERVIEW

GONZALO INZUNZA

Rossi: All right. We're on tape. Today's date is August 17, 2011. The time is approximately 1010 hours. I'm Sergeant Rossi, and my partner, Sergeant Graham, with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Internal Affairs Bureau, which is commanded under Captain Joseph Gooden. We are currently at the offices of IAB, Interview Room "B" as in "boy," and we will be interviewing Deputy Gonzalo Inzunza, Employee No. [redacted]

Inzunza: Correct.

Rossi: Regarding Case No. SH2285686, a force review of an on-duty shooting that occurred on April 4, 2011.

Let's go around the room and identify ourselves. Again, Sergeant John Rossi, R-o-s-s-i.

Graham: Scott Graham, G-r-a-h-a-m.

Inzunza: Gonzalo Inzunza, G-o-n-z-a-l-o. Last name is I-n-z-u-n-z-a.

Call: Audra Call with Green and Shinee. Last name is C-a-l-l.

Rossi: Prior to the tape, you were provided a force review admonishment form. Did you read and sign the admonishment form?

Inzunza: Yes, sir.

Rossi: Did you check "yes" to both the questions?

Inzunza: Yes, I did.

Rossi: Do you have any questions about the form?

Inzunza: I don't.

Rossi: Some background. How long have you been on the Sheriff's Department?

Inzunza: Approximately 12 years.

Rossi: And what assignments have you worked? Walk me through it.

Inzunza: After graduating the academy, I went to IRC --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- for approximately five years. From there, I went to Century Station, I worked the patrol. I was at DB patrol for a year. After that, back to patrol.

Rossi: What do you mean "DB patrol"?

Inzunza: Detective Bureau patrol assigned for Century Station.

Rossi: Oh, okay.

Inzunza: And then back to patrol at Century, and I'm currently at Narcotics Bureau right now.

Rossi: How long were you at Century?

Inzunza: Five years. Five years and a half.

Rossi: And you're at "Narco" now?

Inzunza: Yes, I am.

Rossi: What was your assignment at the time of this incident?

Inzunza: I was working patrol.

Rossi: At?

Inzunza: At Century.

Rossi: And again, you said you were assigned approximately five years?

Inzunza: About five and a half, sir.

Rossi: Five and a half. Okay.

How old were you at the time of the incident?

Inzunza: Thirty -- 40.

Rossi: Forty?

Inzunza: Forty.

Rossi: And what's your height?

Inzunza: 6'1".

Rossi: And how much do you weigh?

Inzunza: 215.

Rossi: How many hours of sleep did you get prior to the shooting?

Inzunza: Approximately eight hours.

Rossi: And your duty hours were 0500 to 1500?

Inzunza: That's correct.

Rossi: Remembering that the incident occurred on April 4, 2011, did you qualify prior to April 4th?

Inzunza: Yes, I did.

Rossi: With your Beretta?

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: Do you remember what month you qualified?

Inzunza: I do not, sir, no.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: I don't recall.

Rossi: All right. You did your patrol training at Century Station, I think you said?

Inzunza: Yes, I did.

Rossi: What were the dates of the patrol training?

Inzunza: June of `06 to, I believe, October `06.

Rossi: June to October?

Inzunza: Yeah.

Rossi: Do you remember the names of the training officers?

Inzunza: Sure do. Rodney Moore and James Delgadillo.

Rossi: And how do you spell Delgadillo?

Inzunza: D -- David, Edward, Lincoln, George, Adam, David, Ida, Lincoln, Lincoln, Ocean.

Rossi: Prior to the interview -- prior to this interview, you had an opportunity to review the transcripts from Homicide, from your Homicide interview; is that correct?

Inzunza: Yes, sir.

Rossi: You have a copy in front of you?

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: Now that you've had time to think back about that incident and on that interview, is there anything you want to change, modify or add during that -- for that Homicide interview?

Inzunza: I do not.

Rossi: Let's briefly go through that Homicide interview. Please correct me if I say anything that is inaccurate.

Inzunza: Yes, sir.

Rossi: Okay? On the day of the incident, you and Deputy Sibrian were working Century 217 Adam day shift; is that correct?

Inzunza: I believe we were Willowbrook car, sir. I think we were Willowbrook car.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: I think I saw it in here 214 Adam or 213 Adam, I want to say.

Rossi: I did see 214 Adam and then I saw 217 Adam. So --

Inzunza: Oh, --

Rossi: -- I wasn't sure which one was which.

Inzunza: -- yeah , 217 Adam was probably the handling or the assisting unit on the call --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- but I know we were working a Willowbrook car which is 213 or 214 Adam.

Rossi: So you believe 214 Adam?

Inzunza: Yes. It's on the report. Whatever is on here. Let me take a look real quick. 214 Adam.

Rossi: And you said that's a Willowbrook car?

Inzunza: Yes, sir.

Rossi: You were the book man and Deputy Sibrian was the driver in a marked black and white sheriff's patrol car; is that correct?

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: Prowler call gets assigned to another unit in the area of Baird at approximately 0826 hours and you assign yourself to the call; is that correct?

Inzunza: Correct.

Rossi: Enroute to the call, you were directed by the handling unit to go to 92nd St. and Zamora; is that correct?

Inzunza: Correct.

Rossi: You parked the car at the -- or Deputy Sibrian parks the car at the northwest corner of 92nd St. and Zamora and the handling unit requests you go to the front of a location on 92nd St. because the suspect was seen in the rear yard; is that correct?

Inzunza: Yeah, initially he had -- he had parked in this alley here, Sibrian did.

Rossi: Okay. So --

Inzunza: Parked here and when he told us to go to the rear --

Rossi: I'm sorry. Let me stop you a second. So you're pointing to Zamora Avenue and the alley behind, that would be south of 92nd St?

Inzunza: Yes, the east/west alley south of 92.

Rossi: Right.

Inzunza: We parked here facing north.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: After I mentioned that he directed us to the front, that's when we got back in our car and we moved to this corner here.

Rossi: Oh, okay. That makes sense.

Inzunza: This is where we exited our car.

Rossi: Let me just do this. All I'm doing is marking on here "east and west" because we're kind of upside down. Normally north is to the top. In this case, north is to the bottom. Just to make -- and I'm sorry. I know I can't write backwards, so.

Inzunza: That's good.

Rossi: If you can understand that.

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: All right. Do you remember the address that he directed you to on 92nd St.?

Inzunza: If -- if he did, I don't recall. I remember saying -- all I remember him stating on the radio that he was talking to an informant saying that they last saw him somewhere on nine two. That's when he had us go to the front of nine two --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- and I don't recall what address he mentioned to go to the front of.

Rossi: You start walking westbound on the south sidewalk towards the target location --

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: -- is that correct? Okay. You were in the lead armed with the Ithaca shotgun followed by your partner; is that correct?

Inzunza: That's correct.

Rossi: According to your transcript, you mentioned you don't recall what address you stopped at, but you thought it was the driveway of [redacted] East 92nd St.

Inzunza: Correct.

Rossi: Okay? Is that accurate?

Inzunza: Yeah, looking at these pictures now, which I've never seen --

Rossi: Right.

Inzunza: -- this is where we stopped here where this fence is at --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- where we first saw him coming out with the female out of the rear to where this van is at. This general area.

Rossi: And just for the record, in front of you are a crime scene sketch that Scientific Services did, a blowup of the crime scene sketch to make it a little more easier to read, and then there's a front photograph of [redacted]-- or [redacted]92nd St., a front photograph of [redacted]92nd St., and a front photograph of [redacted]92nd St. Is that correct?

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: That they look familiar to you?

Inzunza: Yes, sir.

Rossi: So just for the record again, you pointed to the driveway of 1[redacted]2nd St. right at that fence and the sidewalk there?

Inzunza: Correct.

Rossi: You hear over the radio the suspect is running eastbound and to the front of 92nd St.; is that correct?

Inzunza: That's correct.

Rossi: You also believe you're now dealing with a burglary suspect?

Inzunza: Yes, I did.

Rossi: Why --

Inzunza: Somebody --

Rossi: -- why did you believe that?

Inzunza: -- somebody put on the radio that he was seen coming out of a residence or out of a window or out of a door. I don't recall what they said, but they were coming out of a residence and he was running eastbound. When that was going on, I recollect us being probably here and that's when I speed-walked to here as that's when he -- that's when I saw him coming out, out of this area here with that female.

Rossi: So you hear the radio traffic come out as you're approaching --

Inzunza: [redacted]--

Rossi: As you're going westbound to [redacted] 92nd St., and then you visually see the suspect come from the rear of [redacted] eastbound towards where the female ultimately was?

Inzunza: That's correct. Well, she came out with him. In other words, she wasn't standing here --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- as I was coming probably here, this general area here --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- she came out first and then the suspect came out as though he was running and then he saw me and he stopped.

Rossi: So she was in the backyard of [redacted]

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: And then she came out to the driveway which is just east of the location?

Inzunza: Yes. Almost simultaneously as -- as they both came out of this corner here --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- in my view.

Rossi: And then again, you're pointing to rear yard of [redacted] The female comes out east onto the driveway, followed by the male or the suspect comes out east on the driveway?

Inzunza: Yes, sir.

Rossi: You look down that driveway at [redacted] 92nd St., and you see the suspect. You estimated him to be approximately 20 yards away?

Inzunza: Approximately, yes, sir.

Rossi: And the female and suspect are standing there together?

Inzunza: Yes, shoulder to shoulder.

Rossi: Shoulder to shoulder, okay. Do you ultimately find out the name of the female Hispanic that's standing there?

Inzunza: From reading the reports after the fact.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: Not -- not that day.

Rossi: [redacted] does that sound --

Inzunza: Yes, that's the name.

Rossi: You asked the female if she knows the suspect and she said, "No. I think he's trying to break in." Is that correct?

Inzunza: That's correct.

Rossi: Do you give any commands at this time to the suspect?

Inzunza: After that when she told him -- when they first came out, he was shoulder to shoulder, and I remember having my shotgun pointing it down. And he goes, "You know this guy?" And she was -- she had this real scared looked, petrified look on her face. She goes, "No, I don't."

At the same time, I see him trying to reach for -- for her shoulder and she shrugged off to the left and I said, "Come here." And then he took off.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: He took off out to the rear and out of view. And then she just say, "I think he's trying to break in." At that point, that's when he takes off to the rear.

Rossi: The suspect runs to the rear of the property and you lose sight of him; is that correct?

Inzunza: Correct.

Rossi: And again, you're referring to the rear of [redacted] where he initially came out from?

Inzunza: Yes, sir.

Rossi: And he's running westbound?

Inzunza: That's correct.

Rossi: Scott, do you have any questions at this time before I continue?

The suspect reappears at [redacted] East 92nd St. on the west side of the house with a gun; is that correct?

Inzunza: That's correct.

Rossi: And this is [redacted] and this is the west side; correct?

Inzunza: That's correct, sir.

Rossi: He starts to come toward you. He points the gun at you; is that correct?

Inzunza: That's correct.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: Not towards me. I'm -- I'm -- when he comes here, he tries jumping the fence over here, and I don't know if his foot slips or whatnot, and he comes closer to probably in this corner here. And I'm --

Rossi: So he's along the fence, is that what you're --

Inzunza: Yeah, he's along the fence here.

Rossi: And he's -- looks like he's trying to jump the fence?

Inzunza: Yeah, at first. And then he slips and he comes closer to the sidewalk but in this area here and then he -- he -- that's when he turned with the gun and I'm probably here, and I shoot through what I thought I hit all this wrought iron fence here. I shoot through here when he turned to me with the gun pointing it directly at us, and then he jumped the fence here.

Rossi: For the record, what you -- and please correct me if I'm wrong -- you show that he's on the west side of [redacted] along the fence. He's coming northbound towards 92nd St. as you are approaching westbound 92nd on the sidewalk and you're right about -- you're just getting in front of [redacted] 92nd St. when you wind up firing the shotgun?

Inzunza: Correct.

Rossi: And the suspect is --

Inzunza: Right where that yellow dot is right in this corner here.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: Right here. So I'm assuming it's somewhere here.

Rossi: How far would you estimate the suspect is from the sidewalk along that fence line?

Inzunza: Ten yards. Ten yards south of the sidewalk.

Rossi: All right. You fire one round from the shotgun as you tell the suspect to put his hands up; is that correct?

Inzunza: That's correct, yes.

Rossi: Approximately, how far were you from the suspect when you fired?

Inzunza: I'll say about another approximately 20 yards from him to where I was standing.

Rossi: Do you remember what your backdrop was at the time?

Inzunza: Yes, sir. I saw this whole wall here. This old house that's here.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: That -- that was my backdrop, first thing I saw.

Rossi: Did you aim with your sights or did you point and shoot?

Inzunza: No, I aim with my sights. That was my -- when I saw him running to the rear, my gun was already up. So when I was telling my partner, "Watch out. He's gonna come up somewhere." We didn't know where he went. At the same time, we're hearing the radio going, "He's running. He's running westbound."

So I'm walking, walking, walking. I remember walking speed walking like I wasn't sure he was gonna come out of. But I had my partner cover the left. I'm covering that driveway. As I'm coming, I saw him. I'm yelling at him, "Put your hands up." That's when I shoot the round. So that was on sight.

Rossi: And you're utilizing both the front and the rear sight?

Inzunza: Yes. Yes, I was.

Rossi: And your partner is still behind you at this time?

Inzunza: Yes, he was.

Rossi: About how far behind was he?

Inzunza: I want to say --

Rossi: If you know.

Inzunza: -- I -- I want to say maybe -- maybe between five to eight feet.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: Behind me.

Rossi: Did you hit the suspect at this time?

Inzunza: I believe I did.

Rossi: Any --

Inzunza: The way he ran, I don't think I did so I don't know. I don't know.

Rossi: The way he ran?

Inzunza: The way he was running, so I don't know.

Rossi: You mentioned about the wrought iron fence. Was there anything between you and the suspect when you fired?

Inzunza: Just this, sir. Just this --

Rossi: The wrought iron fence?

Inzunza: -- the wrought iron -- wrought iron fence there.

Rossi: And you mention that you thought you might have hit -- some of the pellets might have hit the wrought iron fence?

Inzunza: Yeah, cause I could remember hearing, "ding ding," or, you know, that little sound. Because the muzzle was right -- I was right next to the, you know, the wrought iron fence there.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: And so I remember because it was prior to me when he had the gun he turned around so I shot right -- right where the muzzle was, and I remember I was, like, right in front of this wrought iron fence there. So that's why I -- I wasn't sure at first that I hit him or not because I heard a lot of noise. It was pellets hitting. So I don't know how many pellets went, you know, straight at him.

Rossi: The shotgun now jams; is that correct?

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: Do you know why the shotgun jams?

Inzunza: Well, it -- it -- it stove piped from what I -- after the fact, after when I saw the shotgun, the -- one of the forks where it feeds was -- was bent really bad. So that's what -- that's what ended up jamming.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: The round didn't go through. So after I shot the first round, immediately from training, you want to go back right away and it wouldn't give. It wouldn't slide back so I tossed that.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: But that's what -- end up happening. I'm no expert with the jamming part of it but I saw the fork had bent, that metal fork had bent all the way to the left inward.

Rossi: And I'm assuming you don't know if the shotgun was that way prior to your –

Inzunza: Prior to, --

Rossi: -- start of shift or -- or as you were trying to rack the round?

Inzunza: I talked to my partner afterwards, he loaded it. He say, you know, we -- we tend to always test it at first, rack it, rack it, rack it. And he said it racked several times fine, so.

Rossi: At this point, do you or your partner put out any type of radio traffic, "998" or anything like that?

Inzunza: Not yet, sir. Not after the first shotgun round, no.

Rossi: Why not?

Inzunza: At the time, my focus was still on the suspect as I was at the -- as the shotgun was jamming, he was jumping over the fence. I was still focused on him. He still had the gun in his hand. So I remember when he was jumping over the fence, I could see the strap (gun) still as he's coming over the fence. So I tossed my shotgun round to the right --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- onto the grassy area here --

Rossi: And --

Inzunza: -- in the front of the sidewalk.

Rossi: And you're pointing to [redacted]

Inzunza: Yeah, that's correct, sir.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: And now at this time, now I'm -- now I'm -- now I'm running westbound as he's jumping over. I take out my nine. I'm still -- the threat is still there with this guy so I had no time to get on the radio just yet.

Once he turned -- do you want me to continue?

Rossi: Let me stop you a second if you don't mind. And when you're talk about jumping over the fence again, you're referring to the fence between [redacted] and [redacted]

Inzunza: That's correct, sir.

Rossi: On the -- it's the west side of [redacted] the east side of [redacted]

Inzunza: That's correct.

Rossi: And he's jumping over the front portion of it or the side fence into the front yard of [redacted]

Inzunza: That's correct.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: But to answer your question, I didn't get on the patch because I had no time to do it yet.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: You know, my -- my safety and my partner's safety was still at jeopardy there with this guy still having the strap (gun) running in front of [redacted] so I couldn't get on the radio just yet.

Rossi: Did you get flustered by the shotgun jamming?

Inzunza: Sure I did. Sure. I sure did because I was -- I tried three or four times to un-jam it, so to speak, and it -- the thing would not budge. It would not give. So that little three, four seconds of yelling at this guy, "Stop, stop," while this thing not going back, so, yeah, it sure did.

Rossi: The suspect runs west into the next yard. Again, it's [redacted] The front yard of [redacted] East 92nd St. You mentioned you dropped the shotgun, you retrieve your handgun and you go westbound followed by your partner; is that correct?

Inzunza: That's correct.

Rossi: You reacquire the suspect at [redacted] East 92nd St. Do you reacquire him in the front yard, in the driveway here?

Inzunza: Yeah, I never lost sight of him from the point where -- where I first saw him [redacted] jumping over the fence.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: He jumped over to the front --

Rossi: Right

Inzunza: -- sorry.

Rossi: That's okay.

Inzunza: And then he jumped over to the front yard of [redacted] so I kept my eyes on him the whole time.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: I remember when he's over here, I yell at my partner, "He still has the gun. He still has the gun." As he's running here, he turned this corner here --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- I loose him for a split second. I'm sprinting here on the sidewalk. I cut the pie here slowly. This -- this is where I slowed down.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: I slow down here as he's -- I don't know, a little past this barbeque grille here. Is that what that is?

Call: Yeah.

Inzunza: Probably where this --

Rossi: Looks like it.

Inzunza: Somewhere right in front of where this man is, but he's on the sidewalk, though, on the concrete. When I'm here in front of this trash can, which I don't think was there at the time, he turns to his right. Still has the gun in hand, turns to his right and he's turning, he points the gun in our direction. I tell him, "Put your hands up. Stop, stop." He turns. I shoot the four rounds and my backdrop was this detached garage here and that's all I saw was this big old wall here --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- and him.

Rossi: And again, just for the tape, you're describing that the suspect runs across the front yard westbound [redacted] East 92nd St., turns the corner into the driveway, starts running southbound down the driveway. As you're coming westbound in front of [redacted] East 92nd St., you mention you cut the pie which means you come to the corner of the house, it would be the west -- northwest corner of the house?

Inzunza: That's correct, sir.

Rossi: You mention you never lose sight of him?

Inzunza: Correct.

Rossi: You visually got him. He's running down the driveway. How far would you say he gets down the driveway before he turns at you again with the gun?

Inzunza: I'll say he's probably about 30 yards now from where I'm standing on the sidewalk --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- to where he's at, probably 30 yards now, north of -- north of me.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: He's on this -- there's a cat walk there or that little sidewalk there going into the residences.

Rossi: You mention when he turns, he points the gun at you?

Inzunza: Yes, he does.

Rossi: Do you believe he intentionally points the gun at you or is he just turning around because you're yelling at him, "Stop, stop, stop"?

Inzunza: No, I thought he was going to shoot at us.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: So fearing he was gonna shoot at me or my partner -- at this point, I don't know where my partner was. I know he was to the left of me or behind me still.

Rossi: Right.

Inzunza: I could hear his footsteps too running behind me. So that's when I shoot, fearing he's gonna shoot me or my partner, so I shot the four rounds and that's when he tossed the gun right where this guy is at right here. And he hooks left going eastbound and disappears.

Rossi: Were you scared at the time?

Inzunza: Yes, I was.

Rossi: And the gun is in the right hand of the suspect?

Inzunza: Yes, it was.

Rossi: And you mentioned again, the backdrop was the garage, which is at the south end of [redacted]

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: You mentioned you fired four rounds; is that correct?

Inzunza: Afterwards, I knew what it was. I thought it was three to five at first.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: I remember hearing the pops. I was trying to count it in my head, but I know it was between three and five.

Rossi: And you determined it was four rounds during the Homicide interview when you counted the -- the bullets and everything else?

Inzunza: Yes, yeah.

Rossi: When you -- when you shot at the suspect with your Beretta, did you utilize your sights? Did you point or shoot?

Inzunza: Yes, I did. At that point --

Rossi: I'm sorry, "yes," you did what?

Inzunza: Yes, I did use my sights --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- because I was on him like this when he -- when he turned that corner as I -- I think I did that only because I was cutting the pie; I wasn't using my sights. I was going side to side going westbound and so I was on him. When I took -- cut that pie, I re-saw him again and that's what my sights were on him.

Rossi: Both the front and rear or just the front?

Inzunza: Front and rear, yeah.

Rossi: Did you shoot all four rounds at once, "Boom-boom-boom-boom"? Did you double tap? Was there a pause?

Inzunza: All four rounds at once.

Rossi: Did you know if you hit the suspect?

Inzunza: Yes, I did.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: I -- I had a gut feeling I did based on he made this noise or this sound, "Uuhhh" or "Aahhh," or like a screaming type of a short couple, like a second type of thing, made this noise. And his body movement kind of shrugged and then but, you know, he still continued running. So that -- that lead me to believe that he was hit at that time.

Rossi: Where did you -- where did you think you hit him at the time?

Inzunza: Upper torso.

Rossi: At this point, do you put out any type of radio traffic?

Inzunza: Immediately right after that, I did.

Rossi: After?

Inzunza: After I -- after my fourth round of my nine --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- that's when I -- I switched over. We were on L-TAC mode still --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- that's why I had to switch over to Dispatch 4 and I put out the 998, and I gave the location and the direction of travel the suspect and what he was wearing, and all that good stuff.

Rossi: Do you remember what you said --

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: -- offhand? What? What did you say?

Inzunza: I said, "998. 10-33. Give me the patch." And I said, "459 Now suspect 417 suspect running southbound from" -- at first I don't know if you heard, I'm sure you heard it. When I was, I was putting out one seven -- I was gonna say one seven instead of [redacted] because that two, looked like a seven at first. I was still, you know, in that, in that mode and then I refocused and I saw a [redacted] So I put [redacted]2nd St.

He was actually going eastbound from this location and that's pretty much it. Because that -- we had that place contained already before -- before I even saw -- saw him at this point here. So we already knew this was already on lock down. I mean, we had him locked down pretty good. So I was just putting out what -- what had just happened.

Rossi: And looking at the sketch, do you know if the suspect runs between the garage and -- and the house or in back of the garage?

Inzunza: Looking at the sketch --

Rossi: Do you remember?

Inzunza: -- I could tell you, but that moment, I know he made a left going eastbound --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- From this, detached garage --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- I couldn't tell you what was there, you know, at that moment. I thought it was open. Now, like, I know it was all, the way it shows here, all the way, you know, long, this long.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: I thought it was just short. I thought he was going to the alley where the other partners were at.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: But looking at that and then comparing to what Detective Lario was saying. He was going back and forth. He said -- I think he said he's in between the houses going back and forth, that's probably what he -- what he was referring to. He was stuck in here. I don't know how wide it is this cat walk here so.

Rossi: So to the best of your knowledge, you believe that the suspect was in between the residence and the garage?

Inzunza: Yes, yes, yes.

Rossi: And then he ultimately winds up going eastbound through the yards?

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: And then winds up where they ultimately contain him in the garage --

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: -- at, again, I think it's [redacted] Zamora? Right there, [redacted] Zamora --

Inzunza: Okay.

Rossi: -- the garage. Is that correct --

Inzunza: Yes, sir.

Rossi: -- to the best of your knowledge?

Inzunza: Yes. Yes it is. Yes.

Rossi: All right. At one point you wind up picking up the handgun?

Inzunza: Yes, that's correct.

Rossi: The suspect's handgun?

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: Is it at this point?

Inzunza: Once I heard he's going eastbound. He's jumping the fence, he's going eastbound. That's when I told my partner we might as well go get the gun and my fear and my thought was that if this guy comes back and now the gun's there, we take off the gun's there, he might pick it up again because the guy's still moving around back and forth. But once I heard he's jumping the fence going eastbound, I -- once he jumped the fence, I knew he was in the next yard. So I ran up, got it, came back and that's when I -- that's how we picked it up.

Rossi: And you're indicating you -- you went south down the driveway of [redacted] You picked up the weapon and then you went north through the driveway back to the sidewalk?

Inzunza: Yes, sir. Yes.

Rossi: Where did you go from there?

Inzunza: From there, as he -- I told my partner, let's run back. From when I got to the sidewalk, I saw a deputy here and that's where we were at, our car was at. So I said to Sibrian, lets run back, because he's gonna go back. I don't know if anybody's back there, as far as to contain the spot if he cuts across eastbound. So we haul ass back over here to this corner here and --

Rossi: And you're indicating Zamora and 92nd?

Inzunza: -- and nine two because that was our spot. I think I -- I might have said something on the radio as I'm running back or something. I don't recall. That's when I see deputies in this alley here. They had already contained that spot.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: So I knew a deputy had jumped over eastbound from our containment spot.

Rossi: All right. So you went eastbound back to your patrol car in fear that the suspect was gonna get out of the containment area?

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: At that -- at this point, do you remain at your patrol car?

Inzunza: Next to it, yeah, as far as for cover.

Rossi: Right, okay. And then ultimately you're -- you're relieved and you're taken to the command post?

Inzunza: Yes, sir.

Rossi: And then to Century Station from there?

Inzunza: Yes, sir.

Rossi: Did the suspect have any options to prevent the shooting?

Inzunza: Sure. He could have, [redacted] (referring to [redacted] East 92nd Street), he could have given up here --

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: -- when I told him to put your hands up or stop, he chose to run. So that's one right there.

The second time was when he reappeared in front of [redacted] and I told him, "Put your hands up. Stop." And he chose to point the gun at us and he jumped over.

And then a third time was at [redacted]92 was when I told him to stop again, "Put your hands up." And he chose to turn around again with the gun in hand pointing in my direction.

Fearing I was gonna get shot, I shot. So that's, I guess, he had three times, three chances to give up.

Rossi: And this may sound like a silly question so bear with me on this. Did you have any other force options available to you?

Inzunza: I did not, sir.

Rossi: I know in the Homicide transcript, they briefly talked about cover.

Inzunza: Yes.

Rossi: During the shootings, I know you mention that at the corner of [redacted] the northwest corner, you had cover or cover and concealment there; is that correct?

Inzunza: Yeah, you mean when I was doing the pie?

Rossi: When you were cutting the pie, okay. Did you have any other type of cover concealment that you could see while this was evolving?

Inzunza: At this point here from Point A to Point B of [redacted] to [redacted] I had no other cover here.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: I don't believe there was any cars here at the time of the incident. Between [redacted] and [redacted] when the guy took off, happened so fast, I was thinking going across the street and but then he show up so quickly on this side, never gave me a chance to -- to do that.

Rossi: So that was in your mind?

Inzunza: That was my intention, yes, sir.

Rossi: Sergeant Graham, do you have any questions?

Graham: Yeah, just a question about the radio traffic. You mentioned after you used the shotgun you -- there wasn't time to put out any 998 traffic, anything like that. And you said that you heard somebody putting out that the guy was running over the radio?

Inzunza: The guy was running, I believe, westbound.

Graham: After the second shooting, why did you put out radio traffic at that time?

Inzunza: At that time, I already did that -- I already had shot, the 998, and nobody had put out any jump on the patch, you know, 459 suspect. So when I saw the gun, that's when I did that.

Graham: Okay, great.

Rossi: Well, that's pretty much all of my questions. One last question. I noticed in the summary that Homicide did based on your transcripts, you make mention at one point the suspect reappeared on the No. 3 Side of the house at [redacted] 92nd.

Inzunza: Yes, I did say that.

Rossi: Is that still accurate or is that --

Inzunza: That's --

Rossi: -- now --

Inzunza: -- that's inaccurate. I was confused with the "loc's,", at the -- with the locations at the time.

Rossi: Okay.

Inzunza: The correct address is [redacted] was when he reappeared and it's not the No. 3 Side, it's the No. 4 Side.

Rossi: And you're referring to the -- again, you're pointing to [redacted] East 92nd, and you're pointing to the driveway?

Inzunza: That's correct, sir.

Rossi: Where, ultimately, you wind up firing one round from your shotgun?

Inzunza: Yes, sir.

Rossi: Is there anything you want to go over, you thought about while we were talking about --

Inzunza: No, sir.

Rossi: --- the incident?

Inzunza: You pretty much covered everything in a nutshell the way it happened.

Rossi: One last thing. I know the incident happened about 0830 hours, give or take. It was daylight out; is that correct?

Inzunza: Yes, sun was out. Sunny day.

Rossi: You had no problem seeing the suspect?

Inzunza: Not at all.

Rossi: In any of the, you know, when you turned corners or went, you know, south of the -- you know, south when he started running south down the driveway, you still had no problem seeing him?

Inzunza: No, sir, I didn't.

Rossi: You had enough light and everything?

Inzunza: Yes, sir, I did.

Rossi: Okay. Again, that's pretty much all my questions.

Audra, do you have anything?

Call: Nothing, thank you.

Rossi: Anything you want to add before we end the interview?

Inzunza: No, sir, I'm good. Thank you.

Rossi: This will conclude our interview. The time is approximately 1043 hours.

WITNESS INTERVIEWS

WITNESS DEPUTY ERIK SIBRIAN HOMICIDE INTERVIEW

IAB NUMBER SH 2285686

WITNESS INTERVIEW

ERIK SIBRIAN

Fredendall: It's Sergeant Fredendall from LA County Sheriff's Homicide. Today's date is April 4th, 2011, at 6:43 PM.

Clark: You sure? Your watch is a little fast.

Fredendall: Yeah.

Clark: I have 6:37.

Fredendall: 6:37, okay. Anyone else?

Clark: 6:37? 6:37. All right. Sorry to interrupt.

Fredendall: No problem. We're at Century Sheriff's Station in the Captain's Conference Room. We're here in reference to a deputy-involved shooting incident that occurred on today's date under File Number 911-05058-2176-055. Also present in the room with me is my partner.

Clark: Sergeant Ken Clark.

Fredendall: And also present is a representative from Internal Affairs Bureau.

Rossi: Sergeant John Rossi.

Fredendall: And also present with us is Deputy Erik Sibrian.

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: Is that your true name?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: And did I pronounce that correctly?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: And also with him is counsel from Green & Shinee.

Call: Audra Call with Green & Shinee. Last name's C-A-L-L.

Fredendall: Deputy Sibrian, we're going to talk about an incident that occurred today in the Firestone area of Century Sheriff's jurisdiction. You were working uniform patrol today; is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: What unit were you assigned?

Sibrian: 217-Adam, sir.

Fredendall: And were you assigned in a one-man car or a two-man car?

Sibrian: Two-man car, sir.

Fredendall: And who was your partner today?

Sibrian: Deputy Inzunza.

Fredendall: Have you worked with him before?

Sibrian: This would be my second -- second time working with him sir.

Fredendall: And you were assigned in a black and white Sheriff's radio car; is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: Black and white with lights on top?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: And were you in full uniform?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: And that uniform consisted of a short-sleeved, Class A, tan uniform shirt with Sheriff's Department patches on each shoulder?

Sibrian: That's correct.

Fredendall: Your badge?

Sibrian: Yes sir.

Fredendall: Green wool slacks?

Sibrian: Yes sir.

Fredendall: Sam Browne, vest?

Sibrian: That's correct.

Fredendall: Earlier today, did you receive a radio call or an MDC message to respond somewhere?

Sibrian: We heard traffic come out. We assigned ourselves to the call.

Fredendall: And the traffic you heard was?

Sibrian: It was a prowler call, sir. Yeah.

Fredendall: Do you recall the address where you heard that?

Sibrian: I don't remember the actual address. I just remember the -- the area.

Fredendall: Are you familiar with that area over there?

Sibrian: I'm not -- just a little -- just through training. I'm not very familiar with the area but, you know, I'm comfortable enough to be around it.

Fredendall: And you're not currently on training?

Sibrian: No longer on training sir.

Fredendall: And you're off training?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: You respond to that area down there on 92nd Street; is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Clark: Were you the driver or the passenger in your car?

Sibrian: I was the driver, sir.

Clark: Sorry John.

Fredendall: No problem. In response to a prowler call; is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes sir.

Fredendall: Was there any additional information that you heard about this call prior to you getting there?

Sibrian: What I remember is it was just a call given to us by LAPD. They were just, kind of, telling us, "Hey, they got a call." They were transferring it to us, that there was a male Hispanic in a backyard. I -- I don't remember if he was just hanging out in the backyard or was looking through windows. I'm not -- I don't remember exactly what it was. But that was the call that went out.

Fredendall: You arrived at the scene. Did you guys park your vehicle -- do you recall where you parked your vehicle when you first got there?

Sibrian: When we first got there, we parked it right on 92nd Street and Zamora.

Fredendall: Was that at the corner?

Sibrian: Right on the corner, sir.

Fredendall: Did you and your partner get out of the car at that time?

Sibrian: Yes, we did.

Fredendall: Was there any more information that you heard, either by someone telling you or by radio traffic as to the nature of the call that you guys were assisting on?

Sibrian: At this point we were just kind of setting a containment, just standing by to see if anybody saw anything, trying to find out where exactly that location was.

Fredendall: Now your partner was bookman today; correct?

Sibrian: Yes, he was.

Fredendall: When you got out of the car and your partner got out of the car, what was your partner armed with, if anything?

Sibrian: With a shotgun.

Fredendall: And that's a shotgun that's assigned to you prior to you going 10-8?

Sibrian: Yes.

Fredendall: Did you load that shotgun or did your partner load the shotgun?

Sibrian: I load the shotgun.

Fredendall: Do you recall how you loaded that weapon?

Sibrian: Yes, I do.

Fredendall: Go ahead.

Sibrian: Well, I inspect the -- I inspect the shotgun before I even load it, check every part on it. After I inspect it, I go ahead and put it in the car, and I load my four rounds in it.

Fredendall: Now when you say you loaded four rounds into it, were they double-odd buck, or --

Sibrian: They were double 00 buck -- double 00 buck, sir.

Fredendall: And when you say you loaded it, was that four into the magazine tube?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: Do you carry the weapon with a round racked down the --

Sibrian: No.

Fredendall: -- the cylinder?

Sibrian: No.

Fredendall: No? And you put it in the rack of your vehicle?

Sibrian: I put it in the rack of my vehicle and secured it.

Fredendall: All right. You're there. You're at Zamora and 92nd Street. You guys get out of the car, and where did you go and your partner go once you got out of the car?

Sibrian: We were in the corner, so we went one house south of the alley, just, kind of, you know, setting containment because the partner was -- one of our partners was there already, and we just kind of stood by -- we just stood by at the moment.

Fredendall: Now, so I understand this, did you walk south on Zamora from 92nd to the alley?

Sibrian: Yeah, just past the alley. We were, kind of, just past the alley, south of the alley.

Fredendall: Where did you go next?

Sibrian: We just stood there at the moment, just waiting for, you know, if anybody saw anything or for further instructions from other partners on the alley.

Fredendall: When you're there at the alley, south alley and 92nd at Zamora, did you get any more information via radio as to what was going on?

Sibrian: At this time, one of the units actually requested us to go mid-block 92nd Street, 'cause they were looking into the back yard right on the alley and they possibly -- that maybe the guy could be back there. They just wanted us to go mid-block 92nd Street.

Fredendall: So did you guys get back in your car and go or did you guys walk?

Sibrian: No, we walked.

Fredendall: And as you walked from the south alley of Zamora -- or south alley at 92nd at Zamora, did you walk west on 92nd from Zamora Street?

Sibrian: Yes, we walked west.

Fredendall: North sidewalk, south sidewalk?

Sibrian: On the south -- south sidewalk.

Fredendall: As you're walking west from Zamora, was your partner in front of you or were you in front of him?

Sibrian: At this point, no, he's in front of me.

Fredendall: And is he still in possession of the Departmental-issued shotgun at that time?

Sibrian: Yes, he is.

Fredendall: As you're walking west, what happened next?

Sibrian: As we're walking west, we see this open driveway. We're kind of looking to every house just from the -- from the sidewalk. We see this driveway. It's open. A lady kind of pops out, and we see kind like a shadow pops out for a minute. And we, you know -- and we just kind of stood and looked at her. We started walking toward the driveway and it seems like she's being

-- it seemed like she was, kind of, popping her head. It didn't look normal. She just looked startled, surprised.

Fredendall: Do you know that person's name?

Sibrian: No, I don't.

Fredendall: Do you know if that person's here at the Station right now?

Sibrian: I'm not sure, sir.

Fredendall: Very well. Female? About how old?

Sibrian: Female, she's maybe between 18 to 25.

Fredendall: White, Hispanic, black?

Sibrian: Hispanic.

Fredendall: Any identifiable issues about her? Does she have long hair, short hair, light hair, dark hair?

Sibrian: I think she had dark hair, slim figure.

Fredendall: Do you recall what she was wearing though?

Sibrian: I don't remember, sir.

Fredendall: All right. When you saw her, those were your observations, that something was not quite right?

Sibrian: Yeah, she looked -- she appeared to be scared. That's what got our attention.

Fredendall: Was there any communication between you and your partner when you -- when you made the observation that she seemed scared or upset or uptight?

Sibrian: My partner was actually the one that made contact with her. As we were walking closer through the driveway, you know, like, "Hey, everything okay?" You know, something to that factor. She just looked at us, next thing you know, we see a guy right next to her. It seemed like he was -- it seemed as if he was holding on to her on her hand or something. She seemed, you know -- she didn't look like she was free just to come out.

Fredendall: Now if I can, let's -- let's talk about him for a second. Was -- was it a male?

Sibrian: Male.

Fredendall: Was he white, Hispanic, black, Asian?

Sibrian: He looked Hispanic.

Fredendall: Was he light-complected, dark-complected?

Sibrian: He was light-complected.

Fredendall: Let's start at the top of the head, and we'll work our way down. How was his hair style?

Sibrian: He actually had real short -- short hair; almost bald, I would say.

Fredendall: A little shorter than yours?

Sibrian: Oh, yeah -- yeah.

Fredendall: Did he have any facial hair?

Sibrian: You know what, sir? I don't remember. I don't remember if he had facial hair.

Fredendall: No problem. Do you recall what kind of shirt, color, style of shirt he had on?

Sibrian: Yeah, he had a blue sweater or a jacket. I'm not sure if it was a jacket or a sweater, but it was a long sleeved blue sweater or jacket.

Fredendall: Was there any writing on it that you recall?

Sibrian: You know what? It had -- I remember it had something white. I don't know if it was some sort of writing or if it said anything, but I just remember it was blue and -- and white.

Fredendall: Pants, shorts? Do you recall if he was wearing them?

Sibrian: I don't remember if it was pants or shorts.

Fredendall: You know if the clothing was light or dark?

Sibrian: I think they were dark, sir. It just stood out with just the blue shirt.

Fredendall: Understood -- understood. And did you happen to see his shoes, the color and style of shoes he was wearing?

Sibrian: No.

Fredendall: That's okay. When you saw him, you mentioned a few moments ago, that it seemed like he was holding onto this woman in the driveway when you and your partner made contact with them. Why did you think that?

Sibrian: She came out and she kind of looked out for -- half of her body, kind of got out of the -- out -- where the gate was --

Clark: Where you --

Sibrian: I'm sorry?

Clark: Where you could see her?

Sibrian: Where I could see her. She didn't come out fully, you know, she didn't -- all her body did not come out of the gate off the bat when we first saw her.

Fredendall: Was he in close proximity to her?

Sibrian: Well, at first, we only saw her.

Fredendall: Understand.

Sibrian: When we got closer, it seemed, you know -- it seemed that somebody was right next to her, but same thing. She still didn't come out after we talked to her. She still, kind of, was looking out like -- like a spy maybe, just, kind of, like, "Oh, what's going on here?" Once we got closer, that's when we see, like, you know, she was being held. She -- it seemed like something was, kind of, pulling her.

That's when we see him, and we tell him, "Hey, you know that guy?" Well, my partner says, "Do you know that guy?" Or -- or something with -- you know, when it comes to that and that's when she says -- she said, "No, I don't know him. He just tried to come into my house." And that's when he -- you know, my partner, says, "Hey, come here. Let me talk to you," or something like that. And --

Fredendall: And when this male was in the position where you and your partner could see him, and we're going to talk specifically about you -- when you saw him, was there anything unusual once -- that you noticed about him when he saw that there was uniformed deputies approaching?

Sibrian: Yeah, well, that's when she actually stepped out now. It seemed like she was free 'cause now she literally walked to the middle of the -- of the driveway. And that's when she told us, "No, I don't -- I don't know him. He came -- you know, he was trying to go into my house." That's when he popped out real quick, saw who we were, came back into the -- blocked himself from us, but we could still see -- you know, we could still see he's there; just the cracks -- I don't know if it was a -- it was some sort of a gate. I don't know if it was wood or something, but you could see through the cracks. He was still there. Same thing, he pops out again, you know, we told him, "Hey let me talk-- come out. Let's talk."

Fredendall: Did he -- as you're explaining this, your eyes got big. With that being said, was he calm? Was he excited? Was he surprised to see you? I mean, what was your perception when he saw you guys, the deputy sheriffs, arriving there?

Sibrian: He was hiding.

Fredendall: If you have an opinion as to -- of his reaction?

Sibrian: I thought he was hiding. I don't know if he was hiding himself or he wanted to throw something. I don't know just 'cause he kept -- he popped out his head once, hid again, and then he came out again. Maybe throwing something -- I don't know. It just -- it wasn't normal for him to pop his head in and out constant looking at us, where we were.

Sibrian: I don't remember. I don't think so, sir. I -- I don't think -- I just remember seeing him just coming out real quick, coming back in.

Fredendall: What happened next?

Sibrian: After that, we -- the last time he comes out again, and that's when we see him run, you know, and the lady just, kind of, looks, you know -- she's looking at his -- towards his direction where he went, scared. That's when --

Fredendall: When he ran, which way did he run?

Sibrian: He ran westbound. Oh, it appeared he ran westbound, that's just 'cause that's the only way I could see the direction where he went. That moment, my partner turned -- went back on the driveway. I kind of stood there, kind of like, you know, thinking, you know, is this guy gonna try and trick us, come back out, you know, once we leave? So I, kind of, just stood there for a second, just looked and then I looked back and then I followed my partner after, I was like, you know what? I'm gonna go.

Fredendall: Which way did your partner go on 92nd Street once you left the driveway of that house where you first saw this man?

Sibrian: Well he was -- he was walking out of the driveway. Then we ended up going westbound on 92nd.

Fredendall: On the south sidewalk still?

Sibrian: On the side -- yeah, the south sidewalk.

Fredendall: And what happened? You caught -- did you catch up with your partner?

Sibrian: Yeah, well, he just -- he was the first one to go.

Fredendall: Right.

Sibrian: Because he was in front of me. I kind of saw him go, but I just kind of stared at the door just making sure, that's when I turned around. I followed him. We -- he didn't even turn, I was -- we actually -- I was actually just right behind him when he turned around on -- on 92nd when he pulled out of the driveway. Once at that point, that's when he -- he shot from the shotgun. That's when I hear -- actually, I just hear the boom from the shotgun. I'm like, you know -- now at this point, I'm like, "Whoa, what's going on?" I see the guy just running. Then we're keeping him -- we're trying to see where he's going. When he stopped, the guy jumped the fence. He stopped for a minute. At this point, I'm, you know -- I'm just, kind of, looking 'cause I -- initially, I didn't know what was going on with the -- the shotgun threw me off. It was just, "Whoa, what -- what's happening?"

Fredendall: Let me ask you this: From where your partner was -- you're on the south sidewalk at 92nd --

Sibrian: Yeah.

Fredendall: -- you guys are walking west. How far away from you were you from your partner when he discharged the shotgun?

Sibrian: Maybe --

Fredendall: Approximation?

Sibrian: -- five -- five to ten feet maybe.

Fredendall: Did you see anything that would prompt him to discharge the shotgun?

Sibrian: No, I -- I didn't see anything. At this point, I was actually more -- you know, "Where's this guy going? Is he coming -- gonna come back from the other side or," --

Fredendall: Understood.

Sibrian: Yeah.

Clark: So you're looking for the suspect?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Fredendall: And you -- and you and your partner are going in the direction where he was last seen running?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Fredendall: Did your partner say anything? Did you hear anything prior to the discharging of the shotgun?

Sibrian: No, I just remember hearing the shotgun. You know, I -- I see the guy, but I -- I -- you know, I heard the shotgun go, and I see the guy running. I don't remember if anything, what else happened after that. It just, kind of -- you know, I just remember the guy jumping a fence, I think it was, and stopping, turning around towards us. That's where he, uh, I heard my partner shoot more rounds.

Fredendall: Well, we'll work our way up to that. And thank you, and I don't mean to cut you off. I apologize. We're -- I'm just interested at this point, the issue of when the shotgun was discharged by your partner. Before that shot was fired by your partner, did you -- did you see or were you looking at the suspect at all?

Sibrian: I -- I saw in that direction. I see the suspect, but to be honest with you, I was still in back of my partner, so I didn't have a clear view of the actual suspect or what was going on. I just, kind of, "Oh, there he is."

Clark: Did you have a gun in your hand?

Sibrian: Yes, I did.

Fredendall: So is it safe to say that when your partner discharged the shotgun the first time, down the driveway, from your position, you couldn't see where the suspect was; is that correct?

Sibrian: I couldn't -- I didn't have a clear view of the suspect.

Fredendall: Moments leading up to the first shot being fired by your partner and then after that shot being fired with the shotgun, did you see the suspect?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Fredendall: Did you ever see the suspect with a gun in his hand?

Sibrian: I didn't see a gun in his hand.

Fredendall: Very well. What happened next after the shot was fired by your partner with the shotgun?

Sibrian: I see the guy -- the guy just keeps -- I see him running over a fence.

Fredendall: Is he running west or eastbound?

Sibrian: No, he's running westbound. Yeah.

Fredendall: And what did you do and/or your partner do at that point when you saw him continuing to run westbound?

Sibrian: I'm still behind my partner. My partner's, you know, in front of me. At this point, I'm looking to see what's going on. At the same time, I'm looking around 'cause, you know, I'm thinking, "This guy has a gun, you know, or something's going on here," so I'm, kind of, looking around, where am I going to go hide for cover. The next thing you know, I'm right behind him. I see the guy stop. Just, you know, instead of running, he, kind of, turned around, stops and, you know, he seems like he's struggling or something at this time, but I'm still behind my partner, kind of, like, you know, get out of the way, kind of to get out of the way, let me see what's going on. But that's when my partner, you know, shoots a couple rounds, and the guy -- you know, the guy ends up kind of going southbound, like a little pathway or something like that. That's when, you know, I'm still -- I'm just looking straight forward. You know, with my gun, just like, "What happened? What just happened?"

Fredendall: Let's go back. As you guys are going west, now the shotgun has already been one round fired. You're working your way west --

Sibrian: Yeah.

Fredendall: -- on the south sidewalk on 92nd Street, and then he's -- you see the suspect in the next yard over?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Fredendall: Now when you see the suspect, is he running south towards the alley or is he running across the front yard as you guys --

Sibrian: He's actually --

Fredendall: -- see him running west?

Sibrian: He was in the position where he actually -- I would think he kind of looked at the alley maybe, and kind of, "Okay, here's my chance. I go now or let me turn around or do something." 'Cause he was in the spot where, you know, it -- it was -- it appeared maybe 'cause he was running, but the moment he stopped, and he didn't -- he didn't have to turn around and face us. You know, that was his chance to either go and that's what, kind of -- I don't know if he was actually --

Fredendall: Now when he turned towards you and your partner, out on the sidewalk, did he turn to his right when he turned toward you or did he turn to his left?

Sibrian: You know, I --

Fredendall: If you know.

Sibrian: No, I don't remember which side he turned, he just looked like -- he turned towards us or I guess he was facing us already, but he was like struggling with something. I don't know what it was or what he was doing, but --

Fredendall: Did you see a gun in his hand?

Sibrian: I did not see a gun in his hand.

Fredendall: Did you see a gun in his hand after your partner fired shots at him?

Sibrian: No, I didn't.

Fredendall: Now we're talking about your partner discharging his firearm, that's his Beretta, County-issue, semi-automatic handgun; is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes sir.

Fredendall: Do you know how many rounds your partner fired?

Sibrian: I think it was three -- three or four shots, I believe it was.

Fredendall: So prior to your partner discharging his Beretta, you didn't see the suspect with a gun?

Sibrian: No, what -- when he turned -- when the guy actually was going to start turning around, when I go, "Oh, okay, something's going on. He's struggling." My concern was more, I wanted to hide. I needed a spot for cover.

Fredendall: We're going to talk about that because that's important. That's okay. During the shooting and moments after, did you see the suspect with a gun in his hand, in his right or his left hand?

Sibrian: During the shooting, I'm sorry?

Fredendall: During the shooting, when your partner was shooting his Beretta, did you see a gun in the suspect's right or left hand?

Sibrian: No, I didn't. I wasn't even looking at that anymore.

Fredendall: That's okay. I understand. After the shooting stopped, did you see a gun in the suspect's right or his left hand?

Sibrian: No -- I -- I --

Fredendall: When you were out there on that sidewalk, did you feel vulnerable?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Fredendall: And why did you feel vulnerable out there?

Sibrian: 'Cause I was -- it was either going to be my -- well, my partner was going to get shot first and I was -- I was second, 'cause we had no cover. Where it's, it's open. There was nowhere to run or hide.

Fredendall: You had no cover or concealment?

Sibrian: Nothing sir.

Fredendall: Is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: Did your partner communicate with you at any time during this incident when he discharged the shotgun and discharged his Beretta that the suspect was armed?

Sibrian: You know what? I think he did, sir. I think he did at this point. I'm just, kind of, like just following -- following what he's you know, kind of doing. He's covering. I'm covering and it was just, kind of like -- I don't know -- instinct, just, kind of, like, "Hey, let's cover and see what's going on." Maybe he had a plan, and I was just kind of feeding off of what he was doing.

Fredendall: Understand. Did you discharge your weapon?

Sibrian: I never discharged my weapon.

Fredendall: Your partner, in your words, fired three to four rounds. Was there any reaction at all by the suspect when those rounds were fired that you saw?

Sibrian: I just saw him run, sir.

Fredendall: And when he ran, did he run east or did he run west?

Sibrian: No, at this point, he ran south.

Fredendall: And ultimately did you see if whether or not he went east or west?

Sibrian: No -- no.

Fredendall: All right. What happened next?

Sibrian: Next, same thing. My partner's still covering. At this point, like I said, I don't know if he told me anything. It was just kind of like instinct, just kind of like, "Hey, I'm here -- you know, I'm here." I see him go, you know, kind of like into the -- the little pathway, between the house. He picked up a gun and we -- we walked back to our --

Clark: Did you see where he picked the gun up from?

Sibrian: He picked it up from the ground, right between the houses.

Clark: You were able to see him pick up the gun? That's what we're trying to get.

Sibrian: Yeah, yeah.

Clark: Did you see if it was a stainless steel gun or a dark steel gun?

Sibrian: At this point, I didn't -- I didn't see -- I didn't actually focus on the gun. I just see him pick up a gun. I mean, it looked like a gun to me, but I didn't have a description.

Clark: You don't know if it was a revolver or a semi-automatic or anything?

Sibrian: No, at this point, I don't know.

Clark: But based on what you saw, because you were with him --

Sibrian: Yeah.

Clark: -- he definitely recovered a firearm.

Fredendall: Is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: What did you guys do next?

Sibrian: We walked back to our right -- to the corner, 92nd and Zamora where our vehicle was, and got cover. My partner was the one putting radio traffic communication. He was -- he was the one that kind of handled the radio traffic and everything.

Fredendall: What happened next? Did your -- do you know what your partner did with that firearm that he recovered?

Sibrian: Yeah, well, he -- he secured it, put it in the back of our patrol car. That's -- that's it.

Fredendall: In the trunk or in the back seat?

Sibrian: No, in the trunk, sir.

Fredendall: And did you and your partner leave that corner of 92nd and Zamora and go anywhere after that?

Sibrian: No, we actually we stayed -- we stayed there. At the moment, we just stayed there.

Fredendall: Ultimately, did you go to a command post or something?

Sibrian: Yeah, eventually we did go to a command post, but in the meantime, we were in that corner, just covering.

Fredendall: And you drove your car with that weapon in the trunk; correct?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Fredendall: Did you happen to see if your partner examined his weapon out there at all after the shooting?

Sibrian: I don't know if he did or not.

Fredendall: Do you know --

Clark: Did you guys stay together after the shooting or did you separate?

Sibrian: No, at this time, no, we were together. At the location, I was next to him.

Clark: When did you guys separate?

Sibrian: Well, we didn't -- well, when we went up to the command post, they just, kind of, like, you know, just -- I wasn't next to him most of the time, just, kind of, like we were there within the area, but I don't mean what -- I don't understand what you mean, separated.

Clark: Was there any time as partners, that you guys went different directions? Did you get in the car with somebody and go somewhere or did he get in the car and go somewhere, or did you guys both stay together as partners?

Sibrian: No -- no, we were -- I was next -- I was with him. Yeah.

Fredendall: After your partner discharged the shotgun, do you know what he did with it?

Sibrian: Well, he had -- actually I don't -- I wasn't even paying attention --

Fredendall: If you know and if you saw, what happened to it?

Sibrian: I wasn't paying attention to it, sir. If he did or not, it was one of those things where I take care of my weapon. I mean, he needs to take care of his. I don't know if he put it back or he held onto it.

Fredendall: And we're talking about the shotgun.

Sibrian: Oh, I'm sorry. The shotgun?

Fredendall: Yes.

Sibrian: Oh, I'm thinking his Beretta.

Fredendall: No -- no. After the shotgun, after he discharged a round with the shotgun. It was one round; is that correct?

Sibrian: I believe -- yeah, I think it was one round, sir, to be honest.

Fredendall: What was his actions after he discharged the shotgun, if you know?

Sibrian: You know what? I actually think he dropped it, sir. Yeah, I think he had dropped the -- the shotgun. I'm not really sure.

Fredendall: Do you have an opinion or a conclusion as to -- based on the radio traffic, whether it be on dispatch or LTAC, as to what this suspect was wanted for, if anything, as this situation was unfolding?

Sibrian: No -- I -- I mean, at the moment, I just know that, you know, we were just there for a prowler call. That was it. Next thing you know we have a guy who has a gun. But I didn't realize till later when I'm putting things together --

Fredendall: Understood.

Sibrian: -- what just happened.

Fredendall: Do you know, when this situation was evolving, whether it be with your partner who had the shotgun that fired a round, and then ultimately with his handgun discharged, do you know if the suspect ever got off a round? Did you hear any shots fired prior to your partner discharging his weapons?

Sibrian: I -- I don't know.

Fredendall: Understood. I'm just asking.

Clark: Did your partner ever say anything to you after he fired the first shotgun round? Anything at all? Like, "He's got a gun," or, "Watch yourself," or, "Take cover," or anything like that?

Sibrian: You know what? If he did, I probably wasn't even listening. I was just -- you know, I kind of zeroed in --

Clark: Could you hear after the shotgun? Could you hear what was going on after the shotgun blast?

Sibrian: No. I -- I was just, kind of, looking for cover. My thing was, you know, "Hey, I need to find somewhere I need to jump into."

Clark: Have you even been in a shooting before?

Sibrian: No, sir.

Clark: Have you ever been around shooting where you don't have their -- not in a range scenario, where you don't have your earphones on? I guess what I'm trying to get at is, after the shotgun blast, could you hear?

Sibrian: Could I --

Clark: Could you hear?

Sibrian: Yeah, I could. Yeah.

Clark: After the shotgun blast, did you guys continue to go forward, towards where the suspect was?

Sibrian: After the shotgun blast, my partner kept walking, I think what -- yeah, I kind of just kept behind my partner, kind of like looking around, see what was going on. We're walking towards that direction, kind of you know, "What's this guy going to do, what's this guy going to do," I guess.

Clark: Is that what you were thinking or is that what your partner was thinking?

Sibrian: No, that's me, I was thinking --

Clark: 'Cause all I'm concerned about is what you were thinking.

Sibrian: Yeah, no -- me, I was like, "What's gonna happen? What's this guy gonna do?"

Clark: What happened after the shotgun blast, and you're thinking, "What's this guy gonna do?" Did you see him again?

Sibrian: I could see him. I can't -- I don't have a -- he's blocked -- my partner's kind of blocking me the whole time.

Clark: You were behind him?

Sibrian: I was behind him.

Clark: That's normal.

Sibrian: It was more, kind of like I'm wanting him to move out of the way, too, so I can see what's going on.

Clark: I guess the question I'm trying to ask you, were you scared?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Clark: That's --

Sibrian: That's why most of the time I was behind him. Initially, I was behind my partner.

Clark: Absolutely.

Sibrian: 'Cause I -- I was scared. I didn't see the guy what was going on.

Clark: Better put somebody between you and -- did you perceive a threat at all after he used the shotgun? I mean --

Sibrian: After the shotgun?

Clark: Yeah?

Sibrian: Yes. I mean, 'cause I didn't know what was going on anymore.

Clark: Absolutely -- absolutely. But you kept -- did you point your gun in the direction of where you perceived a threat would be?

Sibrian: Yeah, I tried -- well, I tried like -- I pointed at -- towards the suspect --

Clark: Yeah.

Sibrian: -- but at the same time I was -- had to think, just 'cause my partner was right in front of me and the last thing I wanted was him --

Clark: Absolutely.

Sibrian: -- is to move in the direction I was planning on shooting.

Clark: Absolutely. And if I understand this correctly, now I was there, if I understand this correctly, what did you have to hide behind?

Sibrian: I had nothing, sir.

Clark: You guys are exposed, right?

Sibrian: Right, sir.

Clark: It's kind of a tough place to be in, right?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: Absolutely. All right. Now do you remember if -- at all -- what color clothes the guy was wearing? I think we asked that question before, but I was writing so --

Fredendall: We got the clothing.

Clark: Did we? I thought we did, but I just wanted to make sure. So you can disregard that question. We already asked it. All right.

Fredendall: Before we go into your uniform and your weapon itself, we're going to have to take a look at your Beretta. You carry a Beretta 92F, correct?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: And that's -- how do you carry your rounds on you? Do you carry rounds in a magazine?

Sibrian: There's 15 and one in the chamber.

Fredendall: So 16 total?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: One down the pipe, 15 in the mag; correct?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: Do you carry two extra magazines?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: On the left front side of your --

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Fredendall: And how many rounds do you have in those --

Sibrian: Each is 15.

Fredendall: Each is in 15. Before we go into that, partner, you got anything?

Clark: No.

Fredendall: Sir, do you have anything?

Rossi: I'm sorry, just one question: Prior to the shooting, did you ever lose sight of your partner?

Sibrian: No, sir.

Rossi: After the shooting, did you ever lose sight of your partner?

Sibrian: No, sir.

Fredendall: Ma'am?

Call: Nothing.

Fredendall: All right. If we can do this in a safe manner. If you can just stand up for me, and --

Clark: Render that gun safe too because he's going to have to count the bullets

Fredendall: Yeah, you can just stand up, kind of point down range that way and just go ahead and remove the mag and eject --

Clark: Is that the gun magazine – Can I see that?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Clark: You have 15 in here.

Fredendall: And one down the pipe. Check it.

Clark: Thank you.

Fredendall: We're going to --

Clark: How many other magazines do you carry on you?

Sibrian: These right here, sir, and one in the back.

Clark: Let's just see those. Make sure you got the bullets.

Fredendall: Hey, I can read the serial numbers on this one. It's going to be Boy Edward Robert 412 --

Clark: Fifteen.

Fredendall: -- 412352.

Clark: Oh, that's a different one. Sixteen -- 18? Wow, that's a -- unique. I've never seen that before. This one's got -- we've got 15, 15, 15. Is this like the junk one? You're just, kind of threw in your --

Sibrian: That's in the back, yea.

Clark: Part of your -- and this one's got 18. That's unique. I've never seen that. Have you seen that?

Rossi: No, I've never seen that.

Clark: I've never seen that either.

Fredendall: Does it extend?

Clark: Yeah, it --

Sibrian: No sir.

Fredendall: No.

Clark: That's pretty cool. I mean, I didn't know they made them like that.

Fredendall: I'd have to count those.

Clark: It's 18. That's what it says. I'm not going to – 18.

Fredendall: All right. The magazine that he had in is --

Clark: The one he had in has 15 and he had the one in the chamber, so that's a total of 16. Sixteen, two with 15, and one with 18 -- I'm sorry. Three with 15, one in the chamber, and one with 18. Does that make sense?

Fredendall: Yep.

Clark: It doesn't sound right, but it -- I think you understand what I'm getting at, right?.

Fredendall: And he's got one mag with a total of 18?

Clark: Yes.

Rossi: And the 18 round mag was the one in the rear; correct?

Sibrian: The one in the rear.

Clark: Am I having dyslexia or something? I'm having a hard time -- okay, three 15, one 18, and one in the chamber. All right.

Fredendall: Do you want to see this at all, sir? You good with all this?

Rossi: Yea, that's good.

Clark: So the bottom line, I mean, you were scared, right?

Fredendall: Yes, sir.

Clark: It's fair to say, I've been in three shootings in my career. I'll be honest with you, I was scared. And-- and you know, as cops, we still got to keep going. You know, you can't do like they teach us in the Academy, time out. This is real, you know. So --

Fredendall: Do you have any questions or anything you'd like to ask of us or anything you'd like to add that may be important in our investigation that we may or may not have covered?

Clark: You can reload this when you get outside, put it --.

Sibrian: Yeah. Just, you know, my first experience, it's one thing, you know, hearing about it, you know, in the Academy. It's another thing once you're on it and it's the real deal. It's totally different.

Clark: Well, by the grace of God you guys are survivors. That's good, it's a good thing.

Fredendall: It's dynamic and evolving out there. The best advice I can give you is just, you know, when you get a radio call or you get a call on the MDC or the MDT, don't put all your faith and confidence in the -- what that call holds. You know what I mean? Always assume the worst and always crisis rehearse out there. Assume the worst is going to happen. If it's a misdemeanor call that you're going to, always assume that it's a felony, and -- and handle your business accordingly because just that quick it goes down, and you saw that today. Fortunately, you and your partner prevailed. That's what's most important. But it's the real deal out there. No doubt. Does anyone have any questions? Partner? Sir?

Rossi: No, sir.

Fredendall: Ma'am?

Call: Nothing.

Fredendall: Anything at all, young man?

Sibrian: No, sir.

Fredendall: We're going to go off the record. Again, it's April 4, 2011. I'm going to let my partner give the time this time because he's got an accurate watch and I don't.

Clark: I have 7:14 PM

Fredendall: We're off tape.

Clark: We're off tape.

WITNESS DEPUTY ERIK SIBRIAN
IAB INTERVIEW

IAB NUMBER SH 2285686

WITNESS INTERVIEW

DEPUTY ERIK SIBRIAN

Rossi: All right, we're on tape now. Today's date is September 1st, 2011. The time is approximately 1104 hours. I'm Sergeant John Rossi and my partner is Sergeant Hector Velasquez with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, Internal Affairs Bureau, which is commanded under Captain Joseph Gooden. We are currently at the offices of IAB, Interview Room B, I believe. No, I'm sorry, A, Interview Room A, and we will be interviewing EriK, Deputy Erik, is it Sibrian?

Sibrian: Sibrian, yes.

Rossi: Sibrian, Employee Number [redacted]

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Regarding Case Number SH 2285686, a force review of an on duty shooting that occurred on April 4th, 2011. Also present in the room as an observer for training purposes is Sergeant Jeff Hamil. Let's go around the room and identify everyone for the recording. Again, Sergeant John Rossi, R-O-S-S-I.

Velasquez: Hector Velasquez, V-E-L-A-S-Q-U-E-Z.

Sibrian: Erik Sibrian, S-I-B-R-I-A-N.

Call: Audra Call with Green & Shinee. Last name is C-A-L-L.

Rossi: And our observer?

Hamil: Jeff Hamil, H-A-M-I-L.

Rossi: Deputy Sibrian, is it okay if I call you Erik?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Thank you. Prior to turning on the tape you were provided a Force Review Admonishment form, did you read and sign the Admonishment form?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Do you have any questions about the form?

Sibrian: No.

Rossi: And I see you checked yes to both boxes?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Little background history. Before I start, you've got some photographs in front of you. This is [redacted] 92nd Street, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: That look familiar to you?

Sibrian: Yes, it does.

Rossi: This is [redacted] 92nd Street, does that look familiar to you?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: And this is [redacted] 92nd Street, does that look familiar to you?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Also in front of you is the crime scene sketch that was done, does that look familiar to you?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Does that basically depict the three locations of the photographs that, that are in the sketch there?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: And then right next to it, again it's just a blown up version of the crime scene sketch, correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: And they all look familiar to you?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: How long have you been on the Sheriff's Department?

Sibrian: Approximately five years now.

Rossi: What assignments have you worked in the past and if you'd just give me a, a brief number of years or months that you worked at each assignment?

Sibrian: I was at Pitchess Detention Center South Facility for about four years, then I got transferred to Century Station where I, I'm at currently right now for, it's going to be a year now since I've been off training, so....

Rossi: At the time of the incident you were off training, correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: How long had you, had you been off training?

Sibrian: I got off training the end of January, February, so....

Rossi: This incident occurred April 4th.

Sibrian: Yeah, so January, February, March, April, two months, two, three months, around there.

Rossi: Two to three months?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: And your assignment at the time of this incident was?

Sibrian: Was working Firestone. I, I forgot exactly what unit I was, but it's the north end Firestone.

Rossi: Does 217 Adam ring a bell?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Could that have been the car you were working that day?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Did you have a partner with you?

Sibrian: Yes, I did.

Rossi: And who was your partner?

Sibrian: Deputy Inzunza.

Rossi: And I'm sorry, you said you did your patrol training at Century Station?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: When did you start your patrol training?

Sibrian: It's, it's August I think, end of August.

Rossi: August of 2010?

Sibrian: '10, yes.

Rossi: And you ended about January or February of 2011?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Prior to the interview you had an opportunity to review your transcript from the Homicide interview, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Call: Why don't you go ahead and get that out.

Rossi: Yeah. You have those with you today?

Sibrian: Yes, I do.

Rossi: And just for the record, they're in front of you, correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Now that you've had time to think back on the incident and that interview, is there anything that you want to change, modify or add regarding the interview at this time?

Sibrian: No.

Rossi: Let's briefly go through the highlights of that interview, okay?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Do me a favor, if I say anything that is inaccurate, please correct me, okay?

Sibrian: Okay.

Rossi: All right. On the day of the incident, April 4th, 2011, you and Deputy Inzunza were working Century 217 Adam, day shift, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: You were the driver and Deputy Inzunza was the bookman in a marked black and white Sheriff's patrol car, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: You were both in Class A uniforms, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: A prowler call gets assigned to another unit in the area of Baird at approximately 0826 hours and you assign yourself to the call, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Enroute to the call, you were direct, you were directed by the handling unit to go to 92nd Street and Zamora, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: According to the Homicide transcript, you indicated you parked the car at the northwest corner of 92nd and Zamora, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Did you...and there's a little confusion there, did you park on 92nd Street near the alley first and then go to the, the northwest corner of 92nd and Zamora?

Sibrian: I was actually...no, not at the alley, just by the alley. I couldn't tell you exactly where, but it was, it was....

Rossi: It was...was it on Zamora?

Sibrian: It was on Zamora, yeah.

Rossi: Closer to the alley at first?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Rossi: And then you wound up moving the car to....

Sibrian: Yeah, I mean I don't remember exactly, I just, I just usually just...it was the corner, but I remember the alley was right there, so I...we're not on the actual alley part. So it was more on Zamora I would have to say.

Rossi: Let me rephrase a little bit. When, when you first arrived there, you parked the patrol car, did you get out of the patrol car at that time?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Did...at one point did you get back into the patrol car and move the patrol car?

Sibrian: I don't remember if I did or not. Yeah.

Rossi: But you ultimately wind up at the southwest corner of 92nd and Zamora?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Rossi: The handling unit requested you go to the front of, of a location on 92nd Street because the suspect was seen in, in the rear yard, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Did he give you an address to go to?

Sibrian: No.

Rossi: You start walking westbound on the south sidewalk towards the target location, is this correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: You and, and Deputy Inzunza?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Correct? Okay. Deputy Inzunza is in the lead followed by you, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Deputy Inzunza has a shotgun in his hand, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes, he does.

Rossi: You begin to walk westbound down 92nd Street, how close are you to your partner at this time as you're walking down the street?

Sibrian: Right behind him, just, what, five, five feet maybe approximately.

Rossi: What were you thinking at this time as you're walking down the street?

Sibrian: At this time I'm thinking well, is this guy gonna come in the front? Is he gonna surprise us? Okay, is it a 459 now? Is, you know, what is this? That's all I...you know, and I'm just, you know, focusing on Inzunza waiting for him to tell me what to do.

Rossi: The shotgun that Deputy Inzunza had, you loaded at the beginning of the shift?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: You inspected the shotgun prior to loading it, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: In your Homicide transcript, you mentioned that you loaded the shotgun with double 00 buck shells. However, the Crime Lab indicated that the shotgun was loaded with #4 buck shells. Is it possible you loaded the shotgun with #4 buck shells?

Sibrian: It's possible, yes.

Rossi: Do you know for sure?

Sibrian: No, I'm not sure.

Rossi: Where did you get the shotgun shells from?

Sibrian: My 10-33 bag.

Rossi: Did, did you purchase them at one time?

Sibrian: Yes, I did.

Rossi: Do you remember when you purchased them?

Sibrian: I don't remember when I purchased them.

Rossi: Was it before patrol training? Was it after patrol training?

Sibrian: It was before, before I came out to patrol.

Rossi: So essentially haven't been through it, you were preparing your war bag and that was one of the items that you bought?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Where did you buy the, the shot shells from?

Sibrian: You know what, I think somebody else bought them for me and I paid them, you know, hey, get me a, get me some...I need this, you know, shotgun shells, so I think that's how I got them.

Rossi: Do you know where they bought those shot shells from?

Sibrian: I'm not sure exactly where they got them. Yeah.

Rossi: To the best of your knowledge, are they Department authorized?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: You start walking westbound on the south side of the street, as, as we were saying, looking at every house from the sidewalk, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Do you have your Beretta drawn?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: You come across a Hispanic female who appears in a driveway and you indicated that the female appears startled, surprised or scared, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Looking at the photographs in front of you, can you identify the house or driveway where the Hispanic female was standing?

Sibrian: Yes, this one right here.

Rossi: And just for the record, you're pointing at [redacted] East 92nd Street?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: And there's the address on the, on the curb there. Just so we're talking about the same thing. Do you know the name of this Hispanic female?

Sibrian: No.

Rossi: If I mentioned the name [redacted] does that ring a bell?

Sibrian: You'd...no, I wouldn't, I wouldn't know her name still.

Rossi: You and your partner asked the Hispanic female if she's okay when a male appears next to her, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Does this male ultimately become the suspect?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Deputy Inzunza asked the Hispanic female if, if she knew the suspect and she said no, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Deputy Inzunza tells the suspect to come to him, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Where are you at this time?

Sibrian: Next to Inzunza.

Rossi: You're still on the sidewalk?

Sibrian: Well, yeah, we're on the sidewalk still.

Rossi: Where in relationship to him are you? I mean how close are you? What distance are we talking about?

Sibrian: Same, same thing, about 5 to 10 feet, between there.

Rossi: And you're, you're east of Deputy Inzunza? If Deputy Inzunza's walking westbound in front of you, you're behind him?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Rossi: Can you see down the driveway?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: You can see both the female and the suspect?

Sibrian: Initially I saw the female first. Yeah. And then, you know, as we start paying more attention to what's going on, we see that there's a, there's a male Hispanic there too.

Rossi: How far away would you estimate the, the female and the suspect to be at this point?

Sibrian: Which...arm reach, I would say. Maybe four feet? Five feet?

Rossi: No...

Call: Are you talking about from each other or from...?

Rossi: I'm sorry, let me, let me clarify that. How far would you estimate the suspect and female are away from you?

Sibrian: Oh, man, I think 15 feet approximately, 15, 15, 20 feet, around there.

Rossi: And I know this is a couple months ago, you know, I understand that. I'm just trying to get a ballpark figure. What are you thinking at this time?

Sibrian: My initial thought was normally people come out when they see the police and they ask hey, what's going on, what, what's happening, you know, but in this case she was scared, so I, I just...something was wrong. She, you know, she was just scared when she looked at us. Didn't say a word to us initially. So now, you know, my heart was pumping, okay, something's wrong here.

Rossi: So her appearance or body language indicated to you that, that something was not right?

Sibrian: Something was...yeah.

Rossi: In your Homicide transcript, you mention that the suspect kept popping his head in and out at you and, and in and out at you and Deputy Inzunza. Can you elaborate on that? What, what was going on at that time?

Sibrian: He, he was...he appeared he was hiding, kind of quickly look, comes out, looks and, you know, looks at us. Now I assume like oh, it's the police, you know, let me get back again, but then again he had that look where he comes out again and looks at us, I don't know what was he thinking, you know, maybe they won't see me, checking who...how many people out there.

I don't know. But he kept popping in his head in and out, kind of like just to see who was there.

Rossi: And is he popping his head in and out from the rear of the location here where this van is? That is that location?

Sibrian: Yeah, so this is the garage, so it seems like he was just kind of coming out, just poking his head out from this side right here.

Rossi: And you're...for the record, you're indicating between the back of the residence and the front of the garage? ([redacted] East 92nd Street).

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Next to the...somewhere near the van or the, the car that was parked in the driveway?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: At this point the suspect appears to run westbound around the back of this location and appears on the west side of the next residence, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: He appears over here and again runs over here, appears up, up here now?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Rossi: That's correct?

Sibrian: Well he runs into this direction.

Rossi: And for the record, you're pointing westbound from [redacted] rear location to the rear of [redacted] East 92nd Street, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: And he appears on the driveway of [redacted] East 92nd Street, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yeah, he...I later see him coming out on the, on the driveway, but initially I just know that he goes that direction, that's it.

Rossi: All right, as he runs westbound...let me, let me scratch that a second. So the suspect appears over at the driveway of [redacted] East 92nd Street. You mentioned in your Homicide transcript that you momentarily stayed where you were at because you were unsure where the suspect was going, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: You mentioned you were approximately 5 to 10 feet away from your partner when you heard the shotgun blast...

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: ...and you see the suspect running, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Is the suspect running towards the sidewalk when the shotgun blast goes off?

Sibrian: I don't know if...I heard the, the shotgun go. I see the suspect, but I don't, I don't, I don't know exactly...it caught me off guard. I didn't know if it, if it was even Inzunza doing the shotgun. It was sort of what was that? You know, so I can't say yeah, I saw Inzunza do it and he was pointing it at the suspect. I, I, I didn't even know that Inzunza had shot, you know, had shot already. That's, you know, that's where I just kind of like was lost for, for that moment 'cause I didn't know if Inzunza had shot or it was somewhere else or was it the backyard 'cause we know there was a containment going on. So I didn't know exactly what...who shot who or who got shot. But yeah, I did see the suspect though.

Rossi: So you were not looking at your partner when he shot?

Sibrian: No, 'cause I kept looking back and forth towards the...I was afraid the suspect was gonna come back around, so I was just kind of keeping a close distance with Inzunza so I know where he's at still, but then I wasn't worried 'cause I knew he...you know, that's his side. He's covering that part. My concern was, first initially was is the suspect gonna come back around.

Rossi: So your attention was drawn to the rear of the yards to make sure that he doesn't come up behind you?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Rossi: When the shotgun blast goes off, where would you estimate you, you were at?

Sibrian: So this is the driveway. I was like maybe right here.

Rossi: So you were still right, right in front of or right near the driveway of [redacted] East 92nd Street when the shotgun blast went off?

Sibrian: Yeah, I think so.

Rossi: Give or take?

Sibrian: Give or take, around that area.

Rossi: On the sidewalk?

Sibrian: I don't think I was on the sidewalk. I think I was more like in the...not...I don't think I was in the sidewalk. I think it was more of the grass area I think. I'm not really sure yet, I don't really remember exactly. Yeah.

Rossi: But, and I don't want to put words in your mouth, but somewhere near the sidewalk?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Rossi: Shotgun blast goes off, at this point do you look at your partner?

Sibrian: Yeah, I'm looking right behind...I'm, I'm behind, looking straight at Inzunza now.

Rossi: And then you see the suspect running, right?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Rossi: At this point do you start moving towards your partner?

Sibrian: Yeah, I'm right behind him right after this. Wherever he's going, that's where I was going.

Rossi: And now you're able to clearly see the suspect?

Sibrian: Yeah, I could see the suspect. He just stood out to me 'cause he was wearing that jacket that I saw, so I, I mean I could see him.

Rossi: Do you see a gun in the suspect's hand?

Sibrian: No.

Rossi: And, and this may sound silly, bear with me, why did you not shoot?

Sibrian: I, I didn't know what I was shooting at still. I didn't see the gun. At the same time that, that...well that shot that he, he, you know, the shotgun, I was stunned still. I was still...I was...I didn't know what the hell was going on. You know, the last thing I want to do was shoot or even...I was behind Inzunza. I was afraid to shoot him, so....

Rossi: At this point how close are you to Deputy Inzunza? As...well let me rephrase that. Suspect comes up the driveway, the shotgun blast goes off, the suspect jumps into the next yard, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: At this point how close are you to, to your partner?

Sibrian: Maybe five feet. Five, ten feet, approximately there.

Rossi: All right. And again, when I say the suspect jumped in the next yard, I'm referring to [redacted] East 92nd Street, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: And that would be this one here, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: And just for the record, I pointed to the front photograph of [redacted] East 92nd Street. At this point let me ask my partner if he's got any questions.

Velasquez: Yeah, I do. Did you train in the north end or were you trained in the Lynwood area?

Sibrian: No, north end, sir.

Velasquez: You did all your training up in the north end?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Velasquez: So you're very familiar with that area?

Sibrian: To the point to my training, yeah, I, I was.

Velasquez: And with Deputy Inzunza, how many times have you worked with him in the past?

Sibrian: I think that was my first month working with him. Actually, I had just started working with him, with Deputy Inzunza.

Velasquez: So days? Weeks?

Sibrian: I think maybe two weeks, three weeks, from what I can remember.

Velasquez: And prior to you going on shift, did you and your partner talk about tactics, what you're gonna do when something happens, if...

Sibrian: Yes.

Velasquez: ...somebody runs from...you guys go over all your officer safety stuff?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Velasquez: Did you do it that day?

Sibrian: Yes, sir.

Velasquez: Good. When you...when that call came out at 0826 hours, was there a description of the suspect given?

Sibrian: I don't remember if there was a description. There was not a specific, I think it just said male Hispanic from what I can remember.

Velasquez: No clothing? No anything?

Sibrian: No.

Velasquez: How about updates?

Sibrian: I don't remember if there was any updates. We just went off by what when we saw the suspect. That was my description of the suspect now. I don't think I had any description for...in details before that.

Velasquez: Prior to that?

Sibrian: Yeah.

Velasquez: And the handling unit was, was putting out radio traffic as far as setting up a containment? I heard you say earlier...

Sibrian: Yeah.

Velasquez: ...they set up a containment?

Sibrian: Yeah, there was...they had a containment already. He was...they were handling it, yeah.

Velasquez: And your containment spot was gonna be 92nd and Zamora?

Sibrian: Yes.

Velasquez: Until they told you to go to a certain address?

Sibrian: Yes.

Velasquez: Now when you're going to this address, are you communicating with your partner as far as Inzunza, as far as what you guys are gonna do?

Sibrian: No, not at this point. We're just kind of going to...they never gave us a specific address. They sort of hey, work your way toward mid block of 92nd. At this point, you know, I'm just following Inzunza. We never actually said set something up where hey, you know, if anything happens, it was just...I don't think there was a need to. We already know...I mean, we're a partner and like we know what to do, so it, it wasn't like we took a second to hey, what's gonna happen now or just if this happens, we didn't do that.

Velasquez: Now you walk up to this driveway, you see the female walking towards you, you said she looked scared, she looked nervous, what is it that she was showing you that, that gave you that impression, that heightened your awareness?

Sibrian: The, the moment she didn't come out saying hey, what's going on, what deputies, what...norm...I'm used to at least everybody comes out when they see the police, say hey, what's happening? Tell me why, why are you in my driveway? This case, she was...I mean she appeared quiet, just looks at us, just straight looking at us and that just kind of went something off 'cause people don't do that. They're nosy, they always want to come out and say hey, what's happening? Why are you in my driveway? She didn't do that at all.

Velasquez: So that wasn't normal behavior...

Sibrian: That wasn't normal.

Velasquez: ...in your experience?

Sibrian: Yes.

Velasquez: Did you guys speak to her in Spanish or English?

Sibrian: No, English.

Velasquez: English?

Sibrian: English.

Velasquez: And she responded in English?

Sibrian: Yeah, she did. Well initially she didn't say anything, you know. Later she said I don't, I don't know this guy.

Velasquez: Who was doing the talking?

Sibrian: Deputy Inzunza was the one that initiated the, the commands or telling hey, do you know this guy?

Velasquez: Now when you're in that first driveway, the first contact with that female and you said the, the gentleman was popping out from behind the house, was he saying anything?

Sibrian: I don't know. I don't remember him saying anything.

Velasquez: Did you hear anything?

Sibrian: No.

Velasquez: Did you guys address him at all?

Sibrian: I don't remem...you know what, at this point I think I said hey, come here, you know, that's about it, so I just said hey, let me talk to you, come here. I don't know if Inzunza did the same, but I mean I was saying, like I was telling hey, come out here. He didn't do it. He never responded back or said anything.

Velasquez: What was his look?

Sibrian: Same thing, he...I mean just surprised, shocked I would say 'cause he kept popping out his head, so I literally didn't, you know, I just mean initially I just kept seeing him back and forth, back and forth.

Velasquez: At that time when he's popping back and forth, he has a shocked look on his face, did you see his hands? Did you see what he was doing with his hands at all?

Sibrian: I didn't. I didn't see his hands.

Velasquez: Did your partner tell you anything?

Sibrian: No, at this time, you know, I just remember looking at him, just kind of like damn, well what do I do now? That's basically it. Yeah, I was...I mean I know something was wrong, but then I think I was still in the...I, I was in training mode still where I kept looking at Inzunza like, you know, 'cause normally in training, I...you know, you look at your, your training officer, you know, and they... obviously they want you to hey, do your thing, make a decision, but I had just gotten off training so at least I felt like I just got off training so I...then I saw Inzunza, you know, he's got more experience so I kept looking at him, you know, what do I do now, sir? What do you need me to do? So I think that's why I was, you know, I was kind of lost for the second.

Velasquez: So were you waiting for direction from Inzunza, based on you just got off training and....

Sibrian: Yeah. No, not, not necessarily him telling me hey, go over there or do this, but there's like always like a look that you give each other, like no, you know, you're good, you know, it just...I can't say yes, you know, you, you can just look at each other and kind of like yeah, you're good, you're...stay where you're at, but he doesn't actually like just say hey, I need you to stay here. You kind of get the idea just by looking at him and he'll give me a look, I understand what he means, like no, you're good where you're standing or, or no, get out, you know. That's what I was just doing. I looked at Inzunza real quick and I guess I would have to say yeah, maybe wait for some sort of direction maybe, but that was it.

Velasquez: You mentioned earlier when you saw that look on that lady's face, you saw she was scared, she was agitated, you're...you got a little pumped up?

Sibrian: Yes.

Velasquez: A little nervous? Why is that?

Sibrian: 'Cause I...'cause something wasn't right. You know, it, it's like I, I...initially maybe I was like why is she, why is she acting this way? Some, something's gonna happen, something might happen right now. It's just one of those things where there's just suspense, you know, it was like okay, don't...you know, I don't know, for all I know she could've been the suspect too 'cause she was shocked, but then it just...everything just turned when I...you know, we saw the other guy now there. So, you know, it's just a mixture of stuff, I was just lost.

Velasquez: So your adrenaline started going...

Sibrian: Yeah.

Velasquez: ...a little higher? Okay. Just a couple more questions. And you're still behind Inzunza. Did you, did you get a clear picture of the suspect where you...or did you kind of see a sight of him?

Sibrian: I, I, I got a picture of him 'cause there's just...he stood out, the blue jacket he had, I mean it, it's like a Dodger blue and that's what got my attention. That's why at least, you know, got...I focused on this is it, it's a blue jacket, that's all I remember from...and he looked Hispanic. I guess just later through the day we found out he was, he was African American, but to me he looked Hispanic when we saw him, so....

Velasquez: And we still didn't have a description of the guy on radio traffic. No one had put out a description, male Hispanic, male Black, male White?

Call: He said male, he heard male Hispanic initially.

Sibrian: I think initially we, we put out it was Hispanic I think, but that, that was it though. There was no actual details whether...we said Hispanic, but you know, obviously he wasn't Hispanic, but that's how he looked like that moment we, we saw him.

Velasquez: Who put out that traffic?

Sibrian: Deputy Inzunza.

Velasquez: You never got on the radio?

Sibrian: No.

Rossi: And when was that traffic put out?

Sibrian: I don't remember, it was right after he...I don't remember if it, if it happened right after, you know, he went behind the house or after. I, I really don't.

Rossi: Do you know if it happened before the shooting, the, the first shooting with the shotgun blast or after that?

Sibrian: No, it...that's, you know, that's...I...from there, I don't remember exactly if...what the traffic. I just know that yeah, radio traffic was just going off 'cause I know there was people in the back and they were...I don't know if I just heard them yelling hey, he's here or he's there, or was it actual radio traffic.

Velasquez: And just getting back to that, that first house and I don't know if we want to mark these A, B or C?

Rossi: They're, they're already....

Velasquez: They're already marked with the....

Rossi: Yeah, they're already identified in the picture.

Velasquez: The first photograph that we're looking at when....

Rossi: [redacted] I'm sorry, [redacted] East 92nd Street.

Velasquez: When he's popping his head back and forth and then he takes off running from here to the following house...

Sibrian: Yes.

Velasquez: ...did you guys communicate that to your assisting units, do you remember?

Sibrian: I don't remember if...I don't...at least I didn't. I know at this point I just...that's...I mean, my adrenaline was just running now and I, I, I...just me personally, I didn't put the radio traffic out that hey, we got...this is the guy. I was just totally counting on Inzunza for that.

Velasquez: That's fine. And we got to the second house already, right?

Rossi: Right, we're actually, we're actually into the third house.

Velasquez: At the second house when you see Inzunza...did you see him fire?

Sibrian: No.

Velasquez: Or you just hear it?

Sibrian: I, I hear it.

Velasquez: Now how far...where is Inzunza in relation to this picture and where are you, roughly?

Sibrian: Roughly, I mean....

Call: When he shot the shotgun?

Velasquez: Yeah, when he shot the shotgun.

Sibrian: That was maybe...you know, same thing, I was in the same place where he was at. It wasn't far. I mean I can maybe...I could not grab him, but it'd just take two steps and then grab him, so yeah, same thing, like maybe five feet behind him. Five, ten feet approximately behind him. 'Cause I think initially I almost was too close and I don't know if I, if I took a step back. I don't really remember exactly how, how close was I. I know it wasn't like right next to him, hunkering behind him.

Velasquez: Correct.

Sibrian: But I was still close enough.

Velasquez: And if I can back track...

Sibrian: Yeah.

Velasquez: ...to the first photo, you said when Inzunza started going west on the sidewalk, you stayed behind to see if the guy was gonna double back on you?

Sibrian: Yeah. Well I didn't...yeah, I stayed here. I was, I was still back here.

Rossi: And again just for the record, you're referring to [redacted] East 92nd Street right around the sidewalk driveway area?

Sibrian: Yes. So I didn't actually wait for Inzunza to start walking, you know, westbound on it and then I catched...and then no, he basically walked down the driveway. Once he walked down the driveway, that's when I, you know, once he basically cleared the driveway, you could say, that's when I was okay, he's gonna go west now. That's why I took off right behind him.

Velasquez: And Inzunza's walking westbound or is he running?

Sibrian: I think we're both like speed walking. I mean, I wouldn't say we were running 'cause I mean I, I don't think we were running. I don't think so. I think it was just more just speed walking I think, but I don't think I was running at all.

Velasquez: Were there cars on the street, parked cars on the street if you recall?

Sibrian: I don't remember if there's cars.

Velasquez: Was there traffic going on 92nd, do you recall?

Sibrian: You know what, just going by the...it's the morning area, at that time usually there would...it's pretty quiet at that time. At least I don't remember it being a lot of traffic at that time. Yeah.

Velasquez: And probably my last question for now is, did you see any areas you could've used for cover, for concealment after you heard the shotgun blast?

Sibrian: No. No, not at all. That's actually what I got scared of 'cause I had nowhere to go hide. So, but yeah, I didn't see anything at the time.

Velasquez: And did Inzunzo...Inzunzo?

Sibrian: Inzunza.

Velasquez: Inzunza, did he tell you if you recall prior to shooting, after the shooting that first time, the shotgun blast, did he see a gun? Did he communicate that with you at all what, what he was observing?

Sibrian: I don't know if he did. He probably did, but I, I, I didn't, I didn't hear what he was telling me.

Velasquez: Correct.

Sibrian: For all I know he was probably telling me what to do and everything and I, I wasn't even hearing what he was saying. At this...you know, he probably did, but I didn't hear it. I just kind of stuck...I'm sticking to him. I didn't know where else to go, so....

Velasquez: And why is that Sibrian? Why, why is...why, why do you think you're not listening or you can't hear?

Sibrian: I was, I was freaking out. I mean, I was scared at this point. I mean, I heard the shotgun, I didn't know where it was coming from, so now it just...it's the real deal. I mean, this is for real. I can get killed here. I have nowhere to hide, you know, there's no trees to go and, you know, let me go hide and see what's going on and then yeah, I'll shoot the guy if I could. At this point I have nowhere to go and the only person I had there was Inzunza, so that was my thing. At this point, I, I, you know, I wasn't paying attention, he was actually giving me commands though. I was more like I need to find cover somewhere.

Rossi: Let me step back a little bit. You mentioned that you had been working with him for about two or three, two or three weeks and then I...if I remember correctly in the transcript, when you talked with Homicide, you mentioned something about working with him two or three days. Do you remember...again I realize it's been a while now, do you remember if it was days or weeks?

Sibrian: I'm not...you know what, right off training I'd been working with so many different people.

Rossi: Right.

Sibrian: I know I was new working in the car with him. That's the thing, I'm not sure if it was...I mean, the transcript is I think two or three days I guess. That's probably what it was. I wasn't sure if it was a couple weeks, but I know I was new with Inzunza. I mean, I hadn't been working with him at all, I was brand new working with him. So I mean I, I don't remember. I'd actually have to see it and make sure if it was two days or two weeks or something.

Rossi: I ended the last question, the suspect jumps a fence into the next yard west of this location, which is [redacted] East 92nd Street. So now the suspect's over here or over here now.

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: You mentioned you started looking for cover as you and Deputy Inzunza proceed westbound, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: At this point are you still on the sidewalk?

Sibrian: I, I don't remember if we were still on the sidewalk. I mean we're in that area, yeah.

Rossi: You mentioned your partner's in front of you, you're trying to see what is going on, when the suspect stops and turns, and Deputy Inzunza shoots some rounds from his Beretta, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: At this point is the suspect in the driveway of [redacted] East 92nd Street?

Sibrian: I don't remember exactly where if he was actually on the driveway already or not.

Rossi: We're talking about the suspect now.

Sibrian: Okay. Where the suspect was at this time?

Rossi: Yes. If you remember.

Sibrian: Yeah, I, I really don't remember exactly where he was at. At this point, you know, now I mean with the...with Inzunza I guess shot with the Beretta, now I'm, I'm still curious trying to see what's going on, but at the same time now, I literally am hiding behind Inzunza now. Now it's just okay, this is the only cover I have and he's in front of me. So I would say I could see the suspect, something, what's going on, trying to see, but at the same time, I'm like oh, crap, let me get behind Inzunza.

Rossi: In your transcript you mentioned that the suspect was struggling.

Sibrian: Yeah.

Rossi: Can you elaborate on that, what do you mean by struggling? What, what were you seeing?

Sibrian: He, he stopped, seemed like he stopped and then I don't know if he was either struggling as in maybe okay, which way should I run instead, or, or was he reaching in for something. I couldn't tell. It was just...he was kind of like, just looked like okay, well what do I do? You know, I don't know if he was actually reaching for his waistband or I'm not sure, but it looked like he just kind of like looked lost, like okay, what should I do now? Same thing, that's when, you know, that's when I was like oh, something, you know, just hid behind Inzunza at this point. And that, that's, that's what I saw from him.

Rossi: At this point did you feel like you were in over your head? What, what, what were you thinking at this time? You, you mentioned that you hid behind Deputy Inzunza.

Sibrian: Yeah.

Rossi: For, for what purpose?

Sibrian: I, I was scared I was gonna get shot now 'cause now I mean I, I guess at this point I realize okay, there's a gun here somewhere or does he have it on him? You know, that's why when he stopped and I didn't just see him go directly south, I was like okay, here it goes, you know, it, it...he's either gonna give up, he's gonna shoot or what? That's, that's where I got scared and, and instead of, you know, maybe going around and trying to do something else, I just stayed behind Inzunza.

Rossi: And this is at the point where the, the suspect's now in the driveway at [redacted] East 92nd Street?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: All right. Again, you mentioned you hid behind Deputy Inzunza, how close were you to him at this point?

Sibrian: About five feet now.

Rossi: He, he...again, he winds up firing some rounds from his Beretta, why didn't you shoot?

Sibrian: I didn't have a clear shot. I, I mean, I just, I just...I was gonna miss if I did and at the same time....

Rossi: I'm sorry, once again?

Sibrian: I would miss. I, I just couldn't shoot and then Inzunza's in front of me too. My last fear was Inzunza moves to the side and I was gonna, you know, accidentally shoot Inzunza. I just didn't, I just didn't have a clear shot I would say and the worst thing was shoot Inzunza from my gun.

Rossi: Did anything prevent you from moving off to the side of Deputy Inzunza, a safe distance to, to where you had a view of the suspect and then if you had to shoot, you could shoot?

Sibrian: Yeah, but....

Rossi: What, what prevented you from doing that?

Sibrian: I had nowhere to hide or have cover or just concealment. It would've, it would've been...I would've been just exposed, so I never went anywhere.

Rossi: During your Homicide interview, you were asked if Deputy Inzunza communicated with you that the suspect was armed. You mentioned you think he did and I'm pretty sure we, we pretty much went over all that, that you...well I'll have you...let me have you...rephrase that again. During the Homicide interview you were asked if Deputy Inzunza communicated with you that the suspect was armed. Do you remember?

Sibrian: I don't remember, I don't remember him telling me. He probably did, but I don't remember hearing it or, or, or actually focusing on what he was telling me.

Rossi: Do you have any recollection at all what your partner was telling you at that time?

Sibrian: No. No.

Rossi: The suspect runs south down the driveway of [redacted] East 92nd Street and then eastbound through some yards, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yeah, yeah, he goes southbound, the driveway and then from there, you know, at least I don't remember seeing whether he went east or west or....

Rossi: At this point, Deputy Inzunza picks up the suspect's weapon that was tossed by the suspect and you and him go back to the patrol car to secure it in the trunk, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Is any radio traffic being put out at this time, do you remember?

Sibrian: Yeah, at this point yeah. They're...Inzunza was communicating with other units. I don't know exactly what he was putting, but yeah, by this time yeah, there is traffic being put out that I, you know. Or at least I remember hearing sort of Inzunza saying some stuff, but I don't know exactly what, whether it was the description. I just know he was talking, but....

Rossi: Do you see Deputy Inzunza actually pick up the weapon?

Sibrian: Yes, I did.

Rossi: Where was the weapon located?

Sibrian: In the driveway of....

Rossi: [redacted]East 92nd, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Is this the first time you see the weapon?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: You never see it in the suspect's hands, correct?

Sibrian: No, I didn't.

Rossi: After you secure the weapon in the, in the trunk of your radio car, you and your partner are ultimately relieved and you respond to the command post, and then eventually to Century Station, is that correct?

Sibrian: Yes.

Rossi: Did you or your partner go in foot pursuit of the suspect during this incident?

Sibrian: No.

Rossi: You already answered it...and just confirm with me, you did not put out any, any radio traffic during this entire incident?

Sibrian: No.

Rossi: During the suspect's interview with Homicide, he mentioned a couple deputies shot at him. Are you aware of any other deputies that shot at the suspect besides Deputy Inzunza?

Sibrian: No.

Rossi: Did you or Deputy Inzunza tell the suspect I'm going to shoot you again mother fucker or something similar to that?

Sibrian: No.

Rossi: Suspect mentioned he was shot at approximately 16 times. Based on your involvement and knowledge of the, of the incident, do you know if the suspect was shot at approximately 16 times?

Sibrian: No.

Rossi: No, you don't know or no, the suspect was not shot at 16 times?

Sibrian: I don't think he was shot 16 times.

Call: I think he can only talk, speak to what happened with you and Inzunza, correct? Do you know what other deputies around were doing?

Sibrian: No, I don't know what they were doing, yeah.

Rossi: To, to the best of your knowledge, the suspect was not shot at 16 times?

Sibrian: No, he wasn't.

Rossi: The suspect mentioned after the second shooting, he laid on the ground once he realized it was the police. Did that happen during either one of Deputy Inzunza's shootings to the best of your knowledge?

Sibrian: I don't think so.

Rossi: You don't remember seeing him lay down on the ground?

Sibrian: I don't...no. No, I don't remember seeing him on the ground.

Rossi: The suspect further said that once he was on the ground, Deputies started shooting again. Did that happen during either one of Deputy Inzunza's shootings to the best of your knowledge?

Sibrian: No.

Rossi: During this entire incident, did either one of you discuss anything about a designated shooter or anything like that?

Sibrian: No.

Velasquez: Earlier when you were mentioning the suspect was struggling and you were explaining to my partner that he was struggling with his hands, you made a motion towards your waistline, did you actually see the suspect going with his hands toward his waistband?

Sibrian: Not necessarily go down where he's reaching in his waistband. It was more, you know, I don't know if he was just maybe holding on, you know, like, you know, just putting his hands together and saying hey, where am I gonna go now or was he, you know, feeling for something. I, I couldn't say exactly, but they were in that direction where....

Velasquez: Close to his waistband?

Sibrian: Close to his waistband. That's, you know, that's...at least that's what it appeared to me.

Velasquez: And what thoughts are going in your head when you see this, if you remember?

Sibrian: It's just...I don't know if, you know, is there a...now is there a gun now and that's where I was okay, is there a gun, is he going for a gun or, or is there no gun? Is he gonna go north, south, I mean I didn't know what...you know, I was trying to figure out I guess what he was thinking, is he gonna run or is he stopping? Or is he gonna come towards us? I, I, I couldn't tell. That's where, you know, I got scared. The same thing, I just, you know, looked out and go back behind Inzunza again.

Velasquez: After Inzunza fired his Beretta, did the guy flinch? Did he go down? Did he do anything that would indicate he got hit that you could see?

Sibrian: I, I didn't think he got hit. But he was, you know...again, then again I never seen anybody get shot, literally, so I don't know what. I mean you only see what movies happen, reality's totally different, but you know, the way he, he was able to just leave, I, I thought he, he wasn't hit at all.

Velasquez: That's it.

Rossi: Erik, that's basically the extent of my questions. Is there anything else you want to tell me about this incident that either I didn't ask you or you thought of during the interview as we were asking questions?

Sibrian: No.

Rossi: Anything else?

Velasquez: No.

Rossi: Audra, do you have anything?

Call: Uh-uh (NEGATIVE).

Rossi: Then I'm gonna end the audio taped interview. The time is approximately 1150 hours.

SUSPECT INTERVIEW

TENNELL BILLUPS

FREDENDALL: Tennell? Hey, young man, how you feeling, partner? A little better? Hey, Tennell? Tennell?

CLARK: Do you want us to come back, Tennell?

BILLUPS: Uh-uh. No.

FREDENDALL: We're with the Sheriff's Department and we'd like to talk to you about, uh, what happened and got -- get your, uh -- your side of the story about what happened out on, uh, 92nd Street today. We'd like to talk to you. Do you feel up to talking with us tonight?

BILLUPS: (No audible response).

FREDENDALL: Okay. Is that a, yes, sir?

BILLUPS: (No audible response).

FREDENDALL: Okay. Um, today's date is, uh, April 4th, 2011. What time you got, partner?

CLARK: I have 2040 exactly.

FREDENDALL: Okay. 8:40 p.m. We're in room 3105 ICU, St. Francis Medical Center, and we're, uh, present with, uh, Mr. Tennell Billups. Is that your true name, sir? Mr. Billups, is that your true name?

BILLUPS: (No audible response.)

FREDENDALL: Okay. Is it -- Are you able to talk at all?

BILLUPS: A little bit.

FREDENDALL: I'm sorry?

BILLUPS: A little bit.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: If you don't feel like talking, we can always come back.

FREDENDALL: Hey, Tennell, uh, what -- what is birth date, sir?

BILLUPS: 4/2/79.

FREDENDALL: 4. Okay. You were born in April of 1979?

BILLUPS: (No audible response).

FREDENDALL: Okay. All right. Tennell, before we talk to you, it's important that you understand what, uh -- what your rights are. Do you -- Do you understand? You have the right to remain silent. Do you understand that, sir?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Anything you say may be used against you in court. Do you understand that?

BILLUPS: (No audible response.)

FREDENDALL: I'm sorry? Tennell?

CLARK: Might be, might be better if we come back at another time.

FREDENDALL: Yeah.

CLARK: (Indiscernible).

BILLUPS: I hear you.

CLARK: Here -- Here's the thing, Tennell, we -- we have to ask you questions and we have to have some type of verbal response. If you're not feeling up to it, just say it and we'll -- we'll leave and come back.

BILLUPS: Yeah.

CLARK: But we hope we can get this done, if you feel up to it. If not, let us know so we can --

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: Yes, you want to get this done today?

BILLUPS: (No audible response.)

CLARK: All right. Then you're going to have to answer us yes or no, okay? It's real simple. We'll ask you a question. Then answer yes or no.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Tennell, anything you say may be used against you in court. Do you understand that?

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

FREDENDALL: Okay. You have a right to an attorney during questioning. Do you understand? Yes or no, sir?

BILLUPS: Yeah.

FREDENDALL: Okay. If you cannot afford an attorney, one will be appointed, uh, for you before any questioning. Do you understand? Is that a yes, sir?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Sir, with those rights in mind, do you wish to, uh, talk to us tonight about what, uh, happened earlier -- earlier today?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: I'm sorry?

BILLUPS: I was (indiscernible).

CLARK: But first you have to answer the question. Do you want to talk to us?

BILLUPS: (Indiscernible).

CLARK: Do you want to -- He said no?

FREDENDALL: No. He didn't say that. He just -- that's difficult to understand him and --

CLARK: How about -- How about --

FREDENDALL: -- it might be --

CLARK: this, why don't we just come back later, okay, when you're feeling better, all right, because it's not clear to me what you're saying right now, and I want to make sure -- I want to make sure when -- when you talk to me you're clear and your understanding about what we're talking about, okay?

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

CLARK: Okay. We're going to stop this.

FREDENDALL: Yeah. Tennell, just get --

CLARK: We'll come back later.

FREDENDALL: -- some rest. We'll -- We'll come back. We're going to, uh -- We're going to go off the record again. It's April 4th, 2011, and I have 8:48 p.m. and we'll be off tape.

CLARK: All right. Watch is fast.

SUSPECT FOLLOW-UP INTERVIEW

TENNELL BILLUPS

FREDENDALL: How you feeling? Better?

BILLUPS: A little bit.

FREDENDALL: A little bit. Okay. Hey, Tennell, my name is, uh, Sergeant Fredendall. This is my partner Sergeant Clark. We're with the Sheriff's Department, and, uh, we came down here today and wanted to see how you were feeling. Do you remember, uh, seeing us here last night?

CLARK: Well, you were kind out of it last night when we talked to you. Are you hurting right now?

BILLUPS: Just a little bit.

FREDENDALL: A little bit. Okay.

BILLUPS: After being shot at and got a couple block, bitten by a dog.

FREDENDALL: I know. I hear you.

CLARK: That's what we're here to talk to you about to, uh, get your side of what happened, all right?

FREDENDALL: And today is April 5th, 2011, at 12:11 p.m. We're in room 3505 with, uh, Tennell Billups. Is that your true name, sir?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Is there any way to, uh, turn the -- turn the volume down on that?

BILLUPS: Yeah.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

BILLUPS: There's a control. It's a gray box or the red --

CLARK: Is that --

BILLUPS: -- in there. See it? It should be back there somewhere.

FREDENDALL: Are you laying on it or anything?

BILLUPS: That's the TV.

FREDENDALL: Oh, okay.

BILLUPS: It's hanging up on something.

FREDENDALL: Oh, okay.

FREDENDALL: Oh, here we go.

BILLUPS: On the side.

FREDENDALL: There we go.

CLARK: You're going to cough? Go ahead.

BILLUPS: Lift the bed up or I'm going to choke.

CLARK: You want it up? Hang on. Hang on. Hang on. Is this it?

BILLUPS: Uh-uh (Affirmative).

CLARK: This is it? (Indiscernible).

FREDENDALL: Let me know when? All right. You okay?

CLARK: You good? All right.

BILLUPS: Yeah. Oh, God.

CLARK: All right. We're going to make this quick because we know you're not feeling very well, so.

FREDENDALL: Tennell, like my partner said, uh, um, we're here to talk to you about the, uh -- about the situation yesterday when -- when you were shot and you were bitten by a dog. Okay. But, uh, it's important that you understand what your Miranda rights are before we talk to you, okay? Uh, you have the right to remain silent. Do you understand that, sir?

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

FREDENDALL: I'm sorry?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Uh, anything you say may be used against you in court. Do you understand that?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. You have a right to an attorney during questioning. Do you understand?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. If you cannot afford an attorney, one will be appointed for you before any questioning. Do you understand that?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. So with those rights in mind, uh, do you wish to talk us and give us your side of the story as to what happened yesterday?

BILLUPS: I was scared.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: What happened?

BILLUPS: I was coming from somewhere, and my car broke down and I was walking. When I got to, I don't know, 92nd or something. I had on a lot of blue, so the guys pulled up. So when I ran across them, I went or something. I had, um -- I think they said something.

CLARK: Some guys on the street?

BILLUPS: I jumped the gate.

CLARK: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

BILLUPS: I -- I -- I ran down a side street and I hopped a gate, and I stayed there for at least 20 minutes because the car kept coming past, so I was just waiting and waiting. And then I hopped in another yard to go out to come down the street to come out on the next block to -- to -- to leave far away from them. And when I came out, the police was right there. They said, "Hey, you, freeze." And when they -- They just started shooting, man. "He's got a gun." I said, "I ain't got no gun. I don't have a gun." And they started shooting, so I started running back. I jumped back over that gate.

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

BILLUPS: I said, "Hey, man, you --" And like he's shooting at me, so these guys are coming out the car just running towards me shooting.

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

BILLUPS: I'm like, "Wow, man, what -- what's going on?" So I ran around the back the house. There's another officer right there and he starts shooting at me.

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

BILLUPS: I'm like, "Man, you're trying to kill me." And then he shot me. I said, "Ah, you -- you shot me." He said, "I'm going to shoot you again, motherfucker." I'm like, "Man, why did you all --" So all I could is like -- I've been shot before.. All I do is run. I'm trying to -- I don't want to die.

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

BILLUPS: So I just was running, man, running, and running. And then they came and was talking about they going to shoot me again, and I was just scared, man. I didn't want to -- And, man, they shot and stuff.

CLARK: What kind of car were you driving in?

BILLUPS: I was driving a truck.

CLARK: Do you know where you left it?

BILLUPS: It was -- Uh-uh (Negative).

CLARK: What color was it?

BILLUPS: It was white.

CLARK: Is it your truck or was it somebody else's.

BILLUPS: It was mine.

CLARK: Is it registered to you?

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

CLARK: All right. You want us to try to look for it to see if we can find it for you?

BILLUPS: Well, I talked to my --

FREDENDALL: Uh-huh.

BILLUPS: -- girl. She said they got it.

CLARK: Oh, she did?

BILLUPS: Uh-huh.

CLARK: What's your girl's name?

BILLUPS: Uh --

CLARK: If you don't want to put her in here that's fine. You don't have to tell us her name.

BILLUPS: Yeah.

CLARK: All right. Not a problem.

FREDENDALL: Okay. You say you were dressed in all blue clothing?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Can you describe the, uh, clothing you were wearing yesterday?

BILLUPS: Just a blue. That color over there.

CLARK: What -- What kind of shirt did you have?

BILLUPS: A blue shirt.

CLARK: No. I know a blue shirt, but I mean was it pullover, was it hoodie, was it a sweat top?

BILLUPS: It was a shirt.

CLARK: Just a shirt. Anything different about that shirt? I mean just a T-shirt or was it a dress shirt?

BILLUPS: Just a dress shirt.

CLARK: A dress shirt.

BILLUPS: Well, a T-shirt with something wrote on it.

CLARK: Oh, okay. Uh, what happened with that shirt?

BILLUPS: I don't know.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

FREDENDALL: Were you wearing pants or shorts?

BILLUPS: Shorts. No. Pants.

FREDENDALL: Pants? What kind of -- What color pants, Tennell?

BILLUPS: I think blue.

FREDENDALL: Blue? Okay. Did you have, uh -- Were you wearing shoes?

BILLUPS: Yeah, I was.

FREDENDALL: What kind of shoes were you wearing? Do you remember what color?

BILLUPS: Gray.

FREDENDALL: Gray. Were they, uh, sneakers or --

BILLUPS: Sneakers.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Were they Reebok, Adidas, Nike, do you know if you know?

BILLUPS: Adidas.

FREDENDALL: Okay. All right. And do you remember what street you were on when these guys, uh, pulled up and started, uh, sweating you?

BILLUPS: I was on Avalon.

FREDENDALL: On Avalon?

CLARK: And what? About 90 something and Avalon you think?

BILLUPS: Um, yeah.

CLARK: Do you know what street you were on? Avalon --

BILLUPS: I was trying to make it from my sister's house.

CLARK: Uh-huh. Um, what kind of car were these guys in? Can you describe that car?

BILLUPS: It was a, uh, Impala.

CLARK: Do you know what color it was?

BILLUPS: Gray Impala.

CLARK: Were these black guys or Mexicans?

BILLUPS: Um, black. They started, "What's up, Blood?" And I looked surprised like, fuck, man, or whatever get this shit on.

CLARK: Are you in a gang?

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: What -- What are you from?

BILLUPS: I'm from Santana Block.

CLARK: Uh-huh. So if you're from Santana Block, and you're wearing blue and somebody calls you a Blood, what does that mean to you?

BILLUPS: They're trying to start a problem.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: So I already knew I'm in the wrong place. I'm like, "Shit." So I just took off.

FREDENDALL: Hey, Tennell, educate me. Uh, Santana Block is that Crip or Blood?

BILLUPS: Crip.

FREDENDALL: Crip. Okay. Because we don't mess, uh, with -- with gangs too much, so I'm just curious. And were these guys, uh, Bloods or were they Crips that jammed you?

BILLUPS: They was Bloods.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Well, were they --

BILLUPS: I've been shot 11 times so --

CLARK: You've been shot or shot at?

BILLUPS: I've been shot 11 times.

CLARK: Oh. Wow.

BILLUPS: So I'm like as soon as I see a gun and you can even just brandish it, I'm going to be gone --

CLARK: All right.

BILLUPS: -- you know, so.

FREDENDALL: Tennell, let's go back to, uh, when you were, uh -- as you say, you were running from these guys and you came down a driveway. Um, when you first saw the deputy sheriffs, were they dressed in tan and green?

BILLUPS: Tan and green?

FREDENDALL: Were they wearing a uniform?

CLARK: Did you -- Did you know they were cops?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: You didn't? Well, what did they look like to you?

BILLUPS: I could see them over the car. Like, "Come here." He said, "Come here." And I seen the gun, so I'm like -- I don't know if this is the guys or not.

CLARK: Yeah.

BILLUPS: So I just -- It just happened so fast I was thinking like that's them. So right when I did like that, he just started shooting.

CLARK: And when say did like that, you're like leaning toward me like you were turning away from them?

BILLUPS: I was turning. Yeah, like oh.

CLARK: Oh, okay.

BILLUPS: And it was like, you know, I seen the gun, so I was like --

CLARK: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

BILLUPS: -- like turned back behind inside the house.

CLARK: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

BILLUPS: And they just start shooting down through there.

FREDENDALL: What kind of car were they by when you saw them?

BILLUPS: Huh?

FREDENDALL: What kind of car?

BILLUPS: A truck.

FREDENDALL: A truck. Okay. Did you see --

BILLUPS: In a driveway.

FREDENDALL: -- a police car out there?

BILLUPS: I didn't see no police.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And you never saw policemen in uniform out there?

BILLUPS: After -- After they shot me.

FREDENDALL: Okay. I don't know --

CLARK: Here's what we're trying to understand.

BILLUPS: After they shot me, I seen the police

CLARK: But, did the police shoot you or did somebody else shoot you?

BILLUPS: I don't know who shot me.

CLARK: Okay. Don't know who shot.

BILLUPS: But the police was shooting at me --

CLARK: I got you. I got you.

BILLUPS: -- because they said that I was shooting at them. How am I going to shoot at the police and --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

BILLUPS: -- I don't even got no gun.

CLARK: All right.

FREDENDALL: Tennell, when you first, uh -- when you first saw these guys out there and they had guns, what did they say to you when this thing -- when this first started?

BILLUPS: "Come out from -- Come out. Come from behind there. Come out."

FREDENDALL: What else did they say?

BILLUPS: Just screaming, "Come out. Let me see your fucking hands." I'm like, "Damn." So when I peeked -- when I turned out, this is -- I'm trying to see. It sounded like it's the police, so --

FREDENDALL: That's okay. Relax.

CLARK: Take your time.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

BILLUPS: When I peeked out around there, just that's when they started shooting, sir.

FREDENDALL: Was there -- Was there a female or a woman there at the time?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Do you know who that woman was?

BILLUPS: I said, "Ma'am, these people are trying to do something to me." And she said, "Just -- Just stay right here." And then they started shooting. They could have shot her.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Um, did you run after you got shot at or did you run before you got shot at?

BILLUPS: I was shot --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

BILLUPS: -- already when I started running because --

FREDENDALL: Was the girl there when they first started shooting at you?

BILLUPS: I don't know.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Now when you ran, did you start running towards Central or did you start running, uh, um, the other way?

CLARK: I think the first street would have been Hoover.

FREDENDALL: Yeah. So if you're -- if you're facing the policemen and I'm looking north, did you run to your right or did you run to your left when they started shooting at you?

BILLUPS: I don't remember, sir.

FREDENDALL: Okay. That's all right.

BILLUPS: I just was trying to stay alive.

FREDENDALL: I understand. So you ran. Once you ran initially, you -- you went through, uh, um, some backyards or --

BILLUPS: (No audible response).

FREDENDALL: Okay. Now was there another situation where there were shots fired?

BILLUPS: I don't know.

CLARK: How many times were shot at?

BILLUPS: Like 16 times.

CLARK: Sixteen times?

FREDENDALL: Okay.

BILLUPS: I know and -- I know. I'm counting.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

BILLUPS: It was like about 16 times.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Did, uh --

BILLUPS: That's why I was running around like I'm -- like I even got -- like just trying to kill me.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

BILLUPS: And I ain't even did nothing.

FREDENDALL: Right.

BILLUPS: I'm just trying to get away from some people.

CLARK: All right.

BILLUPS: And they're trying to kill me.

FREDENDALL: What were you -- What did you do the second time that the, uh, officers or the people with guns shot at you? What were you doing?

BILLUPS: I -- I laid down on the ground when I seen it was police because there was one that came over the gate. And I looked up and he said, "Don't move." I said, "Man, I'm not moving. I'm shot, man." And he said -- But I -- But I got to move because I'm hurting, so I -- I started going like this, like, "Oh, man, I'm shot." And he starts shooting again.

FREDENDALL: When you were on the ground?

BILLUPS: When he was -- When I was the ground, he started shooting again.

CLARK: Now these the police --

BILLUPS: He says, "You got a gun." I said, "I don't got no gun, sir. Stop shooting at me, please."

FREDENDALL: It's okay. Sir --

BILLUPS: Then he threw a dog over the gate, and he said, "You want to --" I said, "I'm not -- I'm shot, sir. I can't do nothing. I just want to -- Can you all help me?" And then he threw the dog -- let the dogs out on me, and the dog dragged me for two blocks, man.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: Tennell, did, uh, these guys that you -- cops that did that were they wearing army uniforms or were they wearing police uniforms?

BILLUPS: Police uniforms.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: Tennell, at any time, did you have a gun?

BILLUPS: No, sir.

CLARK: Did you -- Did you go into anybody's house trying to hide from somebody?

BILLUPS: I would -- I would hide from the police.

CLARK: No, no. Did you go inside someone's house when you running from anybody? The guys that were --

BILLUPS: That's what they got me from.

CLARK: Got -- Okay. Let me back up.

BILLUPS: I ran in somebody's garage.

CLARK: Okay. You ran in somebody's garage.

BILLUPS: I was shot already.

CLARK: All right. You're already shot. Before that -- Before that – Before they first -- When the car -- When you say you were driving and these guys when the Impala was after you --

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

CLARK: -- did you run -- and you parked your car, did you run into somebody's house from that point?

BILLUPS: No. I ran up the street and then --

CLARK: You ran up the street?

BILLUPS: -- they were still coming, so I hopped in the yard --

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: -- and trying to get out of their view.

CLARK: And where were you hiding when you were trying to get out their view in that yard if you remember?

BILLUPS: It was -- I don't know. It was in the back. I tried to hurry up and get out because there was a dog in there.

CLARK: And when did you kind of --

BILLUPS: So I hopped over in the next yard.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: And then that's when the officers was right -- or whoever it was. I thought it was the people.

CLARK: When did you run from the lady that you told was trying -- somebody was trying to hurt you.

BILLUPS: I -- I ran --

CLARK: Was it the first yard or the second yard?

BILLUPS: I don't remember. It's the third yard.

CLARK: The third yard? So you went into three yards?

BILLUPS: Off a corner, yeah, to come --

CLARK: Off a corner?

BILLUPS: -- jump down. Yeah.

FREDENDALL: But --

BILLUPS: Well, I ran through a front yard, and then just -- and jumped over and in that yard with the dog. And I said, "Oh, shit," and I jumped over in the other yard.

CLARK: Um, why --

BILLUPS: People was still shooting at me.

CLARK: Okay. Hold on. This is what we're trying to find out so we -- so we know what happened out there. Uh, did you talk to anybody and tell them that somebody was after you?

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: Who did you talk to?

BILLUPS: I told the lady.

CLARK: Told the lady. Do you remember what you told the lady?

BILLUPS: I said, "They after me. They shooting at me."

CLARK: And what did she say?

BILLUPS: She said, "Oh, uh, hide."

CLARK: And did you hide?

BILLUPS: I hid.

CLARK: Where did you go?

BILLUPS: In her yard.

CLARK: Okay. And do you know what she did?

BILLUPS: She -- She's in there smoking a cigarette.

CLARK: She just kept smoking a cigarette? Was she black or Mexican?

BILLUPS: She was white.

CLARK: She was a white lady. Okay. Did she speak English?

BILLUPS: Yeah.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: Was she out there with her pet or her dog or -- Did the guys that were looking for you did they -- do you recall them asking if they -- asking the girl if they knew who you were -- if she knew who you were?

BILLUPS: I don't know.

FREDENDALL: Okay. So from the time that you were standing with the female when this thing first started to the time that you were captured, you didn't possess or have in your possession or your hand a gun?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: At no time?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: Okay. When you --

BILLUPS: I was running like this. When they started shooting, I was running with my fist balled up.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

BILLUPS: And I remember because I flipped. When the bullet -- When the bullet hit me, it made me flip.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

BILLUPS: So I flipped and I said, "Oh, they shot me." And I fell on the ground, he said, "I'm going to shoot again." And I said, "Man, why you all trying to kill me, man?" And he kept shooting. He kept shooting, so I ran. I'm running.

CLARK: And where were you when you --

BILLUPS: I'm running for my life.

CLARK: Tennell, where were you when you got hit?

BILLUPS: In the street.

CLARK: I'm sorry. Where did you get hit at on your body? Where did you get shot at?

BILLUPS: My back.

CLARK: In your back?

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: And in my back legs --

CLARK: In the back of your legs.

BILLUPS: -- while I was running.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: Um --

BILLUPS: I didn't even have a gun. I had my back to you running. Why would they --

FREDENDALL: When you got shot, did you know it was the police?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: You didn't know it was the police?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And when you were hiding in the garage, did you know the police were outside?

BILLUPS: I heard the police then.

FREDENDALL: What did they say?

BILLUPS: They said, "Come out. We know somebody's in there. Come out." But I was shot. I'm shot on the ground. They already been shooting at me. I'm scared.

FREDENDALL: Did you -- And you --

BILLUPS: I'm thinking they going to -- They -- They was yelling it, "We're going to shoot. We're going to shoot it up." I'm like, "Shoot it up." I ain't -- I'm laying on the ground in there like, "Oh, God."

FREDENDALL: Tennell, when they asked -- when they said that to come out and we know that you're in there, do they say what department that they were from?

BILLUPS: No. They just kept saying --

FREDENDALL: Didn't say police or sheriffs?

BILLUPS: -- just, "Come on out." They were speaking in Spanish most of the time. All I heard was like Spanish talking and then I heard like, "Come out or we're going to start shooting again." That's all I kept hearing. I'm like, man, I don't -- I'm almost in here dying --

FREDENDALL: Okay.

BILLUPS: -- because I was in there like shaking, actually do --

FREDENDALL: Okay. Tennell, do you have any -- aside from your -- your injuries you got yesterday, do you have any medical problems at all?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: What kind of medical problems do you have?

BILLUPS: Just like I'm [redacted].

CLARK: Diagnosed?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Have you, uh -- Do you take medication for that? Do you know the name of the medication you take?

BILLUPS: Uh-uh (Negative).

FREDENDALL: Okay. Did you take medication for, uh, [redacted] when you were in prison or when you were outside jail?

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

FREDENDALL: I'm sorry?

CLARK: Which one?

BILLUPS: Both?

CLARK: When you were in prison.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Have you been taking your medication?

BILLUPS: I've -- I've been taking it but like the last couple of weeks I haven't been taking it.

FREDENDALL: Okay. All right.

CLARK: Did you, uh -- Did you, uh, have any conversations or did you talk to anybody on the telephone or do you have a cell phone?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: You don't have a cell phone?

BILLUPS: I have a cell phone but I don't know where it is.

CLARK: Did -- Did you have it with you yesterday?

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: Do you know where it would be?

BILLUPS: They took everything from me.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: The officers.

CLARK: Did you, uh -- When you -- When you were being chased, did you have your cell phone with you?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: The reason why I'm asking is I was going to ask why didn't you dial 911 to get some help?

BILLUPS: I don't know. I never thought about -- about calling 911 in a situation like that. Then when I did try to call somebody, I didn't know where my phone was.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: Like, I didn't have my phone.

CLARK: Do you -- Do you remember when you last saw your telephone if you had it with you before or did you lose it when you ran or what?

BILLUPS: (No audible response).

CLARK: What kind of telephone is it?

BILLUPS: It's a black one, BlackBerry, or something.

CLARK: A BlackBerry. Okay. Is it your phone or a friend's phone or --

BILLUPS: It's my phone.

CLARK: Is it a Boost Mobile phone or the -- the, uh --

BILLUPS: Boost -- Boost Mobile.

CLARK: It's a Boost Mobile. All right. Do you pay your bill monthly or do you, uh, just pay it to keep -- when you need time on it?

BILLUPS: Pay it per minute.

CLARK: Per minute. Okay.

FREDENDALL: Do you text on that?

BILLUPS: (No audible response).

FREDENDALL: Do you have a girl?

CLARK: Is that -- Is that a no or yeah?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: No. Okay.

FREDENDALL: Do you have a girlfriend? She's a nurse at [redacted]

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative)

FREDENDALL: Okay. Did you call her or text her yesterday?

BILLUPS: I called, yeah.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: From your phone?

BILLUPS: (No audible response).

CLARK: Where were you when you called her?

BILLUPS: I was, uh, at the store.

CLARK: At the store. Okay.

FREDENDALL: Did you call her --

BILLUPS: She texted me. She texted me.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: Did you text her at any time yesterday, Tennell?

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

FREDENDALL: Did you talk to her or text her after these people were chasing you and you got shot?

CLARK: Is that a yes?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Do you remember what you said to her when you talked to her?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: Do you remember what you texted to her?

BILLUPS: I don't.

FREDENDALL: Were you by yourself yesterday?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: And where do you live in relation to where these guys were chasing you yesterday?

BILLUPS: Avalon and 83rd.

CLARK: Do you live by yourself or with your parents?

BILLUPS: Well, I live with my mom.

CLARK: Okay. Do you have any brothers and sisters?

BILLUPS: A sister.

CLARK: Older or younger?

BILLUPS: She's older.

FREDENDALL: Do you own a black 2000, uh, Cadillac Escalade?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: Is it -- Do you own a white 2000 --

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative)

CLARK: Is that a yes?

FREDENDALL: -- Cadillac Escalade? Okay.

CLARK: Is that a yes?

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

FREDENDALL: Okay. All right.

CLARK: And your white Escalade is what you left to get away from these guys that were chasing you? Is that a yes?

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: Do you remember exactly where you parked it or what street you were on when you parked it, Tennell?

BILLUPS: Avalon.

CLARK: You were on Avalon. Okay. And from Avalon, where did you go after you parked it? How far did you go away from your car to get away from these guys?

BILLUPS: I wasn't that far.

CLARK: In the same city block? Is that a yes?

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: Was your car broke down?

BILLUPS: Yeah.

FREDENDALL: What was wrong with it?

BILLUPS: Uh, it'd just be like -- I had just got some stuff done to it, and it ain't -- it ain't working right.

FREDENDALL: It wouldn't start? It wouldn't stay -- stay running? It was like --

BILLUPS: It like it stalls out.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Okay. Tennell, the, uh -- well, let me ask you this, your statement is to us that yesterday you did not have a handgun on your person; is that correct? I can't hear you.

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. And is your statement that no time yesterday did you posses or hold a firearm in your right or left hand; is that correct?

CLARK: Is that a yes or no?

BILLUPS: Never.

CLARK: So no.

FREDENDALL: And is it your statement that you never went in -- went into anybody's house yesterday other than the --

BILLUPS: (Indiscernible).

FREDENDALL: -- garage to hide?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Um, a couple --

CLARK: And -- Go ahead.

FREDENDALL: -- a couple doors down from where --

FEMALE: May I come in or should I just wait?

FREDENDALL: Oh, sure you can come in. We don't want to --

FEMALE: Okay.

FREDENDALL: -- hold you back from doing what you got to do.

FEMALE: Thank you.

FREDENDALL: Not problem.

CLARK: We'll keep talking while your nurse is here if that's okay with you. Uh, now is there any reason why one of the people in the neighborhood where you were found would tell us that they saw you coming out of their neighbor's house?

BILLUPS: Say what?

CLARK: Is there a reason why someone in the neighborhood where you were found would tell law enforcement, us, that they saw you coming out of their neighbor's house?

BILLUPS: I don't know. I was -- I came out a lot -- I came out a lot of yards because I was running.

FREDENDALL: Specifically, uh, Tennell, there's a, uh, side yard at a house just a few houses away from where you were contacted in the garage. The screen, uh, was pulled -- was pulled and the, uh -- and the door was open.

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

FREDENDALL: Okay. Your shoes that you had on yesterday we took them, and we took them out to the scene and we matched where the shoe prints were at the scene. I'm not sweating you. It's just, uh, you know, every man's got to do what he's got to do, and -- and whether it be financial hardship, alcohol, drug abuse, um, stress, financial issues, I don't know, but everybody had -- everybody -- we're not passing judgment. People do things out of necessity, so I'm not sweating you, but -- but we need to know, uh, uh, why, uh -- why you were out there doing what you had to do yesterday.

BILLUPS: I wasn't doing nothing.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: While you're out there doing anything, did you go into anyone's house? Did you break into anybody's house, Tennell? That's the question we're asking --

BILLUPS: No, sir.

CLARK: -- straight out.

BILLUPS: No, sir.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: Okay. If your footprint or if fingerprints were found in someone's house and a person in that neighborhood told us that they saw you in that house, can you explain how that could be? Is that a no or yes?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: All right.

BILLUPS: I was running. That's all I was doing. I was running.

CLARK: Okay. And you were running --

BILLUPS: They might have seen me running -- running or something, but other than that --

CLARK: In your running, are you absolutely sure that you did not go inside somebody's house to hide to get away?

BILLUPS: I did it a couple times.

CLARK: Did what a couple times?

BILLUPS: Go into people's yards.

CLARK: Okay. But did you go into anyone's house to -- to hide to get away?

BILLUPS: I don't recall.

CLARK: You don't recall.

BILLUPS: I was shot, nervous and was running.

CLARK: Okay. To help you remember if you do, this would be before you got shot. Does it help your memory any? Is that a yes or no?

BILLUPS: I don't know.

CLARK: You don't know? Okay. You don't know if, uh, what happened, um, occurred when I said it happened before you got shot, or you don't know if what I just told you occurred?

BILLUPS: What?

FEMALE: I'm going to (indiscernible).

CLARK: Does that make sense to you?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: All right.

FEMALE: Can you bring the paper over there?

FREDENDALL: Are you saying that you did not break into anybody's house or are you telling me that you don't remember if you broke into somebody's house?

BILLUPS: I don't - I'm -- I don't really recall. I don't -- I'm telling you guys I'm running for my life.

CLARK: That we understand.

BILLUPS: Oh.

CLARK: And that's why I'm asking you is it possible that you kicked someone's door in and ran inside the house?

BILLUPS: Maybe. I don't know. I was scared. I was trying to hide anywhere.

CLARK: I know that, and -- and that's what I'm trying to see through your eyes, Tennell. That's all, so we can understand why people in that neighborhood are telling us that they saw you inside someone's house.

BILLUPS: Because I was running.

CLARK: That -- That you made to clear to me, man. I totally understand that. But the question I have is when you were running, did you go inside someone's house to hide or did you hide outside someone's house?

I'm not talking about when you went inside the garage. Before you got shot is what I'm talking about.

BILLUPS: No, sir.

CLARK: I understand it was like --.

BILLUPS: It was just so -- I don't -- I don't know, sir. There was so much going on.

CLARK: Is it possible that you did and you don't remember?

BILLUPS: I don't know. I -- I got a lot of stuff going in my head because I've been traumatized, you know, shot up and stuff, so I don't know. I --

CLARK: I understand that.

BILLUPS: My mind goes -- It's like I'm like in the -- it's like my mind just goes blank especially, you know, and I think I'm trying to save my life. I think I'm going to die, so I just don't think straight.

FEMALE: Did you lock it? (Indiscernible).

BILLUPS: If maybe somebody was chasing you all and shooting at you all, you all couldn't (indiscernible).

FREDENDALL: Tennell, let me ask you, witnesses out there told us, uh, you had a gun. Why would they tell us you had a gun if you say you didn't then?

BILLUPS: I didn't have a gun, sir.

FREDENDALL: Uh, we recovered a gun.

BILLUPS: I don't know how you recovered a gun. And it was fired?

FREDENDALL: What do you mean?

BILLUPS: Cause he said I shot at him.

CLARK: No. Who said -- What said that?

FREDENDALL: Who said that?

BILLUPS: The officer.

CLARK: Which officer told you that?

BILLUPS: I don't know. There was so many of them. I said, "Why you all shooting at me?"

CLARK: (Indiscernible).

BILLUPS: I finally said, "Why did you shoot me, sir?" He said, "You shot at me."

CLARK: Help me understand this. Are you talking about yesterday and not today?

BILLUPS: Yesterday.

CLARK: Okay. That makes sense to me now. Yesterday someone told you -- one of the officers told you that you shot at them and that's why they shot at you?

BILLUPS: Yeah.

CLARK: And you're saying you never shot a gun?

BILLUPS: I never shot a gun.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: They even did forensics on my hand I think and checked for gunpowder.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: And you're saying that you didn't shot at the police?

BILLUPS: No. Oh, that's crazy.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

BILLUPS: You know what, that -- that's crazy. Why would I shoot at the police and not know they go to target practice and stuff.

CLARK: No. That -- That -- That's totally -- And that's why we're here to find out what happened?

BILLUPS: I'd be knowing I'm going die if I did that.

CLARK: Okay. Well, let me -- Let's -- Let's take a -- Let's just back up from the shooting. Okay. Let's go back again before the shooting. Do you remember if you were inside someone's house? That's important because, uh, it was reported to us that you were inside someone's house. And if so, um, maybe helping us understand how you ended up getting in there --

FEMALE: I'm sorry. (Indiscernible).

CLARK: Okay. Maybe that would help us understand a little bit more how that -- how someone could say they saw you going inside their house.

BILLUPS: I don't see how they'd say that.

CLARK: You don't. Okay.

FEMALE: Okay.

BILLUPS: They might say they seen me running or something because a lot of people seen me running.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: "Go that way." They said, "Go that way," or, "Go this way."

CLARK: And if I understand this correctly and let me see if I got this, from what you can remember, Tennell, you went into three different yards; is that correct?

BILLUPS: Three different yards.

CLARK: Okay. And were all three of these yards on the same block?

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: And were all three of these yards next to each other?

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: And at any time in those three yards had you went -- did you go into any of those three houses --

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: -- other than the garage where you were in and ultimately got arrested?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: No? Okay.

FREDENDALL: Tennel, when did you realize that the -- it was the police that shot you?

BILLUPS: When I -- When I was in the side and he came over and he looked over the gate because I was laying down there like, "Fuck. I'm fucking shot. They're shooting at me."

FREDENDALL: Was -- Was that by the garage --

BILLUPS: In that little thing.

FREDENDALL: -- where you were hiding?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

BILLUPS: It was the one they found me at. Yeah, I was in that yard.

FREDENDALL: I understand.

BILLUPS: I'm like this and -- and I look and he's like, "Oh, I'm going to shoot again," so like I just rolled over and tried to run some more but I can't really run because I'm shot.

FREDENDALL: If it's --

BILLUPS: I'm shot.

FREDENDALL: If it's the police who shot you and the police that were trying to contact you, why -- why did you run so hard from the police?

BILLUPS: At first, I didn't know it was them.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

BILLUPS: Then when they shot me, they still was shooting me.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: Okay. Hold -- Hold on for a second.

BILLUPS: But I'm going to stay down and --

CLARK: Tennell, help me.

BILLUPS: -- "He's got a gun." I'm telling him, "I don't got a gun." I'm shot. I can't scream out. I'm trying to tell him, "I don't got a gun," and this and that and, oh, they just started shooting at me.

CLARK: That I understand.

BILLUPS: (Indiscernible).

CLARK: But all I'm trying to understand is how many times do you think you were shot at?

BILLUPS: Sixteen times.

CLARK: Sixteen times. All at one shooting or --

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: -- different places?

BILLUPS: The first time it was like six times. Then I ran and came out on another street. And I was coming, and they said, "Freeze." And I looked and I was going to stop, and then he starts shooting again. And that's what made me run some more.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: And I'm saying, "Man, I'm shot."

FREDENDALL: Each time that you, uh, saw a person with a gun, was it the same person that was shooting at you?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Was that the only one person that shot at you?

BILLUPS: I don't -- No, because I tried to come out in the alley, and another officer fired some shots.

CLARK: In the alley.

BILLUPS: I'm like, "Damn, they're trying to kill me now." I went from this to this now.

CLARK: During that time, did -- did you ever decide to stop when they tell you to stop?

BILLUPS: Yes. But when I stopped, that's when they started shooting.

FREDENDALL: All right. Um, Tennell, are you on probation or parole for anything?

BILLUPS: I'm on parole.

FREDENDALL: For what, sir?

BILLUPS: For [redacted].

FREDENDALL: Okay. [redacted]?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Uh, you're sure you're not on parole for [redacted]?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: Have you been arrested for, uh, [redacted] before?

BILLUPS: When I was a juvenile.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Who's your parole agent?

BILLUPS: Uh, Figueroa.

FREDENDALL: Martin Figueroa.

BILLUPS: (Indiscernible) Figueroa, yes.

FREDENDALL: Martin Figueroa. Okay. The times -- How many times you been arrested for [redacted]?

BILLUPS: Once.

FREDENDALL: Just once. Was it, uh -- Was it a house? Was it an apartment? Was it a car?

BILLUPS: It was an apartment.

FREDENDALL: An apartment.

CLARK: Is there anything you want to tell us, Tennell, that, uh, anybody you want us to talk to, uh, that could probably help shed light on this? And is that yes or no?

BILLUPS: Nobody really seen nothing.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: All right.

CLARK: So just so we can understand and correct me if I'm -- if I'm wrong, you're saying that you were driving your car and all I need you to answer is yes or no. You were driving your car when you thought you were being followed by some Bloods, correct?

BILLUPS: Uh-uh (Negative).

CLARK: No?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: My car is -- is messing up.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: I stop and I get out and was messing with it --

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: -- trying to see.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: And then I call to see if somebody can come and get -- pick me up --

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: -- or come and, you know, watch my back.

CLARK: Okay. Did you know you were in a Blood neighborhood?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: Okay. And --

BILLUPS: So when I -- I said, "Shit, man. I don't know. This shit is -- I might as well just wait for them to come." And then so I stood there. Then I was -- I was pacing. I was smoking a cigarette pacing, and then the car pulled up.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: And then like, "What's happening?" But you know like he said, um, "Bishop," or something, something and a Blood, though. And I'm like -- And I got all this blue on, so I'm like, "Man," so I kept walking. And it was like they was going to jump out, so I took off. And by the time they start chasing me like, "Fuck you." They were, "Fuck Crips," so I'm running. I'm running and I'm hopping all these gates. For a minute, I stayed hid, you know. And then I start hearing noises and stuff, so I jumped up again and took off again.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: Now I was like trying to work my way to my sister's house. I know she's lives around somewhere. I'm like I need to get to her house.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: And that's when I came out, and then that's when I was coming, and that's when the officer -- well, I didn't know he was an officer at the first.

CLARK: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

BILLUPS: He said, "Stop -- Come over here." And I'm like -- But I did like this like, you know, and then when I went to peek back again and make -- and see who he was, he --

CLARK: Were you peeking --

BILLUPS: -- started shooting.

CLARK: -- around a corner when he said that?

BILLUPS: Yeah.

CLARK: You were peeking? You were peeking?

BILLUPS: No. Uh, when he said, "Hey," and then I peeked around like this.

CLARK: You peeked, here is what I am getting at --

BILLUPS: All I seen was a gun.

CLARK: But he couldn't -- Could he see your body or did he just see your head sticking out?

BILLUPS: He seen my head.

CLARK: Oh, okay.

BILLUPS: And he said, "Come here."

FREDENDALL: Was the girl with you right then?

BILLUPS: Yeah.

FREDENDALL: And you're -- It's amazing the girl didn't shot, huh?

BILLUPS: Yes, I said, uh -- I said, "I don't know, that's the cops out there." And then she said, "Well, you better stay right here." And then I stay right there, and then that's when I -- I --

CLARK: Where does she --

BILLUPS: -- kind of stay right here.

CLARK: Where does she (indiscernible)?

BILLUPS: So when I look back again, he started shooting. She had already ran because I didn't see her.

CLARK: Did she run away from you or toward him?

BILLUPS: I don't know where she .

CLARK: So that first time he shot at you, you peeked around and the cop told you -- Well, you know he's a cop now but then you didn't, correct?

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

CLARK: Okay. The cop told you to, "Come here." You had a small conversation with the lady that was there. She ran and disappeared. And is it true that the second time you looked, the cop shot at you? Is that a yes?

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: All right. And so you ran. Did you run to another yard or did you run west?

BILLUPS: I ran -- ran in another yard.

CLARK: Then what happened next?

BILLUPS: And a cop was coming through here, and he started shooting.

CLARK: Did he say anything to you?

BILLUPS: I was trying to make it to the alley.

CLARK: Did he say anything to you, that cop that shot at --

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: -- you in the other yard?

BILLUPS: He said, "Here he is," and started shooting. And I'm like, "Fuck." I'm like, "Oh, shit," and I ran. I ran back to the front. Then another one --

CLARK: And that -- Did they hit you at that point?

BILLUPS: They had already hit me.

CLARK: The first time?

BILLUPS: Well, I've been shot twice, three times.

CLARK: I know that, but -- Okay. Three times in one shooting or three times in each one --

BILLUPS: Different times.

CLARK: Three different times.

BILLUPS: They see me in the alley. Coming out they start shooting again and shot me again. I said, "Oh, man, they're going to kill me." So now that's why I don't want to come out. I'm like, "Man, they -- they did all this to me. They probably is going to kill me." And I seen where they -- how they be doing people. The cops killed one of my friends because they thought he had a gun.

CLARK: All right.

BILLUPS: They never found no gun.

CLARK: Well, let's talk about you for right now because this is what we're dealing with, all right? So now the second time you see the cops, this time you're by alley or in the alley and they shoot at you again? Is that a yes?

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: Where did you go from there?

BILLUPS: I went back the same way I came in the yards and -- and just stopped right there --

CLARK: Did you go back to the --

BILLUPS: -- because I --

CLARK: -- way you came?

BILLUPS: -- I knew I was shot and I was getting weak and weak and weak.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: And I knew I was like, man, I've been shot before, so I know what's going on. I'm like, man, and then some blood came up from my mouth. I said, "Oh, man, I'm going to die out here."

CLARK: Is that when you went into the garage?

BILLUPS: It's fucking hot and I'm just -- I just crawled in over there to the -- to the garage and I fell and just laid there.

CLARK: When you went in the garage, do you remember a guy coming out of the house looking at you?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: At the garage door? You don't remember that?

BILLUPS: I just, uh, blanked out, man.

FREDENDALL: Tennell, Tennell, you don't remember telling the guy, "Shh," and then going in the garage?

BILLUPS: Uh-uh (Negative).

FREDENDALL: Are you saying you don't remember or you say it didn't happen?

BILLUPS: I don't know. I just -- Shit. I just -- just crawled into that and I was shot already, so I just crawled into that fucking --

CLARK: If I were to tell you --

BILLUPS: -- that door.

CLARK: If I were to tell you that another person, a man, told us that they saw you and when they looked at you, they were close enough for you to put your finger across your lip as if to say be quiet.

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: Did that happen? Is that, no, it did not happen?

BILLUPS: Uh-uh (Affirmative).

CLARK: Okay. And then you went inside the garage, and, uh, were you in there for a long time?

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: And then, uh, did you hear people outside describe themselves to you as a cop?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: Did you hear anybody talking on a loud bullhorn --

BILLUPS: After --

CLARK: -- telling you -

BILLUPS: After two hours, I laid there.

CLARK: Okay. Do you recall anybody putting any type of tear gas or, uh, some type of --

BILLUPS: That's what made me come out.

CLARK: -- foreign substance inside to make you come out?

BILLUPS: They put something in there. I -- I laid there for a minute like, oh, and it made me start really like I was shot so like more blood and stuff was coming out.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: So I -- I crawled out.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: When I crawled out, I was on my -- I got down on my knees and I laid down, and I put my hands behind my back and I said, "Sir, I'm not resisting or nothing. I'm not doing nothing. I'm shot, and I'm -- I just I'm scared and I'm shot." And I remember that officer saying, "Shut the fuck up." Then he shot some more back up in there.

CLARK: Some more what?

BILLUPS: And then they sent the dog in there.

CLARK: Hold on.

BILLUPS: He said, "He's not --" He said, "He's not cooperating."

CLARK: Tennell?

BILLUPS: "He's not cooperating." And that's when some guys --

CLARK: You said he shot some more. Did he shoot some more tear gas?

BILLUPS: I don't know what he shot. I just heard bang, bang, bang, bang, bang, bang.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: And I'm like, "Man, God, I'm -- I'm -- I'm down."

CLARK: Tennell?

BILLUPS: "I'm down you all. Don't you all see I'm down?" Then --

CLARK: Tennell?

BILLUPS: -- they said, "Go get him, boy." And they got a dog over there, and the dog ripped me down the street.

CLARK: Tennell, when you said -- when you said he shot more, were they shooting at you or were they shooting in that (indiscernible)?

BILLUPS: They were shooting at me.

CLARK: Did they hit you when they shot bang, bang --

BILLUPS: No --

CLARK: -- bang, bang, bang?

BILLUPS: -- because I was -- I was squirming.

CLARK: Okay. So you were --

BILLUPS: And then there was a parked car back there.

CLARK: So you're moving out the way.

BILLUPS: They couldn't really see me. They can only see from like peeking?

CLARK: Okay. All right. So at some point, this all stopped.

BILLUPS: It all stopped.

CLARK: Okay. And when did you realize that you were a person that people in that neighborhood said they saw coming out a house? Did anybody ever tell you that sort of (indiscernible) of this?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: This is the first time you heard someone say that you went in someone's home that you weren't -- was not supposed to be in?

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

CLARK: Is that a yes?

BILLUPS: This is the first time.

CLARK: Okay. Have you talked to anybody? And you mentioned earlier that you -- you, uh, did talk to someone on the telephone but you don't know where your lost your telephone; is that correct? Is that yes?

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: And you said you had a Boost Mobile telephone, correct? Is that a yes?

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

CLARK: I can't hear you. Yes?

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: Okay. Yes. All right. And the person that you talked to if you don't want to give us their name, that's fine, but would you tell us who that person is?

BILLUPS: Who is the person that I talked to?

CLARK: Yes, on your telephone.

BILLUPS: It's, uh, [redacted]

CLARK: [redacted] Okay. And was that conversation voice or was it text?

BILLUPS: Voice.

CLARK: Did you ever text [redacted]

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: Did [redacted] ever text you?

BILLUPS: I don't know. I lost my phone.

CLARK: Okay.

BILLUPS: In the process of running, I lost it.

CLARK: Do you know what [redacted] last name would be --

BILLUPS: Uh-uh (Affirmative).

CLARK: -- in case we find somebody turns in a cell phone that's like yours and we can try to figure it out. Is your name inside your telephone?

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

CLARK: Yes. Uh, does your cell phone have any locks or any, uh, combination codes to it? Would -- If we find your phone, would you give us permission to look at your telephone? Is that a yes? I have to hear you say it.

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: And can you tell me what codes would be the correct code if we find your phone to unlock the code to your phone so we can see what you said is true?

BILLUPS: Uh. It's got, uh, you put the key in the hole.

CLARK: Okay. And do -- do what?

BILLUPS: Huh?

CLARK: Put the key in the hole and do what?

BILLUPS: Turn it.

CLARK: Turn it. Okay. What about unlocking your phone so we can look at the messages that you got to make sure it's your phone?

BILLUPS: Oh my phone, you got to look at my phone.

CLARK: Yeah.

BILLUPS: Yeah, just look at it.

CLARK: It's not locked?

BILLUPS: Uh-uh (Negative)

CLARK: It's not locked, correct?

BILLUPS: (No audible response).

CLARK: Okay. And you give us your permission? Is that a yes?

FREDENDALL: Tennell, what's your cell phone number?

CLARK: Hold on, hold on. Is that a yes?

BILLUPS: Yes.

CLARK: Okay. Thank you.

FREDENDALL: I'm sorry. What's your cell number, Tennell?

BILLUPS: I don't know it by heart.

CLARK: What's [redacted] number?

BILLUPS: I don't know it by heart.

CLARK: All right.

BILLUPS: I've been trying to -- I don't know nobody's numbers by --

FREDENDALL: Is --

BILLUPS: -- by heart.

FREDENDALL: Is [redacted] the nurse that works at [redacted]

BILLUPS: Uh-huh (Affirmative).

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: Is that your girl?

BILLUPS: No. It's a friend.

CLARK: Okay. Why, uh -- Why would she show up in that area over there?

BILLUPS: I don't know. Maybe when I told -- I called her and I told her that, um -- She kept calling my phone, so I called her and I told her, "Don't -- Stop calling my phone because, you know."

CLARK: Is this after you got shot?

BILLUPS: Yeah. I told her to, "Stop calling. I'm shot and I don't know what's going to happen me. I'm shot." She's like, "Oh, my God."

CLARK: Did she ask you where you were?

BILLUPS: Uh-uh (Affirmative).

CLARK: Did she tell you she was going to come and try to get you?

BILLUPS: Uh-uh (Negative).

CLARK: Is that a yes or no?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: Did you ask her for help?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: For your --

CLARK: Did you ask her to call the police?

BILLUPS: I don't know. I don't remember.

CLARK: Okay. Is there anything we missed that you want us to know?

FREDENDALL: Tennell, can you tell us where -- where are you living right now?

BILLUPS: 75 -- Wow. [redacted] West Broadway.

FREDENDALL: [redacted] West Broadway?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Is it a house or an apartment?

BILLUPS: Apartment.

FREDENDALL: Number? I'm sorry?

BILLUPS: [redacted] or [redacted] I'm not really -- I'm not sure.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Is that in LA, Los Angeles?

BILLUPS: Yeah, on Broadway.

FREDENDALL: Do you have a telephone or do have a hard-line in your house?

BILLUPS: Uh-uh (Negative).

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: Is that a no?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: You cell phone is the only phone number you have?

BILLUPS: (No audible response).

CLARK: Okay. What about your mom? Is there anybody that wants to talk on your behalf? What's your mom's name?

BILLUPS: My mom just went back to Kansas City today.

CLARK: She did? Does she -- She doesn't live out here?

BILLUPS: She used to. She moved to Kansas City today.

CLARK: Do you live out here?

BILLUPS: Yeah.

CLARK: Okay. And so it's just you and your sister?

BILLUPS: (No audible response).

CLARK: What's your mama's name?

BILLUPS: [redacted].

FREDENDALL: Tennell, is there anything, uh, anything that you can tell us that maybe we didn't ask that might be helpful in our investigation? Anything to say or add whatsoever?

BILLUPS: (Indiscernible).

CLARK: One last question I'm going to ask you, and then you're not going to hear anymore from me right now. You're absolutely 100 percent sure that you do not go inside someone's house? Is that a yes?

BILLUPS: Yes.

FREDENDALL: And it's your statement at no time yesterday before or after you got shot that you never had a handgun in your right or left hand? Is that your statement?

BILLUPS: That's my statement. I never had it.

FREDENDALL: If you did, would tell us?

BILLUPS: If I had a gun in my hand, I would tell you, sir, but I didn't have a gun in my hand and there was no reason to shoot me. Of course, if I had had a gun in my hand, I would say, yeah, I had a gun in my hand. I fear for my life. I didn't know (indiscernible) I was shooting. Hell, yeah, but I didn't. I don't even own a gun.

FREDENDALL: And it's your statement that you never discharged or pointed or -- or fired a gun at --

BILLUPS: They took --

FREDENDALL: -- anybody yesterday?

BILLUPS: They took residue from me --

FREDENDALL: I understand.

BILLUPS: Did you know that?

FREDENDALL: Yes, sir.

BILLUPS: So did it come up?

FREDENDALL: Oh, it's way too early to tell. Okay. Um, it's your statement that you never pointed or fired or attempted to fire a gun at anybody yesterday?

BILLUPS: I don't even know what that was they did to me. That was probably the fucking gunpowder they put on me then.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Tennell

BILLUPS: I don't know.

FREDENDALL: Tennell, look at me.

BILLUPS: It came out of a box. What come out of a box and then they put it on my hands.

CLARK: I don't know. We didn't see it, but, um, they did do tests to see if you had gun -- gunshot residue on your hands. We don't have the results of that yet. It's (indiscernible).

BILLUPS: They took something out of a box, man, and put it all over my hands.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: A white envelope?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: Is it -- Is it --

BILLUPS: A box.

CLARK: -- law enforcement that did that or medical people did that?

BILLUPS: Law enforcement.

CLARK: Okay.

FREDENDALL: Tennell, you -- you didn't answer my question. Is it your statement that yesterday before or after you got shot at no time --

BILLUPS: I didn't have nothing.

FREDENDALL: -- that you had a gun in your hand?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: And is it your statement at no time did you point or turn your body towards anybody with a gun in your hand yesterday?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: That did not happen?

BILLUPS: No.

FREDENDALL: You got anything else, partner?

CLARK: No.

BILLUPS: And -- And as far as you're saying that they found -- they found a gun, so you need to fingerprint that gun.

FREDENDALL: Yea, we will.

CLARK: Did you ever take your shirt off, Tennell?

BILLUPS: No.

CLARK: Not even to get away from the Bloods that were chasing you? Is that a yes?

BILLUPS: No. The police took it.

CLARK: When the police took you to jail, did you have your shirt on?

BILLUPS: Uh-uh (Negative).

CLARK: Is that a no?

BILLUPS: Well, they cut it off.

CLARK: Okay. I'm done.

FREDENDALL: Okay. Tennell, do you have anything, uh, you want to add or say before we, uh, finish up?

BILLUPS: (No audible response).

FREDENDALL: It's, uh, April 5th --

BILLUPS: I just want -- want, uh --

FREDENDALL: Go ahead.

BILLUPS: As far as me, uh, like I want to know who shot me. Can I -- Can I find that out?

CLARK: Yes, you will.

BILLUPS: The officer that shot me?

CLARK: You will.

BILLUPS: Because I was just running, man. I didn't do nothing. I didn't brandish no gun or nothing. If that's what's he's saying, he's a liar and God is going to get him. That's the God's honest truth.

CLARK: My why we are here and you know what --

BILLUPS: I got to sit up in here hurt like this just because he assumes I had a gun and he's going to try to take my life? I gonna deal with him.

CLARK: All right.

BILLUPS: Just like I gonna deal with everybody.

FREDENDALL: Okay.

CLARK: Just relax and we're going to -- we're going to end this, okay. We're going to stop questioning and let you get back to resting.

FREDENDALL: Okay. It's April 5th, 2011, at, uh, 12:58 p.m. and we're off tape.

File #: 011-05058-2176-055

On the indicated date and time, my partner, Deputy Fisk, and I responded to [redacted] Baird Avenue in the Unincorporated area of Los Angeles regarding a prowler call for service (tag-74.) The call's narrative indicated that the informant saw an unknown male Hispanic in her neighbor's backyard. The narrative also indicated the information in the call was received second hand from LAPD.

We arrived at the location and checked the area with the assistance of several uniformed deputy patrol units (Unit 216A: Deputies Larios, #[redacted], and Velasquez, #[redacted]), Unit 216B: Deputies Zamorano, #[redacted], and Oakley, #[redacted], and Unit 217A: Deputies Inzunza, #[redacted] and Sibrian, #[redacted]

During this time, one of the neighbors told Deputies Zamorano and Oakley that she saw an unknown male Hispanic, later identified as S/ Billups, on the doorstep to the residence located at [redacted] 92nd Street. The informant stated S/Billups did not live at the location. It should be noted that S/Billups also matched the suspect's description in the initial call. The suspect was seen exiting a residence located at [redacted] 92nd Street, Los Angeles which he does not live at.

A containment of the area was established. During the containment Deputy Inzunza and Deputy Sibrian saw the suspect in the driveway of [redacted] 92nd Street. At which time, a deputy involved shooting occurred. (See Supplemental Reports for further details.)

A/Watch Commander Sgt. Figueroa #[redacted] was notified of the incident.(See Supplemental Reports for further details.)

REPORT CONTINUATION ... NARRATIVE | URN 911-05067-2176-064

I RESPONDED TO THE AREA OF 92ND ST AND BAIRD AV IN REFERENCE TO A CONTAINMENT OF A SUSPECT WHO SHOT AT CENTURY STATION DEPUTIES (911-05058-2176-055).

DURING THE CONTAINMENT A CALL WAS RECIEVED FROM V/[redacted] WHO LIVES AT [redacted] ZAMORA AV. SHE OBSERVED A LARGE HOLE CUT IN THE SECURITY SCREEN DOOR (D-1) OF THE REAR HOUSE ([redacted]). V/[redacted] DAUGHTER (V/[redacted]) LIVES IN THE HOUSE BUT LEFT FOR WORK AT 0730 HRS.

I CONTACTED V/[redacted] WHO STATED SHE HEARD THE SEB. CALL OUTS. SHE LOOKED OUT HER BEDROOM WINDOW AND SAW THE HOLE BUT AT NO TIME DID SHE SEE ANYONE ENTER OR EXIT THE HOUSE.

I CONTACTED V/[redacted]. WE ENTERED THE RESIDENCE IN AN ATTEMPT TO IDENTIFY MISSING PROPERTY.

REPORT CONTINUATION — NARRATIVE | URN 911-05067-2176-064

V/[redacted]'S BED ROOM HAD BEEN RANSACKED. THE DRESSER DRAWERS HAD BEEN DUMPED ON THE FLOOR. THERE WAS A VIDEO CAMERA ON THE BED AND OTHER VALUABLES IN PLAIN SIGHT THAT WERE NOT TAKEN. SHE STATED THE DOOR (D-1) DID NOT HAVE A HOLE IN IT WHEN SHE LEFT FOR WORK.

V/[redacted] COULD NOT RECOGNIZE IF ANY PROPERTY WAS MISSING. I PROVIDED HER WITH A SUPPLEMENTAL LOSS FORM AND INSTRUCTED HER HOW TO FILL IT OUT.

V/[redacted] POINTED OUT A CRACK IN HER TELEVISION (D-2) SCREEN.

NO OTHER ROOM APPEARED TO BE RANSACKED.

CRIME LAB WAS NOTIFIED.

NARRATIVE

The purpose of this Supplemental Report is to provide additional active information regarding the above file number.

While working 217B, my partner Deputy Rines #[redacted] and I (Dep. Fisk #[redacted]) responded to [redacted] Zamora Avenue, regarding a prowler call received second hand from LAPD. We contained the residence to the rear of the informants location ([redacted] Baird Avenue, Los Angeles) as stated in the call. We did not observe anything out of the ordinary at the location.

As I approached the middle of the east/west alley, Deputy Zamorano #[redacted] informed me the informant told him we were not at the involved location. Deputy Oakley pointed to a [redacted] house ([redacted] 92nd Street, Los Angeles) and stated this was the location where the informant (later identified as W[redacted]) saw the suspect. I took up a containment spot one house to the west of the location in the east/west alley.

I heard one gunshot come from the northeast of my location. I held my containment spot to ensure the suspect did not cross southbound through the alley. A few seconds later, I heard three more gunshots come from the northeast of my location.

Detective Larios #[redacted] shouted that the suspect was jumping fences and was running east bound from the target location. I ran east down the alley way to take a new containment location. As I approached the rear of [redacted] 92nd Street, I observed a Male wearing a dark colored t-shirt and blue short jump the fence going east bound and out of view. I held my location until a containment was setup. During the containment several call outs were made for the suspect to exit the structure, the suspect did not comply.

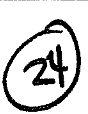

I was relieved by unit 212T4 (Deputy Horsley #[redacted]). I responded to the Command Post and waited for further instructions. Deputy Fernandez #[redacted] and I were instructed to go to [redacted] 92nd Street and evacuate two females that were still inside of the location.

We contacted W/[redacted] and W/[redacted] and evacuated them from the residence. We transported both witnesses to the Command Post.

I interviewed W/[redacted] (FH/[redacted]) while at the Command Post, who told me that she lives at [redacted] E. 92nd Street in the unincorporated area of Los Angeles County.

W/[redacted] stated that on the indicated date and at approximately 0820 hours, she exited her residence to take her pet guinea pig out for some air. W/[redacted] said she looked up and saw a male hispanic (later identified as Tennell Billups MB/04-27-79) wearing a faded royal blue sweatshirt and large denim shorts exiting her neighbors residence. W/[redacted] said she had never seen him before, but knew he did not belong there.

W/[redacted] stated the suspect made eye contact with her and jumped over the fence between the residences and rushed up in front of her and asked "do you have a joint". W/[redacted] said she told the suspect "No, I don't do that". W/[redacted] stated she believed the suspect was asking her for Marijuana. W/[redacted] said she was really scared and turned and began to walk N/B out of the backyard. W/[redacted] said she could feel the suspect walking behind her and was afraid to turn and look. As she approached the front of the residence she saw a Deputy standing at the fence in front of the house.

W/[redacted] said the Deputy yelled to her "Do you know that guy?" She replied "No" and ran into her residence via the front door. W/[redacted] said a few seconds later while inside her residence, she heard gun shots, but did not see anything.

During our investigation, we determined the location at [redacted] E. 92nd street where W/[redacted] observed the suspect exiting, had been burglarized. We observed the security screen door (D-1) on the east facing side of the residence had been pried open. The interior east facing door had been kicked open, breaking the door frame (D-2). Entry and Exit were made from the east facing side door, as all other entry/exit points were secure.

DATE: 04/04/2011 FILE NO. 011-05058-2176-055

We contacted V/[redacted] (F/H 0[redacted] Cell, 3[redacted] Work) who responded to the location.

V/[redacted] was escorted through her home by Detective Quintero #[redacted]. While conducting a walk through of her residence V/[redacted] noted the following items were missing:

(S-1) Personal Check Book in Blue Cover, Bank of America
(S-2) White envelope containing three hundred and fifty dollars in US Currency
(S-3) Federal Tax refund check in V/[redacted] name in the amount of two thousand seven dollars.
(S-4) State Tax refund check in V/[redacted] name for the amount of two hundred seventy dollars.
(S-5) Soccer Ball Piggy Bank - containing one hundred sixty dollars in assorted US Currency
(S-6) Gold Bracelet made of seven independent bracelets

The crime Lab was notified and respond to the location and processed the scene.

A Supplemental Loss Form and Report Memo were given to V/[redacted]

As we left the location, V/[redacted] was preparing to do an additional walk through of her residence with Detective Quintero. (NFD)

NARRATIVE

This supplemental report is to provide additional information regarding the above file.

While working 216B, my partner, Dep. Oakley, C, #[redacted] and I responded to [redacted] Baird Av, Los Angeles regarding a prowler call. Upon arrival we contacted the informant, who directed our attention to the rear yard of [redacted] 92nd St., Los Angeles, which was to the north of the informants house and directly behind us. She told me she saw a male, shaved head, wearing a blue jacket and blue shorts looking into the house.

We turned our attention to the backyard of the location, at this time we were in the east/west alley directly behind the location. As I looked to the east facing wall of the location, I saw the suspect, later identified as S/Billups, exit the east facing door of [redacted] 92nd St., Los Angeles. S/Billups turned towards our direction, with a surprised look on his face and began running northbound to the front of the location.

I ran westbound in the alley towards Baird Ave. to take a containment spot at the mouth of the alley. As I ran westbound I saw S/Billups jump the face from [redacted] 92nd. St. onto [redacted] 92nd. St.

As I approached Baird Ave., I heard one loud gunshot coming from 92nd street. Believing one of my partners was involved in a shooting, I then ran around the corner towards 92nd St. Only a few seconds later and as I approached the northeast corner of 92nd St. and Baird Av, I heard four more gunshots east of my location.

I ran eastbound 92nd. Street, I saw S/Billups was hiding between the house at [redacted] 92nd St and a detached garage of the location. I could see S/Billups stick his head out numerous times and look towards our direction. Dep. Oakley, C., Dep. Velasquez, S. and I yelled to him and ordered him to come out with his hands in the air, but he refused to follow our orders.

While at the front of [redacted] 92nd. St., I recovered Dep. Inzunza's assigned shotgun from the sidewalk and placed it into the trunk of 216A unit.

After a few moments, I heard Dep. Larios, J. say on the radio that S/Billups was now running eastbound through the properties. He then said he saw the suspect go into a detached garage at [redacted] Zamora Ave. At this time, I held a containment spot mid block on 92nd St., between Baird Ave. and Zamora Ave.

Once a containment was establish, Dep. Oakley and I were relieved from our containment spot and instructed to respond the Command Post. We then transport Dep. Inzunza, G. and Dep. Sibrian, E. to Century Station. We returned to the Command Post and waited for further instructions.

After an extended period of time, the suspect was taken into custody by member of the Special Enforcement Team Bureau. Dep. Oakley and I responded to that location and positively identified S/Billups as the person we saw exiting the east facing door of [redacted] 92nd St. and ran from deputies.

S/Billups was treated at the location by Los Angeles County Paramedics and ESD Paramedics.

I road with S/Billups in the paramedics as he was being transported to St. Francis Hospital and Dep. Oakley followed. At the hospital S/Billups was being treated by Dr. [redacted] under medical # [redacted] We provided security for S/Billups as he was being treated for his injuries.

We were relieved at the hospital by Unit 216E, Dep. Brown, D. and Dep. Ocampo, P. at 1730 Hours.

NARRATIVE

The purpose of this supplemental report is to provide active / additional information regerding the above file number.

While working Unit 216B, my partner (Zamorano, L. [redacted] and I responded to a prowler call at [redacted] Baird Av, Los Angeles. The original call stated the informant saw an unknown male in the back yard of her rear neighbors house, looking in the windows. It also stated the street to the rear of her house was Zamora Av.

Initially, we focused our attention in the yard behind the informant's house which fronted Zamora Av. We did not see anything unusual in that yard and I contacted the informant for additional information. As I spoke with the informant she only spoke Spanish, but she was pointing to the rear yard of [redacted] 92nd St., which can clearly be seen from the informant's house on Baird Av. I advised the other units on the call that we needed to focus our attention on [redacted] 92nd St. and directed Deputy Inzunza to take a position near the front of the location, on 92nd St. My partner, who speaks Spanish, began to speak with the informant and gather additional information.

Moments after I directed Deputy Inzunza to the front of the location, I saw a male adult (S/ Billips) quickly exit a east facing door of [redacted] 92nd St. The suspect looked over the fence to the east and back towards us. The suspect suddenly ran northbound from the doorway towards 92nd St. I advised assisting units of my observation. I ran westbound in the alley intent on taking a containment spot on Baird Av. A few moments after I saw the suspect run, I heard 1 loud gunshot. This was followed seconds later by 4 additional shots. Fearing for the safety of Deputy Inzunza, I continued to run north on Baird Av. and east on 92nd St. Once on 92nd St., I saw Deputy Inzunza taking a containment spot near 92nd St. / Zamora Av. and Detective Velasquez standing in front of [redacted] 92nd St. Detective Velazquez was pointing to the rear of [redacted] 92nd St. I looked along the west side of that location and saw the suspect between a garage and the residence. and ducking back behind the garage. I gave the suspect multiple orders to "show" his hands and "come out". After a few tense moments, I heard Detective Larios state over the radio that the suspect had run eastbound through the yards of 92nd St. and hidden in a detached garage located at [redacted] Zamora Av. I maintained a containment spot at 92nd St. and Zamora Av.

Once a solid containment was established and additional units arrived from other stations and relieved us at our containment spot, we transported Deputy Inzunza and his partner, Deputy Sibrian, to Century Station. We returned to the command Post.

After an extended period of time, the suspect was taken into custody by members of the Special Enforcement Bureau. Deputy Zamorano and I responded to that location and identified the suspect as the person we saw running from [redacted] 92nd St. The suspect was being treated by L.A. County Fire Paramedics and ESD Paramedics. The suspect was naked and wearing only sneakers and socks while receiving treatment.

Deputy Zamorano rode with paramedics to transport the suspect to St. Francis Hospital and I followed behind in a radio car. At the hospital we provided security of the suspect as he was treated and taken into surgery. A member of the nursing staff (NFD) provided me with the suspect's belongings (sneakers and socks) following surgery.

Sarah Watson (#[redacted] of the Crime Lab responded to St. Francis Hospital and collected the suspect's shoes and socks from me.

We were relieved at the hospital by Unit 216E, deputies Brown and Ocampo at approximately 1730 hours.

NARRATIVE

The purpose of this report is to provide additional active information regarding the incident under the above file number.

I responded to [redacted] Baird Ave., LA regarding a call of a male in the informant's neighbor's yard.

Upon arrival, we were notified via radio, that the suspect was to the rear of a beige residence just north of the east/west alley. The alley is south of 92nd Street. I took a position in the alley just south of the residence as other responding units took positions to contain the location.

As I stood in the alley, on the south east corner of the property located at [redacted] E. 92nd Street, I saw a male with very short hair, blue jacket, blue jean shorts jump westbound over the fence from the property east of [redacted] 92nd Street onto the rear yard of [redacted] 92nd Street. The male ran north bound ignoring my commands to stop and show me his hands. I broadcast what I saw to my assisting units via my Sheriff's radio. I lost visual contact with the suspect as he ran westbound across the front of the building.

A few seconds after I lost visual contact with the suspect, I heard what sounded like a shotgun blast, seconds later, I heard three or four gun shots. I switched my radio from the tactical channel to the dispatch channel and I heard Dep. Inzunza on the patch.

I remained in my containment position in the alley. I saw the suspect was now one residence to the west of where I was. He was attempting to hide between a green two story residence and it's detached garage directly south of it. He stepped out from between the two buildings several times, looked east bound, and disappeared west bound between the buildings. The suspect suddenly jumped over the gate eastbound but he was now wearing a black tee shirt. He continued east bound over several walls. I lost sight of him at the rear yard of [redacted] Zamora Ave. Several residents at the location exited the front (east facing) door of the residence and told us they had just seen a male wearing a black tee shirt run into their detached garage. I relayed the above to the units on the containment via my Sheriff's radio and maintained my containment spot.

NARRATIVE

The purpose of this Supplemental Report is to provide additional active information regarding the above file number.

On the indicated date and time, my partner, Deputy Fisk, and I were working uniformed patrol in a marked patrol unit. We responded to [redacted] Baird Avenue in the Unincorporated area of Los Angeles County regarding a prowler call for service (tag-74.) The call's narrative indicated that an informant saw an unknown male Hispanic in her neighbor's backyard. The narrative also indicated the information in the call was received second hand from LAPD.

We responded to the location and checked the area with the assistance of several uniformed deputy patrol units (Unit 216A: Deputies Larios, #[redacted] and Velasquez, #[redacted] Unit 216B: Deputies Zamorano, #4[redacted] and Oakley, #4[redacted] and Unit 217A: Deputies Inzunza, #[redacted] and Sibrian, #[redacted]

While en route to the location, we directed Deputies Oakley and Zamorano to contact the residents at [redacted] Baird Avenue to ascertain more specific details.

Meanwhile, Deputy Fisk and I checked the residence at [redacted] Zamora Avenue which is directly east of [redacted] Baird Avenue. The residence at [redacted] Zamora Avenue is a single family residence that had a locked chain link fence around the perimeter. We did not see anything unusual at this locaiton.

Deputies Zamorano and Oakley notified us that a person matching the suspect's description was last seen at [redacted] E. 92nd Street.

I took up a containment point approximately two houses west of Zamora Avenue in the east/west alley which is located between Baird Avenue and Zamora Avenue and south of E. 92nd Street. I directed Deputy Inzuna and Deputy Sibrian to contain the north side of the location. I saw Deputies Fisk and Larios were also located in the alley to the west of my location.

A few minutes later, I heard a male voice say the suspect was running east. Therefore, I ran to the corner of where the alley and Zamora Avenue intersect. I quickly checked the properties located on Zamora Avenue between the alley and E. 92nd Street, but did not see any movement.

A few seconds later, I heard someone say the suspect was now running west so I moved back to my original position in the alley south of [redacted] E. 92nd Street. I then heard one gunshot which was subsequently followed by three or four more gunshots. Shortly thereafter, I saw a bald male Hispanic, approximately 25 years old, who was wearing a dark colored shirt, jump the fence from the rear yard of [redacted] E. 92nd Street to the rear yard of [redacted] E. 92nd Street in an eastward direction. I then ran east in the alley to parallel the suspect's direction of travel and again stopped at where the alley and Zamora Avenue intersect.

A few moments later, W/[redacted] came out of his residence and told me that while he was in his back yard, he saw a male Hispanic go into his garage. W[redacted] stated the male Hispanic was bald and was wearing a black shirt and blue shorts. I instructed W[redacted] to stay in his house and lock the doors until we could safely evacuate him and his family. I held my position until the suspect's new location in the garage was fully contained. I stayed at this position until I was relieved by an assisting TSB unit, Deputy Garcia, #[redacted] I subsequently responded to the command post and interviewed several residents who were evacuated from the containment area.

SEB was notified and subsequently responded to the location regarding the baracaded suspect. A search warrant was written and signed. Deputies from SEB took the suspect into custody. I was notified that S/Billups sustained gunshot wounds and was transported to St. Francis Hospital by paramedics. Deputies Zamorano and Oakley escorted the suspect to the hospital.

Homicide Bureau was notified and responded to the Command Post. Deputy Fisk and I briefed Homicide Detectives Sergeant Kenneth Clark, #[redacted] and Sergeant John Fredendall, #[redacted]

The Crime Laboratory Forensic Identification Specialists Deputy Kari Bandy, #[redacted] Jackie Thompson, #[redacted] and Firearms Examiners Robert Keil, #[redacted] and Deputy John Vanderschaaf, #[redacted] responded to the location and collected evidence.

While the scene was being processed, Detective Arevalo, #[redacted] and Detective Jimenez, #[redacted] located S/Billups' vehicle which was parked on the north side of the street in front of [redacted] E. 92nd Street. S/Billups' vehicle was subsequently stored for evidence and towed to International Tow.

A Major Incident Log was completed.

It should be noted that near the approximate time of this incident, a burglary occurred at [redacted] Zamora Street, Los Angeles. See file number 910-05067-2176-064 for further details.

NARRATIVE

The purpose of this supplemental report is to provide additional information regarding my observations.

On today's date, while working 216a with my partner, Det. J Larios #[redacted] we responded to [redacted] Baird Ave, Los Angeles regarding a prowler call (Tag-74). While positioned in the east/west alley between Baird ave and Zamora Ave, Deputies Larios, Fisk #[redacted] and Rines #[redacted] checked the rear yard of [redacted] E. 92nd Street, Los Angeles. There was a high chain link fence and a dog in the yard.

I heard on the radio that the suspect was running through the yards. I drove the radio car east through the alley and then north on Zamora Ave. towards 92nd Street. While on Zamora Ave, I heard approximately 4-5 gun shots come from the houses west of me. On 92nd Street, I drove west and stopped at [redacted] 92nd Street, Los Angeles. Deputy Inzunza was standing on 92nd Street as well as Deputy Oakley #[redacted] Deputy Sibrian #[redacted] and Deputy Zamorano #[redacted] I tried to acquire a location for the suspect and saw a department shotgun on the grass area between the sidewalk and the street in front of [redacted] 92nd Street. I picked up the shotgun to use as additional fire power. I checked the shotgun to make it ready. The slide was pulled to the rear and I could see an expended round in the chamber. I made several attempts to clear the jam, but was unsuccessful. I put the shotgun back down on the grass and went back to my Beretta.

While in front of [redacted] E. 92nd Street near the west side of the property, I saw the suspect poke his head out from behind the middle apartment. I ordered him to show me his hands and come from behind the building. The suspect hid again and a short time later poked his head out again. I told him he was surrounded and to come out and surrender. The suspect ducked back behind the building. A short time later, I heard on the radio, the suspect was running eastbound through the yards towards Zamora Ave. Det. Larios paralleled the suspect and was told by a resident at [redacted] Zamora Ave, that the suspect ran into his garage. Unsure if there were additional suspects in the area, Deputy Oakley, Zamorano and I walked to where we last saw the suspect. On the grass was his blue sweatshirt. A containment was set up and additional units were requested to our location.

NARRATIVE

The purpose of this supplemental report is to provide active/additional information regarding the above indicated incident.

On 04-04-11, I responded to a deputy involved shooting which occurred in the area of 92nd Street/Baird Avenue, Los Angeles. While responding, I heard via the sheriff's radio that the Suspect was barricaded in the garage of [redacted]South Zamora Avenue.

While at the command post, I spoke with Deputy Inzunza (Employee #4[redacted]The following is a synopsis of our conversation.

Deputy Inzunza responded to a prowler call at [redacted]South Baird Avenue, Los Angeles 90001. Deputy Inzunza was directed to [redacted] East 92nd Street, Los Angeles 90001 by a citizen informant. Deputy Inzunza saw the S/Billups attempting to pull on the a female's right arm. It appeared to Deputy Inzunza that she was attempting to free herself from his grasp. When Deputy Inzunza attempted to contact S/Billups, he ran westbound behind the location. Deputy Inzunza ran westbound 92nd Street on the sidewalk and saw S/Billups run in his direction on the west side [redacted]East 92nd Street. S/Billups then turned and pointed a handgun at Deputy Inzunza.

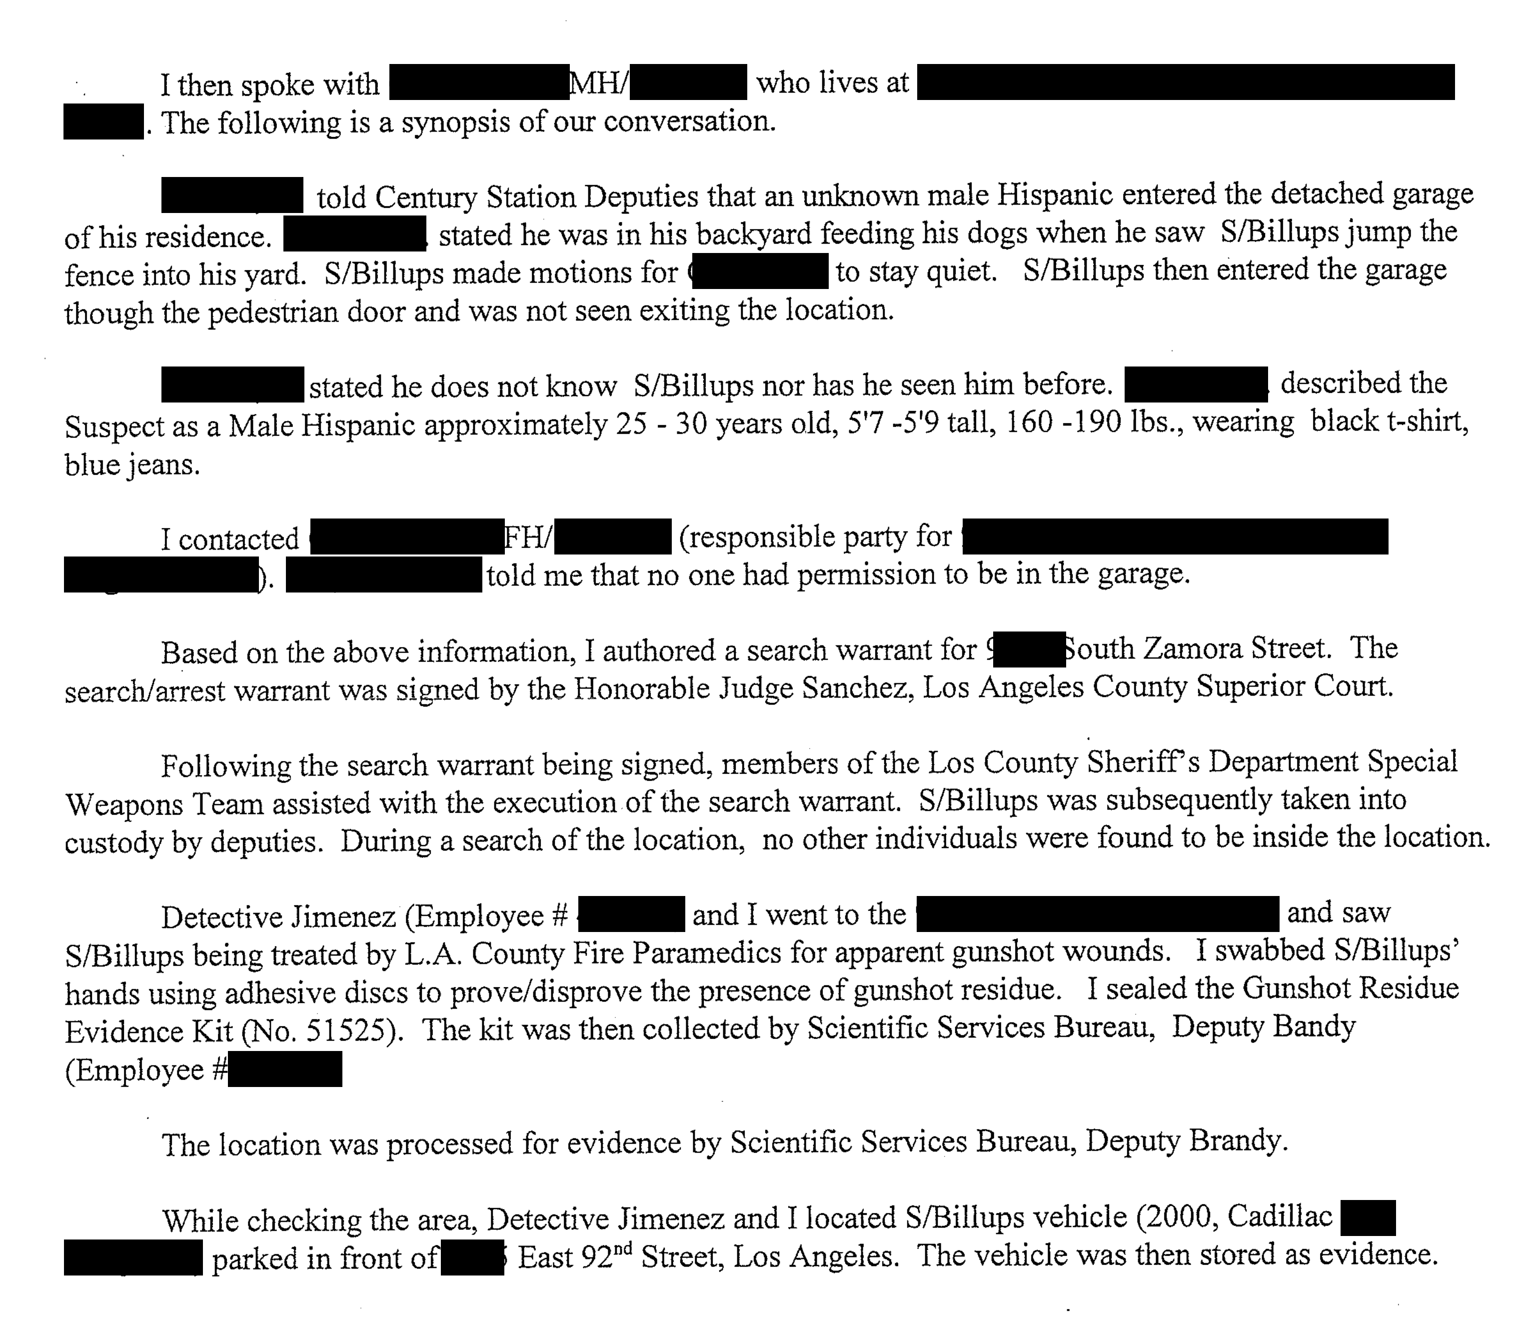

Fearing for his safety, Deputy Inzunza fired a round from his department issued shotgun. S/Billups then jumped a fence and ran westbound through the front yard of the [redacted] East 92nd Street. As S/Billups ran southbound along the west side of the residence, S/Billups turned and again pointed the handgun at Deputy Inzuza. Again fearing for his safety, Deputy Inzunza fired at S/Billups using his department issued handgun. S/Billups dropped his firearm on the ground and ran eastbound behind the residences. Deputy Inzunza recovered the firearm (380 caliber, semiautomatic handgun, Lorcin) and secured it in the trunk of his patrol vehicle.

I then spoke with [redacted] MH/[redacted] who lives at [redacted]. The following is a synopsis of our conversation.

[redacted] told Century Station Deputies that an unknown male Hispanic entered the detached garage of his residence. [redacted] stated he was in his backyard feeding his dogs when he saw S/Billups jump the fence into his yard. S/Billups made motions for [redacted] to stay quiet. S/Billups then entered the garage though the pedestrian door and was not seen exiting the location.

[redacted] stated he does not know S/Billups nor has he seen him before. [redacted] described the Suspect as a Male Hispanic approximately 25 - 30 years old, 5'7 -5'9 tall, 160 -190 lbs., wearing black t-shirt, blue jeans.

I contacted [redacted] FH/[redacted] (responsible party for [redacted]). [redacted] told me that no one had permission to be in the garage.

Based on the above information, I authored a search warrant for [redacted] South Zamora Street. The search/arrest warrant was signed by the Honorable Judge Sanchez, Los Angeles County Superior Court.

Following the search warrant being signed, members of the Los County Sheriff's Department Special Weapons Team assisted with the execution of the search warrant. S/Billups was subsequently taken into custody by deputies. During a search of the location, no other individuals were found to be inside the location.

Detective Jimenez (Employee # [redacted] and I went to the [redacted] and saw S/Billups being treated by L.A. County Fire Paramedics for apparent gunshot wounds. I swabbed S/Billups' hands using adhesive discs to prove/disprove the presence of gunshot residue. I sealed the Gunshot Residue Evidence Kit (No. 51525). The kit was then collected by Scientific Services Bureau, Deputy Bandy (Employee # [redacted]

The location was processed for evidence by Scientific Services Bureau, Deputy Brandy.

While checking the area, Detective Jimenez and I located S/Billups vehicle (2000, Cadillac [redacted] parked in front of [redacted] East 92nd Street, Los Angeles. The vehicle was then stored as evidence.

Affiant's Statement

I (Detective Arevalo) have been a Los Angeles County Deputy Sheriff for 13 years. I am currently assigned to Operation Safe Streets Bureau as a gang investigator based out of the Century Sheriff's Station. I have worked at the Century Regional Detention Facility, Century Station, Carson Station, and the Gang Enforcement Team prior to my current assignment. During my tenure with the Sheriff's Department, I have conducted hundreds of investigations and assisted in numerous other investigations involving a variety of crimes, including assaults and murders. I have received formal and informal training on the subject of criminal investigations, and I have attended numerous classes at the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Academy and through Advanced Officer's Training courses. I have attended numerous seminars regarding street gangs and criminal investigations. I exchange information on a daily basis with other law enforcement personnel, including gang detectives, regarding criminal investigations and gang trends. I talk with gang members on a regular basis, often times about the manners in which they commit their crimes, hide their weapons, dispose of contraband and stolen property, and traffic in narcotics.

I know from my training and experience that gang members will often conceal their firearms in an area that is readily accessible to them. One of the most common methods of concealment is in parked vehicles, their house, or a separate house they might refer to as a "safe house."

LOS ANGELES COUNTY SHERIFF DEPARTMENT

SEARCH WARRANT AND AFFIDAVIT

Statement of Probable Cause

On April 4, 2011, I was assigned to investigate an assault with a deadly weapon on a peace officer.

Century Station Deputy Inzunza (Employee # [redacted] responded to a prowler call at [redacted] South Baird Avenue, Los Angeles 90001. Deputy Inzuza was directed to [redacted] by a citizen informant. Deputy Inzunza saw the Suspect pulling [redacted] FH/21 years old by her right arm. It appeared to Deputy Inzunza that she was attempting to free herself from his grasp and Suspect was not allowing her to leave. Believing an assault was being committed, Deputy Inzunza attempted to contact the Suspect, the Suspect released Lozano and ran westbound behind the location. Deputy Inzunza ran westbound 92nd Street on the sidewalk and saw the Suspect run in his direction on the west side of the residence. The Suspect then turned and pointed a handgun at Deputy Inzunza.

Fearing that he was about to be shot, Deputy Inzunza fired a round from his department issued shotgun missing the Suspect. The Suspect then jumped a fence and ran westbound through the front yard of the residence west of the [redacted] East 92nd. As the Suspect ran southbound along the west side of the residence, the Suspect turned and again pointed the handgun at Deputy Inzuza. Deputy Inzunza again fired at the Suspect with his department issued handgun. The Suspect then ran eastbound behind the residences.

Deputy Inzuza described the Suspect as a Male Hispanic approximately 25 - 30 years old, 5'7 -5'9 tall, 160 -190 lbs., wearing a blue jacket, black t-shirt, blue jeans.

While establishing a containment, [redacted] MH/[redacted] who lives at [redacted] told Century Station Deputies that a male Hispanic matching the description of the Suspect entered the detached garage of his residence. [redacted]. stated he was in his backyard feeding his dogs when he saw the Suspect jump the fence into his yard. The Suspect made motions for [redacted] to stay quiet. The Suspect then entered the garage though the pedestrian door and was not seen exiting the location.

[redacted]. stated he does not know the Suspect nor has he seen him before. [redacted]. described the Suspect as a Male Hispanic approximately 25 - 30 years old, 5'7 -5'9 tall, 160 -190 lbs., wearing black t-shirt, blue jeans.

I contacted [redacted] FH[redacted] (responsible party for [redacted]). [redacted] told me that no one had permission to be in the garage.

A .380 caliber Lorcin handgun was recovered from the yard where the incident occurred.

Based on my training and experience, and the information corroborated in this affidavit, I offer the opinion that Suspect pointed a firearm at Deputy Inzuza and ran while in possession a firearm in a public place. Based on the above, it is my belief the Suspect is currently barricaded in the garage. I request judicial permission to arrest and search the residence for the Suspect. Your affiant respectfully requests the Court's permission to enter the above listed location in order to retrieve any handguns, or any evidence to help the people's case. Your affiant believes the recovery of these items will be instrumental in successful prosecution of the suspect.

A few minutes later, while he was standing in his backyard, he heard several gunshots. A few seconds later, W/ [redacted] said he saw a male Hispanic jump over his yard's west fence. The suspect and W/ [redacted] looked at each other. The suspect then motioned to W/ [redacted] by moving his arms back and forth vertically in front of him and then with his right hand brought his finger to his mouth and said, "Shhh."

W/ [redacted] then saw the suspect turn toward his garage. The garage's security screen door was already opened. The suspect walked to the garage, opened the wooden door, walked inside and then closed the door behind him.

W/ [redacted] immediately went back inside his house. He said he then went to the front of the house where he had previously seen several deputies. At that time, he told me that he had just seen a male Hispanic go inside his garage. S/ [redacted] and his other family members remained inside their residence until they were safely evacuated by deputies.

W/ [redacted] described the suspect as being a male Hispanic approximately 25 - 30 years old. The suspect was wearing a short sleeve black t-shirt with a red and brown logo. The bottom of the shirt appeared oversized because the bottom hung down around his lower waist. W/ [redacted] also said the suspect was wearing blue shorts and may have had an earing in his right ear.

NARRATIVE

The purpose of this supplemental report is to provide active/additional information regarding the above file number.

I contacted the residents ([redacted] MH/[redacted] and [redacted] FH/[redacted]) of [redacted] who told me the following:

Mr. [redacted] told me he was sitting in his living room couch when he heard approximately 5-6 gun shots. He said he did not look out the window immediately fearing that he would probably be shot. He said moments later he heard the helicopter above and the patrol cars with the sirens on. He said he did not see anything at all.

Mrs. [redacted] said she was laying down on her bed inside her bedroom. She said she heard approximately 6-7 gun shots that seem to have been right outside her house. She said she stayed in her room because she did not want to get shot in case a ~~bullet came inside her house. She said she never looked out the window and did not make any attempt to open her door. She~~ said she could clearly hear the police outside and the helicopter flying right above her house.

I also contacted the resident [redacted] FH[redacted]) of [redacted] who told me the following:

Mrs. [redacted] told me she was inside her kitchen when she heard 2 gun shots in front of her house. She said she immediately open her kitchen door and looked out to the front of the street. She said she saw her daughter with her hands up and the police pointing a gun at her. She said the police immediately let her go and she called her inside the house. As she did this she said she saw the police walk towards the corner (eastbount) and as she closed her kitchen door she heard another 3 gun shots. She said her and her daughter stayed inside their house and only heard the police running around and the helicopter flying above the top of their house.

These are the only persons I interviewed.

ACTION: Active/ additional information

NARRATIVE

The purpose of this supplemental report is to provide active / additional information in regards to the above file number.

On April 4, 2011, I responded to 92nd St / Central Ave, Los Angeles, to assist on an assault with a deadly weapon on a peace officer investigation which resulted in a deputy involved shooting.

I was contacted by a female identified as, [redacted] (FB/ [redacted], Cell # [redacted], California DL# [redacted]), who informed me that she believed that the individual we were looking for was her boyfriend, Tennell. I asked [redacted] if she would accompany me to Century Sheriff Station for a brief interview. [redacted] was very cooperative and agreed to go to the station.

While on route, [redacted] told me that her boyfriend's name was, Tennell Billups. She stated that she was on her way home from a doctor's appointment in Anaheim, when she received a text message from Tennell. The text message stated that he was going to jail and he needed her. [redacted] immediately called Tennell. Tennell told her that he had been shot by the police in the back and leg. Tennell stated that he was hiding in somebody's yard and that he was "barricaded." [redacted] said that she told Tennell to give himself up, that it was better to go to jail than to die. Tennell said that he was in the area of 92nd Street and Avalon Boulevard. [redacted] ultimately lost contact with Tennell. She attempted to re-contact him several times, but was unsuccessful. [redacted] believed that Tennell's cell phone battery died.

While at Century Station, [redacted] voluntarily showed me the contents of her cell phone, specifically the text messages and phone calls between her and Tennell. I observed that at 11:55 AM, [redacted] received a text message from Tennell (Ph# [redacted]) that read, "I'm going to jail, I need u." I also saw approximately (8) phone calls from [redacted] to Tennell between the times of 12:06 PM and 12:31 PM. Only (2) calls appeared to have connected based on the duration of the call (approximately 2 to 3 minutes). [redacted] confirmed that she spoke with Tennell twice. I read a few text messages that [redacted] had sent to Tennell, telling him to turn himself in, she didn't want him to die.

I asked [redacted] if she knew why Tennell would be in the area of 92nd St / Central Ave, and she stated, that she did not know. I asked her if Tennell told her what he was doing prior to the police shooting at him, she said, "No." [redacted] told me that she didn't ask Tennell any questions, she was just concerned about his well being based on the fact that he told her he had been shot.

This concluded our interview.

Believing [redacted] cell phone had evidentiary value, I took possession of the cell phone. The cell phone was given to Sgt. Kenneth Clark.

NARRATIVE

The purpose of this supplementary report is to provide active additional information regarding the actions taken by the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, Special Enforcement Bureau, Tan Team, during a barricaded suspect stand off located in the rear detached garage of [redacted].

We went to the above location at the request of Century Station Patrol, who had responded to a Burglary in progress. Upon Century Station personnel arrival a foot pursuit of a suspect which resulted in a Deputy involved shooting at which time the suspect dropped a firearm and fled into a garage at the location. Containment personnel were deployed in the following locations around the target, the alley entrance of the garage (Deputies Lopez #[redacted], Montenegro #[redacted] Missel #[redacted] and inside of [redacted] Zamora (Deputies Robert #[redacted], Brown # [redacted] and Phillippi #[redacted] with a visual on the east pedestrian access door to the target and an arrest team consisting of (Sgt. Williams #[redacted], Deputies Lavin # [redacted], Moss # [redacted], Stade #[redacted], Gaunt (K9) # [redacted], Hernandez #[redacted] and Grisbach (paramedics) #[redacted] in the driveway of [redacted] 92nd street.

The entry team consisting of myself (Dep Robinson #[redacted], Deputies Twedt #[redacted], Golden #[redacted], Vasquez (K9) #[redacted], Sgt's Baudino #[redacted] and Lee #[redacted] were staged on the north side of [redacted] [redacted]. Once all containment personnel were in place numerous announcements were made via the PA system from the ARV telling the suspect to exit the location with no response, while simultaneously telephone calls were placed into the location in an attempt to contact the suspect and have him surrender. A search and arrest warrant for the location and the suspect were sought and obtained. With a signed warrant in hand a plan was approved to deploy chemical agents into the garage in an attempt to drive the suspect out of his barricaded location. Chemical agents were deployed from two different locations in the garage, the first was a burning type agent through the garage door and a liquid type agent through the pedestrian door. After several minutes the suspect opened the door and stepped outside with an orange towel covering his face and hands.

The suspect did not comply, instead he laid face down on the ground with his hands under him in front of the door, he was given numerous orders to stand up and walk back to the arrest team but made no effort to comply, the arrest team was advised by containment personnel that were staged inside of [redacted] Zamora that they were also unable to see the suspects hands, because of the suspects non-compliance, not being able to see his hands and the fact that the suspect was involved in a shooting with Deputy personnel Deputy Gaunt deployed his K9. Once the dog was deployed the arrest team moved up and placed the suspect into custody.

On scene treatment of the suspect's injuries was administered by Los Angeles Sheriff's Department Emergency Services Detail Paramedics Hernandez #[redacted] & Grisbach #[redacted]. The suspect was handed over to Det. Arevalo #[redacted] and transported via ambulance for further treatment.

L: [redacted] E. 92ND STREET, LOS ANGELES CA.90002

S: TENNELL BILLUPS JR., MB/31, DOB 04-22-1979, IN CUSTODY, BOOKING #2696318

On Monday, April 4, 2011 at 12:40 p.m., Sergeants John Fredendall #[redacted] Kenneth Clark #[redacted] along with Detectives Marcelo Quintero #[redacted] and Richard Ramirez #[redacted] were detailed from Sheriff's Homicide Bureau to 92nd Street and Central Avenue (Command Post) in the unincorporated area of Los Angeles to investigate the circumstances surrounding a deputy involved shooting, that occurred at [redacted] 92nd Street in Los Angeles. Preliminary information was the suspect had barricaded himself inside a garage following the shooting incident involving a deputy sheriff assigned to Century Station. It was determined that the suspect had sustained gunshot wounds during the incident, and Sheriff's Homicide Bureau was assigned to investigate the matter.

Sergeants Fredendall and Clark arrived at the Command Post at 1:29 p.m. Investigators Quintero and Ramirez was on the scene when investigators arrived to begin their investigation.

At 1:45 p.m., investigators contacted the handling patrol unit (217B/AM Shift), Deputies Rines #[redacted] and Fisk #[redacted] from Century Sheriff's Station who briefed investigators surrounding the circumstances of the deputy involved shooting incident.

Deputy Rines told investigators at approximately 8:30 a.m. she and her partner Deputy Fisk, along with assisting patrol personnel were dispatched to a prowler call in the vicinity of [redacted] Baird Avenue in the unincorporated area of Los Angeles, Tag #74. She said the prowler call and information was transferred to Century Station by the Los Angeles Police Department once it was determined the incident was not in their jurisdiction.

Deputy Rines said the informant on the call was contacted and an area containment was established. Responding deputy personnel determined the suspect had attempted to accost a female witness in the driveway of [redacted]. The suspect was observed in the yard at that address by Deputies Inzunza and Sibrian. The suspect fled by running west through the back yard and climbed over the west property line fence at [redacted] and into the back yard of [redacted].

Deputy Rines told investigators that Deputies Inzunza and Sibrian paralleled the suspect west on the south sidewalk of 92nd Street to the driveway of [redacted] E. 92nd Street. Deputy Inzunza confronted the suspect in the driveway of the residence who was armed with a handgun in his hand. Deputy Inzunza discharged his Department issued shotgun once at the suspect. Deputy Inzunza apparently experienced a malfunction with the shotgun and discarded it, arming himself with his sidearm.

Deputy Rines said following the shooting, the suspect continued running and scaled the east property line fence of [redacted] E. 92nd Street, and entered the walkway on the west side of the property. Deputy Inzunza confronted the suspect, who was still armed with a handgun in the walkway and a second deputy involved shooting occurred, as Deputy Inzunza fired three to four rounds at the suspect with his department-issued pistol.

Deputy Rines told investigators that following the second shooting incident with the suspect at [redacted] E. 92nd Street, the suspect's handgun was recovered. Deputy Rines said after dropping or discarding his weapon, the suspect continued running east over fences and through residential back yards. The suspect barricaded himself inside a detached garage at the rear of [redacted] Zamora Avenue and it was believed the suspect may have been wounded during the shooting by Deputy Inzunza, which was later confirmed following the suspect's capture.

Deputy Rines stated a confirmed residential burglary occurred at [redacted]. 92nd Street and an additional residential burglary was committed in the immediate area of where the shooting occurred.

Deputy Rines stated a search warrant, authorizing Special Enforcement Bureau deputies to enter the garage where the suspect was barricaded was authored and obtained by Operations Safes Streets, Detective Arevalo #[redacted]A copy of the search warrant and search warrant return will remain a permanent part of the case file.

Deputy Rines stated the suspect in this incident was identified as Tennell Billups, MB/31, DOB 04/20/1979 and he resided at [redacted]. Suspect Billups was transported to Saint Francis Medical Center in Lynwood via an ambulance under the care of Los Angeles County Fire Department paramedics.

Refer to incident and supplemental reports by deputy personnel for further information. The reports will remain a permanent part of the case file.

At 2:30 p.m., investigators conducted a walk through of the scene on 92nd Street. The scene consisted of residences located at [redacted]E. 92nd Street and [redacted] Zamora Avenue in Los Angeles. Detectives Richard Ramirez and Marcelo Quintero were directed to conduct the scene investigation and Detective Ramirez will document their actions and observations in a supplemental report which will remain a permanent part of the case file.

At 5:33 p.m.,Sergeants Ken Clark and John Fredendall interviewed DEPUTY GONZALO INZUNZA, regarding the deputy involved shooting that occurred at [redacted]E 92nd Street, in the unincorporated part of Los Angeles. The interview occurred at the Century Sheriff Station, in the Captain's conference room, and it was recorded in digital audio. Attorney Audra C. Call, from the law office of Green and Shinee was also present. A copy of the recording will be made a permanent part of this file. The following is a synopsis of the interview.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators that he and his partner were on patrol in unit 214-A, day shift. He said his partner, Deputy Erik Sibrian, was the driver, he was the book man and they were assigned to work the Firestone Park patrol unit. He told investigators that he heard a radio call of a Prowler and it was assigned to unit 216. He and his partner were on 59th Street at Central Avenue so they assigned themselves to the call as the assisting unit.

He said they were en route to the call when the handling unit directed them to go to Zamora Avenue and 92nd Street. He believed the handling unit was positioned on Baird Avenue, which was one block west of Zamora Avenue. When they got to their corner he received information over the radio that the suspect was seen in the rear yard of a house on 92nd Street. They were then told to go to the front side of the houses on 92nd Street and contain that area.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators his partner stopped their car on the northwest corner of 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue and they both got out the car. He said he was armed with the shotgun and the two of them started walking westbound on the south side of 92nd Street, from Zamora Avenue. His partner was behind him so he told his partner to keep his eyes trained on the houses as they slowly moved west.

He said when he reached [redacted] 92nd Street he heard a broadcast that the suspect was just seen running eastbound. He told investigators that he and his partner headed west on 92nd Street until they came up to a long driveway and stopped. He said when he looked down the east side of the property he saw the suspect approximately 20 yards down a long driveway.

It should be noted that the first contact occurred on the east side of the location in a long walkway.

Deputy Inzunza said he saw a Hispanic female standing approximately one foot to the right of the suspect. The suspect was standing right next to the female and he believed that a radio broadcast was being made, at that time, saying that the suspect was just seen coming out of someone's house. He said he did not know which property the deputy in the broadcast was talking about but he could hear a report that someone had seen the suspect.

He stated based on this, he believed that a burglary had just occurred. He said he could also see that the suspect was now standing shoulder to shoulder with a Hispanic lady and as he studied the situation, he saw that the male had a look of fear on his face. The man was now standing with his shoulder next to the shoulder of the lady and he now had a panic look on his face.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators his shotgun was pointed toward the ground when he asked the female "Ma'am do you know him?" He said the female looked at him, shrugged her shoulders, and said "no." Then she quickly moved away from the suspect and that created some distance between the two. He stated that the female then said "I don't know who he is, I think he's trying to break in", as she moved to get away from the suspect. He stated that it was at that moment that the suspect turned and ran behind the building while the female came toward him. He said he lost sight of the suspect, so he raised the shotgun and he and his partner started speed walking west on 92nd Street, mirroring the movement of the suspect. The suspect ran west as he and Deputy Sibrian headed west to cut him off.

He said they were on the south sidewalk and within seconds the suspect reappeared on the number 3 side of the house at [redacted] He stated that the suspect had run completely around the house and was now on the number 3 side, the west side of the property, running toward the front yard of [redacted] Deputy Inzunza drew investigators a hand sketch depicting the location and where the suspect reappeared. He described where he saw the suspect and said that the suspect was not exactly in the front yard. He thought the suspect was mid-yard of the house at [redacted]. He described it as the house with a wrought-iron fence. He used the number 1 to indicate his position on his sketch and the number 2 to indicate the female's position. He told investigators he thought the female stayed on the east side of the house after the suspect ran behind the property.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators the suspect stopped and looked at him and he could see that the man was holding a gun in his hand. He said the suspect pointed the gun at him and he fired one round from the shotgun at the suspect while at the same time yelling "put your hands up, put your hands up". He said he felt that the suspect was going to shoot him or his partner behind him and that's why he shot. He tried to chamber another round into the chamber and couldn't because the slide got stuck. He tried three or four more times to get the slide to move while yelling at the guy "stop, stop put your hands up, put your hands up". He said he saw the suspect run and jump over the fence and that's when he threw the shotgun down and ran west to head off the suspect. He described seeing the suspect jump the fence and run across the yard at [redacted]. The suspect ran across the yard then south on the west side of the house and out of his view.

Deputy Inzunza said that he ran and took up a position of containment and pointed at his hand-drawn map. He indicated he ran west in the street and pointed to the area where he stopped. He said he saw the suspect run around the west corner of the house and as followed the suspect he yelled for him to stop. He said he saw the suspect stop then the suspect began to turn around while still holding the gun in his right hand. When the suspect faced him he pointed the gun in his direction. He said he feared for his safety and the safety of his partner so he fired 3 to 5 times at the suspect with his Beretta. He told investigators that he fired at the suspect to stop the threat.

He said he could see there was a wall or some type of solid structure behind the suspect when he fired. Deputy Inzunza stated that he saw the suspect turn, drop the weapon and run east between the house. He said he could see a deputy on the corner at Zamora Avenue, so he and Deputy Sibrian ran to the area where the suspect dropped the gun. He said he also heard over the radio that deputies could see the suspect and he was still running east behind houses. He said the suspect was now running in the opposite direction of where he initially started, which was back towards Zamora Avenue.

Deputy Inzunza said he didn't know if the area was contained so he and Deputy Sibrian ran back to the Corner of 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue and waited there until other units arrived. He said he could hear, over the radio, that deputies could see the suspect move so he had a good idea that the suspect was heading east between the houses. He told investigators he heard patrol units in the alley and he overheard someone say the suspect was running towards Zamora Avenue. He said that he started broadcasting a description of the shooting incident that just occurred.

Deputy Inzunza repeated his statement of pointing the shotgun and firing one shot at the suspect and not being able to rack the slide on the weapon. He said he lost sight of the suspect and how he broadcast what happened over the radio. He said he saw where the suspect tossed his gun and he and Deputy Sibrian recovered the weapon when he heard deputies say the suspect was running east. He said that he realized the suspect was running in the opposite direction of where he initially started.

He said he heard a deputy say over the radio that the suspect had entered a garage and he told investigators the suspect was wearing a blue jacket or a blue sweater. He said he was also wearing blue shorts and tennis shoes and he did not have a hat. He described the suspect as light complexion with short hair. He said the suspect looked like he was Hispanic but he now knows the suspect is a light complected African-American. He described the man as 20 to 30 years old, 5'7" to 5'9" tall, un-shaven, weighing approximately 170 to 180 pounds.

Deputy Inzunza said when he initially saw the female, she looked petrified and very scared. He said when he heard the initial call and the additional information over the radio, he thought the prowler call was now a burglary in progress call. He said he told his partner, based on the additional information, to "keep your head up." He said he based his opinion on the additional information in the broadcast that a resident could see the suspect looking inside the window of a house, before losing sight of the suspect. He said when he and his partner saw the female, he could tell that she was scared. He told investigators he thought the address was [redacted]. He said he could see the Hispanic female down the side of the house and she was standing on the right side of the suspect. He said the male and female were standing "shoulder to shoulder".

He told investigators that the male was very close to the female and they were both facing north. He said when he saw the suspect standing next to the female, it looked like the suspect tried to grab her when he asked the woman if she knew the man. He said when the suspect reached out and grabbed at the woman she moved her shoulder and moved toward him. When she did that, the suspect turned and ran to the back of the building and out of sight. Deputy Inzunza said the female's answer and action were odd and he realized she was trying to distance herself from the man and that's when the woman said she didn't know the man.

Deputy Inzunza said the suspect looked directly at him and they even made eye contact. He said the man tried to grab the woman but she moved her shoulder and got away. He said he realized that the man was the person that they were looking for, especially when the woman told him she didn't know the man. He said he felt that the suspect might grab the woman and take her inside the house since they were standing by the open door. He told investigators that the female did not scream but he could see that she was visibly shaken and scared. He described her as nervous and said she moved away from the man as soon as he reached out to grab her.

He said at the same time, he and his partner yelled at the suspect to raise his hands and they continued yelling this until the suspect turned and ran away. He told investigators he lost sight of the suspect when he ran behind the house, but he saw him come around on the west side and he was wearing the same blue clothing that he'd seen when the suspect was on the east side location, next to the woman.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators he did a slow walk west until the suspect reappeared. He said he thought the suspect was about 15 yards from him when he reappeared. He said he saw that the suspect was holding a weapon in his right hand and he was wearing the same blue clothing. He said when the suspect reached the gate area, he and his partner yelled for him to put his hands up but he didn't. He said that the suspect turned his back toward him and when he turned around the suspect was holding a gun in his hand. He told investigators that the suspect's back was facing him and then he suddenly turned around, faced him and pointed the gun at him and his partner. He said he thought the suspect was going to shoot so he fired first.

He stated that he did not have any solid cover to hide behind when he shot at the suspect. He said he remembered seeing a fence and a tree but there was no time for him to take cover behind anything solid. He said his frame of mind was initially to back up across the street to get cover but the suspect reappeared within seconds with a weapon in his hand. He stated that he didn't have time to take cover because his attention was drawn to the area where the suspect was last seen. He said he kept his attention on that threat and when the suspect reappeared, the suspect pointed a gun at him and his partner.

He repeated that he had no cover except for the fence and his frame of mind was focused on the suspect and the threat the suspect posed. He said he remembered hearing deputies over the radio say they could see the suspect running behind the building. He said the suspect suddenly reappeared and was now holding a gun in his hand.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators he was in fear for his life and his partners life who was behind him, so he fired one shot at the suspect to stop the threat. He said his partner had his Beretta out and he did not fire any shots at the suspect. He said he didn't think the suspect got a shot off at him with his gun. He told investigators he recovered the suspect's weapon and he now knows the type and caliber of the gun, but at the time of the shooting he did not know. He said he only saw the man with a black pistol in his hand.

He said after the first shotgun blast, the suspect ran west and climb the fence in the yard of [redacted] 92nd Street. He ran through the front yard of the house and around the west side of the building to the rear and out of his sight. He said he heard radio traffic that deputies could see the suspect running behind the building and thought he ran in an eastbound direction. He said he also remembered hearing someone say that the suspect had reversed his direction was now running west back towards he and his partner. He said the suspect reemerged and he was still holding the gun in the same hand he held it before.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators he and his partner yelled at the suspect telling him to stop and to raise his hands. He said the suspect ignored them and turned to his right and started to point his gun at them a second time. That's when he fired 3 to 4 rounds from his Beretta. He said his partner was still behind him when he fired and the suspect turned and ran between the buildings. He said they both saw the suspect drop the weapon and just about the same time he heard the suspect yell or make a strange noise. He said the suspect also made an unnatural type of movement as he yelled and he thought it was a reaction to the suspect being injured or shot.

He told investigators he and his partner recovered the suspect weapon after he heard deputies say over the radio that the suspect was running eastbound away from them. He said he didn't want the suspect to come back and rearm himself. He said after they recovered the weapon, they backed out of the area until they reached 92nd Street, then they went to the corner of 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators he and his partner recovered a .380 caliber, semiautomatic pistol that the suspect dropped. He said he put that weapon in the trunk of his radio car and his partner stayed at the radio car until they were relieved. He said they drove back to Century station and waited. He said he remembered seeing a deputy pick up the shotgun and put it inside a radio car. He thought it was done by the deputy working 216A. He told investigators he did not load the shotgun but his partner did. He said it was loaded with .00 buck shot and it was the older "Ithaca" shotgun.

He said he was the passenger in the car and his partner was driving. He said that is why he was in front of his partner the entire time, because he got out of the car first. Deputy Inzunza said he is familiar with the area and he knew that there had recently been a rash of burglaries and gang shootings. He said when he heard the call, his frame of mind was the prowler call would probably be a burglary in progress call. He said he remembers coordinating the call over L-TAC and when he arrived a containment had already been set up. He said a deputy at the scene reported that they had seen the suspect inside a different location and based on that information adjustments were made and they move to another position.

It should be noted that Deputy Inzunza was dressed in full class A sheriff's department uniform. He was wearing a badge displayed, a gun belt, radio and Departmental issued equipment.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators he was carrying his Department issued Beretta and a 2 inch Smith & Wesson, snub nose, revolver as a back up weapon. He said his backup weapon was inside his locker and he did not remove it or discharge it during the incident. He said that his Beretta was in his holster after he counted his remaining bullets and holstered the weapon. He told investigators he counted his remaining bullets to see how many he had fired. He said he did this at the corner of 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue before leaving the crime scene. He said that he still had the gun in his hand when he reached his radio car and he took the magazine out, counted the bullets and reloaded them in the magazine.

He said he put the used magazine in his front pouch and replaced it with a new 15 round magazine. He said he did this on the way to the station because he didn't want to forget which magazine he had in his gun when the shooting occurred. He said he started the shift this morning and his gun was loaded with 15 rounds in the magazine and one round in the chamber, a total of 16 bullets. He said when he counted the remaining bullets there were 11 bullets in the magazine and one bullet in the chamber, totaling 12. He stated that he changed his mind and decided he should put the original magazine back in his gun.

Deputy Inzunza removed the magazine from his gun and counted the remaining bullets in our presence. There were a total of 12 bullets inside the magazine. He had two additional magazines on his gun belt and each magazine contained 15, .9mm bullets. The interview was terminated.

At 1837 hours, Sergeants Ken Clark and John Fredendall interviewed DEPUTY ERIK SIBRIAN, regarding the deputy involved shooting that occurred at 1[redacted] 92nd Street, in the unincorporated area of Los Angeles. The interview occurred at the Century Sheriff Station, in the Captain's conference room, and it was recorded in digital audio. Attorney Audra C. Call, from the law office of Green and Shinee was also present. Sergeant John Rossi from Internal Affairs Bureau was also present. A copy of the recording will be made a permanent part of this file. The following is a synopsis of the interview.

Prior to conducting the interview, Attorney Audra Call, told investigators that she did not want any members from the District Attorney's Office present during the interview. Deputy Eric Sibrian, told investigators he was assigned to work a two man radio car, 217-A, with his partner, Deputy Inzunza. He was the driver of the car and Deputy Inzunza was the passenger. He said he loaded the department shotgun with four rounds of .00 buck shot and placed the shotgun in the shotgun holder inside his radio car.

He told investigators he heard a radio call of a prowler and he and his partner assigned themselves to the call. He said he didn't know the address of the call because he's only been off training for two months. He said he has worked with Deputy Inzunza two times, with this being his second time. He stated that the radio call was initially given to LAPD but they passed it to Century station desk and it included a comment that said a male Hispanic was seen looking through windows in the area.

Deputy Sibrian said when he arrived at the location he stopped his radio car on the corner of Zamora Avenue and 92nd Street and they both got out. His partner was holding the shotgun in his hand and they both walked to the first house south of the alley on Zamora Avenue. He said that within a few minutes they were given instructions and told to go to mid block 92nd Street and start looking for the suspect.

He said that he and his partner walked from 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue then west on 92nd Street until they reached an open driveway. He said they saw a female standing at the far end of the driveway looking at them. He said that his partner initially saw the woman first and his attention was drawn to her because she looked scared. He described the woman as a Hispanic female approximately 18 to 25 years old with dark hair and a slim build. He said his partner asked the women if everything was okay because they could see that she appeared to be scared because a male was standing next to her.

Deputy Sibrian described the man as a light complected, Hispanic male, with a bald head and he was wearing a blue sweater or long sleeve jacket. He told investigators the blue top had some type of writing on it but he wasn't sure what it said. He said that as they talked to the woman, it appeared to him that the man was holding the woman by her arm, keeping her from completely exposing her body to them. He said his partner asked the woman if she knew the man, and she said "no I don't know him he just tried to come in my house". He said his partner then told the man to come here and talk to him.

Deputy Sibrian said the woman stepped away from the man and that's when he saw that the man appeared to be hiding from them. He said the man was peeking out from around the corner but he would not show his entire body. He said when the woman started walking toward them he saw the man turn and run toward the rear the building. He said that his partner went to the front of the building and started going west towards the driveway area on the west side of the building. He told investigators he stood there for a few minutes just in case the suspect tried to double back and realized he didn't, so he followed his partner to the west side of the building.

He said they were both headed west on 92nd Street and his partner was in front of him. He said that his partner reached the driveway of the property and he heard a loud boom. That was the sound of his partner discharging the shotgun. He said he didn't see why his partner fired the shotgun but it startled him and he could see the suspect running. He said that the suspect ran then he suddenly stopped, turn and jumped over the fence and started running west in the front yard of the house next door.

Deputy Sibrian told investigators he didn't know what was going on at that time and was trying to figure it out because the shotgun startled him. He said it kind of threw him off mentally. He stated that during the entire time, he was 5 to 10 feet behind his partner and he didn't see why his partner shot at the suspect. He said his attention was focused on where he last saw the suspect and after he heard the shotgun blast, he saw the suspect running away.

Deputy Sibrian said he did not shoot because he was behind his partner and he didn't have a clear view of the suspect. He said he had his Beretta in his hand but he did not have a clear view of the suspect. He said when he first saw the man on the side of the house, before the shotgun was fired, he did not see a gun in the suspect's hand. After his partner fired the shotgun he saw the suspect climb over a fence and run west across the yard. He was still behind his partner and he did not have a clear view of what the suspect was doing.

He said he was looking to see what was going on while at the same time thinking that "this guy's got a gun" and something is going on here. He said he started looking around for a place to find cover because they were out in the open. He said he was now right behind his partner and the next thing he knew he saw the suspect stop running and turn in their direction. The suspect appeared to be struggling with something but his partner was in his way and he wouldn't step aside so he could get a clear view of what the suspect was doing. He repeated his statement saying that the suspect stopped and kind of turned around. He said his partner was in his way and when the suspect turned towards him his partner fired more rounds from his Beretta.

Deputy Sibrian told investigators he saw the suspect run between the houses in a southbound direction. He said that the suspect could have continued running southbound towards the alley but for some reason he stopped. He said he thought to himself that the suspect was thinking he could go to the alley but instead the suspect stopped, turned and faced him. He said that the suspect did not have to face them but he did. He said he thought the suspect might have kept running because he had a chance to go but instead of running away he turned and faced us.

He said the suspect was struggling with something but he couldn't see what he was doing because his partner was in the way. He said he couldn't see a gun but his partner fired three or four more shots in the direction of the suspect. He stated that his attention was drawn more to looking for a place to find cover because he felt they were wide open on the sidewalk. He said he was real concerned because and thought that his partner would get shot first, then he would end up getting shot.

Deputy Sibrian said his partner may have been giving instructions but he couldn't hear him. After the second shooting he said he saw the suspect run south between the houses. He and his partner covered the area then they walked halfway down the walk way and that's when he saw his partner pick up the suspects gun. He said the gun was on the ground and when they picked it up they walked back to 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue and covered that area.

He said they used the radio car for cover during this time and he saw his partner put the suspect's weapon in the trunk of their radio car. They stayed there until they were relieved then they went to the command post. He told investigators he did not know if his partner checked his weapon but the two of them did remain together until they reached the command post. He did not know what happened to the shotgun but he did remember his partner threw it to the ground.

Deputy Sibrian recited the events saying he remembered getting a call of a prowler and when they went to the location, the next thing he knew is the suspect had a gun. He said he did not know if the suspect fired a shot at them because he couldn't hear anything after the shotgun blast. He said he also doesn't know if his partner said anything because he couldn't hear. He stated that after the shotgun blast, he and his partner kept walking west toward the area where the subject was last seen. He said he was scared because he didn't know what was going on but he stayed behind his partner as they moved west. He said when his partner shot the second time he didn't have a clear view of what his partner saw and he didn't want to shoot indiscriminately in that direction because his partner was in front him. He said he was afraid his partner might move in his line of fire if he had shot so he didn't.

Deputy Sibrian told investigators he carries the department issue 92F, Beretta. He said he had one live round in the chamber and 15 live rounds in the magazine. He removed his Beretta and safely unloaded it displaying the one around in the chamber and 15 rounds in his magazine. He removed two additional magazines from his front pouch and displayed them to investigators. Each magazine contained 15 bullets. He removed a third magazine from his back pocket and when investigators examined it, they noted that it was a 18 capacity magazine. The magazine was loaded with 18 bullets and he told investigators the magazine came from his back pocket. The interview was terminated.

On April 4, 2011, at 8:40 p.m., Sergeants Fredendall and Clark attempted to interview SUSPECT TENNELL BILLUPS, MB/32, in the intensive care unit at Saint Francis Medical Center, room 3105. The contact was memorialized in digital audio and a digital copy of the interview will remain a permanent part on the case file.

Investigators were unable to secure a Miranda waiver from Suspect Billups as he slipped in and out of consciousness. Therefore, no interview was conducted and the contact was terminated at 8:44 p.m.

Sergeant Fredendall spoke with I.C.U. Nurse [redacted] She stated Suspect Billups injuries consisted of dog bites on the right side of his back and he sustained three gunshot wounds to his left back, left thigh and right buttock regions. Nurse [redacted] stated Suspect Billups was in serious, but stable condition. She provided Sergeant Fredendall with a medical record number of [redacted] for Terrell Billups.

On April 5, 2011, at 12:00 p.m. Sergeants Fredendall and Clark went to Saint Francis Medical Center, I.C.U. to interview Suspect Billups. An unidentified nurse gave Sergeant Fredendall two prescription bottles of medication and stated Terrell Billups' wife dropped off the medication in I.C.U. prior to our arrival. The nurse was told that Billups was [redacted]. Suspect Billups' wife told the nurse that he had [redacted] for a few weeks.

Sergeant Fredendall examined the medication containers and both were in the name of Terrell Billups. One bottle was labeled '[redacted]" with a dispensed date of 07/06/2010. The label instructions were to take [redacted]. The remaining bottle was labeled '[redacted]" with a dispense date of 07/06/2010, and [redacted] The label instructions were to take [redacted] Sergeant Fredendall noted the medication was dispensed by the [redacted] and each Bottle contained approximately fifteen tablets.

At 1211 p.m., Investigators interviewed SUSPECT TERRELL BILLUPS, MB/31, DOB: 04/22/1979. The interview was memorialized in digital audio, and a digital copy of the interview will remain a permanent part of the case file. The following is a synopsis of the interview.

Sergeant Fredendall read Suspect Billups his Miranda rights from a Departmental issued Miranda warning card, SH-AD 477. Suspect Billups stated he understood each of his rights and would talk with investigators without attorney representation.

Suspect Billups was asked to give his account of what happened. Billups said he was driving his 2000, white, Cadillac Escalade on Avalon Boulevard at 92nd Street, when his SUV "broke down" and kept "stalling out." He stated he had to leave his truck behind and started walking. He realized he was in Blood gang territory and was wearing all blue clothing. He described the clothes he was wearing as a blue shirt, tee shirt with white writing on it, blue shorts and gray Adidas tennis shoes. Billups claimed he knew he was going to have problems in that area with rival blood gang members, since he was a member of the Santana Block Crips street gang.

Suspect Billups stated some male black individuals pulled up to him in a gray Impala and one of them said "what's happening blood." Billups said he began running down a side street and jumped a fence and into a yard where he waited there for twenty minutes. During that time, he saw the men in the gray Impala driving up and down the street looking for him.

Suspect Billups told investigators that he jumped a fence into another yard to make his way back out to the street on the next block to get away from the men searching for him. He said when he made his way back toward the street, "The police was right there" and told Billups "hey you freeze." Billups claimed that's when the police started shooting at him. Billups then claimed the police yelled "he's got a gun" and Billups yelled "I don't have no gun . . . I ain't got no gun" and the police started shooting at him.

Suspect Billups said he ran into the back yard and jumped the fence while yelling "hey man you're shooting at me." He ran to the back yard of a residence and another police officer was present and the officer started shooting at him. Billups claimed he told the officer "Man, why you all trying to kill me" and that's when he was shot by the officer.

Suspect Billups told investigators when he was shot by the officer, he yelled out in pain "you shot me." He said the officer replied "I'm gonna shoot you again mother fucker." Billups stated he had been shot in the past and didn't want to die, and kept running and was scared.

Suspect Billups then told investigators that he didn't know the guys that were shooting at him were police officer's. He said when he first saw "them" they were behind a car and was told "come here." Billups said he saw a man holding a gun and didn't know if was one of the blood gang members or the police chasing him. Billups said everything occurred so quickly, he thought it was the gang members. He said he never saw a police officer or a police car during the encounter. Moments later, Billups stated after he had been shot, he realized the police were there and he didn't know who had shot him. Moments later, Billups told investigators "the police were shooting at me."

Suspect Billups stated at some point during his ordeal, he was told by a police officer he had shot at the police. Billups said his response to that allegation was "how can I be shooting at them, I ain't got no gun."

Investigators asked Billups what was said to him at the beginning when he first saw guys with the guns. He replied "come out from behind there, come out." Billups was asked what else was said to him. He said he was told to "come out, let me see your fucking hands" and it sounded like police commands to him.

Suspect Billups said while being given the above commands, there was a woman with him (Witness [redacted] He told the woman that people were trying to do something to him and the woman told him to stay where he was and that's when the shooting erupted. Billups said the woman could have been shot because she was standing in front of him at the time.

Suspect Billups told investigators due to having been shot in the past, he got scared and ran from the police and believed he was shot at "16 times, because I counted." He said that's why he ran like he was crazy, alleging they were trying to kill him. Billups said he didn't do anything wrong and was just trying to get away.

Investigators asked Suspect Billups what his actions were the second time he was shot at by the police. He replied "I laid down on the ground when I saw it was the police, because one came over the gate and told me not to move." Billups said he told that officer "I'm not moving, I'm shot." Billups said well, "I kind of moved because I was hurting" since he had been shot. He mimicked his movements on the hospital bed, moving side to side and said the officer started shooting again, while he was on the ground and the officer said "he's got a gun."

Suspect Billups stated he told the officer "I don't have no gun sir, stop shooting at me please." He said the police threw a dog over the gate and the police dog dragged him up the street for two blocks. Billups was asked if the police were wearing patrol uniforms or military style uniforms. He said the police were wearing uniforms and not swat style clothing.

Investigators asked Suspect Billups if at any time, did he have a gun. He replied "no sir." Billups was asked if he went into anyone's house while trying to hide from somebody. He replied "I would hide from the police." he was asked, did you go into someone's house when you were running from everybody. Billups replied "I ran into someone's garage because I had already been shot." Billups was asked before you were shot, did you go into anyone's house. He replied "no, I just ran through a yard to hide, but there was a dog there and hopped into the next yard and an officer was there." Billups clarified himself by saying "or whoever those people were."

Suspect Billups stated during that time, while he was in a back yard, he saw a Caucasian woman smoking a cigarette and told her that he was being shot at. He said the woman told him to hide, so he hid in her yard.

Suspect Billups told investigators during the entire incident, he didn't have a gun in his hand or possessed a firearm on his person. He did point out that when he was being shot at, he did run with his hands clinched in a fist and when he did get shot, the bullet made him do a flip in the air and fall onto the ground. He said the officer who shot him told Billups he was going to shoot again and kept shooting, so he ran for his life. Billups stated he was shot in the back and in the leg while he was running and told investigators "I didn't have a gun when my back is to you and I'm running." Interestingly, Billups then claimed he didn't know it was the police that shot him.

Investigators asked Suspect Billups, while he hid in the garage, did you know the police were outside. He replied "I heard the police say come out, we know somebody is in there, come out." Billups said the police were yelling "we're going to shoot it up" and they didn't identify what police agency they were from and most of their commands were in Spanish.

Suspect Billups told investigators that he had previously been diagnosed with [redacted]. He said he was prescribed medication for his [redacted]. He said he stopped taking the prescribed medication two weeks ago.

Suspect Billups was asked if he had a cellular telephone with him, prior to his arrest. He stated "yes, the officer's seized it." He then stated when he was running through the yards he didn't have his cellular phone with him. Billups was asked why he never called 911 for help. He replied "I don't know, I never thought about calling 911 in a situation like that. When I did try to call someone, I didn't know where my phone was." He described his cellular phone as a Blackberry by Boost mobile and said he payed for designated minute use and doesn't send text messages on his phone. Billups was asked if he had a girlfriend named [redacted] who worked as a nurse at [redacted] and he said yes. He was asked if he called or text [redacted] before his arrest. Billups said he called her yesterday and [redacted] text him while he was at the store, prior to being shot or chased by the police.

Suspect Billups was asked if he text [redacted] or called her while the police were pursuing him, before he got shot. He replied "yes." Billups quickly pointed out that he didn't remember what he said to [redacted] when he called her or what the message was when he text her. Investigators sought and obtained Suspect Billups consent to examine and download data from his cellular phone. Investigators later sought and obtained Billups' girlfriend, [redacted] consent to examine and download data from her cellular phone. The downloaded information from both cellular telephones will remain a permanent part of the case file and the information will be forwarded to the District Attorney's office in this case.

Suspect Billups told investigators at no time did he point, shoot, or possess a gun on 04/04/2011. Billups also denied entering anyone's home other than the garage where he was captured on the day of his arrest.

Investigators asked Billups if there was any reason why someone would tell us they saw you coming out of one of their neighbor's house. Billups replied "say what, I don't know. I came out of the yards running." When asked if he broke into anyone's home on 04/04/2011, Billups replied "no sir" and said that someone may have seen him running or something like that.

Suspect Billups was asked when he was running, you're absolutely sure you didn't go into anyone's house to hide to avoid being captured. Billups replied "I don't recall, I was shot, nervous and running." Investigators clarified the question, before you were shot, did you enter anyone's house to hide or get away. Suspect Billups replied "I don't know."

Suspect Billups was asked if it was his statement, he did not break into someone's house or was it his statement he didn't remember if he broke into someone's house. Billups replied "I don't recall, I'm telling you guys, I was running for my life."

Suspect Billups was asked if it was possible he kicked in someone's door and ran inside to hide. Billups replied "maybe, I don't know. I was scared and tried to hide everywhere." Suspect Billups was asked, why are people in that neighborhood telling us that they saw you inside someone's house. He replied "because I was running."

Investigators asked Billups when he was running, did you go inside someone's house to hide or did he hide outside someone's house before he was shot. Billups replied "no sir, I don't know sir, there was so much going on."

Investigators asked Billups if it was possible he went into someone's house but didn't remember. Billups replied "I don't know, I got a lot of stuff going on in my head. Because I've been shot up, like my mind goes blank."

Investigators asked Billups why witnesses in this case told investigators you had a gun, even though you say you didn't. Billups replied "I didn't have a gun sir." Investigators confronted Billups with the fact a gun was recovered in this case. Suspect Billups replied "I don't know how you recovered a gun...and it was fired?" Billups was asked what he meant by, was it fired. Billups said he was told by the officer who shot him that he had shot at the officer. He said he never shot at the officer's and a test was conducted on his hands in the field to check for gun shot residue.

Suspect Billups stated after he was shot, he ran through three separate yards on the same block and again denied he entered any residence. He said there were three different officers' who shot at him prior to being captured and every time he stopped running, another officer would shoot at him.

Suspect Billups told investigators that he never saw or had contact with a man (Witness [redacted] in a backyard nor did he place his finger up to his mouth as to convey "be quiet" prior to barricading himself in a garage to avoid capture by the police.

Suspect Billups said he barricaded himself in a garage for two hours after being shot. The tear gas affected him and he was forced to crawl out of the garage and surrender. He said when he crawled out of the garage, he placed his hands behind his back and told officer's

"I'm not resisting." Billups said he was shot at five times with either tear gas or bullets at that time and heard an officer say "he's not cooperating." Seconds later, he was attacked by a police dog and dragged down the street by the dog.

Suspect Billups reiterated, at no time did he possess a gun, point a gun, shoot or attempt to shoot anyone on the day of his arrest. He also denied brandishing or making any turning movements toward deputies while in possession of a handgun. Billups further denied he ever simulated being in possession of a handgun during the incident on 92nd Street.

The Interview terminated at 12:58 p.m.

On April 8, 2011, at 1:45 p.m., Sergeant Fredendall drove to International Tow, 2225 E. 89th Street in Los Angeles, to examine Suspect Billups' vehicle. During the interview with investigators, he said his 2000, white, Cadillac Escalade, SUV had broken down and stalled on Avalon Boulevard. Suspect Billups' vehicle was located in close proximity of his arrest on 92nd Street and investigators wanted to determine if his vehicle had any mechanical issue.

Sergeant Fredendall used the keys that were recovered from Suspect Billups clothing at the scene to unlock the vehicle via remote control. On the back floorboard, between the driver and front passenger seat, Sergeant Fredendall observed and recovered a traffic ticket #[redacted] issued on April 1, 2011, by Los Angeles Police Department Officer Antiporda #[redacted] Sergeant Fredendall also observed and recovered Billups' temporary vehicle identification #[redacted] on the floorboard as well. The items were seized as evidence and will remain a permanent part of the case file.

Sergeant Fredendall started the vehicle twenty times and drove the vehicle forward and backward ten times. The vehicle started promptly each time and never stalled or presented any indication of mechanical problems as alleged by the suspect.

Item # E Possible lead pellet fragments, located 91' 6" east of the east curb line of Baird Avenue and 24' 1" south of the south curb line of 92nd Street.

NARRATIVE

On April 04, 2011, at 1200 hours, Homicide Investigators Richard Ramirez and Marcelo Quintero were dispatched from Homicide Bureau to assist Homicide Investigators Sergeants John Fredendall and Kenneth Clark regarding a deputy involved shooting in the 1[redacted]lock of 92nd Street in the County of Los Angeles. When Investigators arrived they were briefed by Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, Century Station Unit 217B, Deputy Patty Rines # [redacted] and Deputy Ken Fisk # [redacted]

Deputy Rines related that she and her partner responded to a call of a prowler in the vicinity of [redacted] Baird Avenue, a residence just south of 92nd Street. One of their assisting units was Unit 217A, Deputy Inzunza and Deputy Sibrian. As they began their initial investigation, they were contacted by a citizen informant who pointed out a residence on 92nd Street. The citizen informant related that she had seen a male possibly breaking into the back door of a residence which was later identified as [redacted]E. 92nd Street. The citizen informant further related that the possible burglar jumped the fence to the back yard of the residence to the east.

Deputies Rines and Fisk began to coordinate the arrival of assisting deputy personnel. Deputies Inzunza and Sibrian exited their patrol vehicle and checked the residences on 92nd Street. Deputy Inzunza carried his Departmental issued "Ithaca" shotgun. As they checked the residence at [redacted]

E. 92nd Street, they encountered an individual (later identified as Suspect Tennell Billups) in the driveway. Suspect Billups, immediately after seeing Deputy Inzunza, ran west in the back yard of [redacted] E. 92nd Street and jumped the fence into the rear yard of [redacted]. 92nd Street.

Deputy Inzunza paralleled Suspect Billups' along the south sidewalk to the driveway at [redacted]. 92nd Street. He turned south into the driveway and confronted Suspect Billups who was now running north on the same driveway with a gun in his hand. It was at this time a deputy involved shooting ensued when Deputy Inzunza discharged his Department issued shotgun. Following the shooting, Suspect Billups again fled westbound over the property line fence and onto the walkway on the west side of the residence at [redacted] 92nd Street.

Deputy Inzunza again paralleled the suspect along the south sidewalk of 92nd Street. He turned south onto the walkway and again confronted Suspect Billups who was running north along the walkway, still holding a gun in his hand. Deputy Inzunza had discarded his shotgun and drawn his Departmental issued Beretta pistol. A second deputy involved shooting occurred in the walkway at [redacted] E. 92nd Street.

Suspect Billups, after the second confrontation, concealed himself between the rear apartment and the garage and refused to surrender. Deputiy Inzunza was joined by Deputy Sibrian at this point and both took up a position in front of the residence and broadcast that they had been involved in a shooting using their handheld radio.

Deputy Rines indicated that moments after the shooting, Deputy Inzunza recovered a blue steel semiautomatic pistol in the grass area on the south end of the walkway of [redacted]. 92nd Street. The pistol was the one Suspect Billups was holding. It was a "Lorcin" 380 caliber pistol (Evidence Item # 16). Deputy Inzunza collected the firearm and placed it in the trunk of his patrol car for safe keeping because the suspect was still outstanding at that time. Deputy Inzunza also directed assisting personnel to recover his shotgun for fear that the suspect could run back to the area and arm himself once again. The area was contained using assisting Deputy personnel from several Sheriff's Stations.

Suspect Billups avoided capture and fled on foot eastbound through the yards of [redacted] and [redacted] 92nd Street. Suspect Billups was able to scale the east fence of [redacted] 2nd Street and enter the rear yard of [redacted] Zamora Avenue. Suspect Billups concealed himself in an unoccupied rear converted garage at that address. Deputy personnel learned of Suspect Billups location and attempted to call him out and surrender. Suspect Billups refused to come out and Deputies from the Special Enforcement Bureau were called. After a standoff which lasted several hours, SEB personnel fired several tear gas canisters through the front door of the garage. Suspect Billups was subsequently arrested inside the garage when entry was made by a K-9 unit. Suspect Billups was found to have sustained gunshot injuries.

Deputy Rines and Fisk as well as assisting deputy personnel will document their actions and observations in a first report and supplementary reports which will become a permanent part of this file.

At 1450 hours, Forensic Identification Specialist Jackie Thompson # [redacted] and Deputy Kari Bandy # [redacted] arrived at the scene. At the direction of Investigators they photographed the entire scene and retrieved all of the above described evidence. FIS Thompson will document their actions and observations in a supplemental report which will become a permanent part of this file.

Also at 1450 hours, Firearms Examiners Deputy John Vanderschaaf # [redacted] and Robert Keil #[redacted] arrived at the scene. At the direction of Investigators, they examined and recovered all ballistic evidence associated with this incident. Deputy Vanderschaaf will document their actions and observations which will become a permanent part of this file.

SCENE

The 1300 block of 92nd Street is primarily residential, consisting of primarily duplex, triplex and single family homes. 92nd Street is an east/west street single lane asphalt surface street which accommodates parking on both the north and south sides of the street. The shooting incident occurred between Baird Avenue to the west and Zamora Avenue to the east. Both Zamora Avenue and Baird Avenue are single lane north south streets and are of similar appearance as 92nd Street. To the south of the residences on 92nd Street is an alley way, which provides easy access for vehicles and pedestrians.

The locations that Investigators were primarily concerned with were 1[redacted]2nd Street and [redacted]Zamora Avenue. The locations on 92nd Street were located on the south side of the street. The residence on Zamora Avenue, was on the west side of the street and abuts [redacted]92nd Street.

Investigators first examined [redacted] 92nd Street. They found it to be a green stucco colored multi-location apartment complex, comprised of three apartments with one upstairs. To the rear of the location was a detached garage. Between the garage and the apartment complex was a walkway that provided access to the both sides of the property. In the front yard there was a chain link fence with a pedestrian opening where the walkway led to the apartments.

In the grass area parallel to the sidewalk, Investigators observed three expended shell casings (Evidence Items 1, 2 & 3). Investigators were able to locate an additional shell casing (Evidence Item 14) after the deployment of the Prospectors Club, Mr. [redacted] and Mr. [redacted] They examined the area with their metal detectors and located the shell casing in the grass area of front yard of the complex. They also located an additional fired bullet (Evidence Item # 15) from the west grass area of the yard.

Investigators located a jacket (Evidence Item # 5) between the garage and the apartment complex. Investigators also located an expended bullet (Evidence Item # 4) and a bullet impact (Photograph Evidence # C) in the wall of the garage. There was also a trough on the grass that according to the Firearms Examiners represented that a bullet grazed grass before striking the wall (Photograph Evidence # A.) Investigators were also directed to a bullet hole in the wall of the apartment complex. An expended bullet (Evidence Item #17) was retrieved from that wall by Firearms Examiner Robert Kile (Refer to Photograph Evidence # B.) On the east wall of the complex there appeared to be a number of impact holes, that according to the Firearms Examiners, may have been created when the shotgun was deployed (Photograph Evidence Item # E).

Investigators next examined [redacted] 92nd Street. This location is a [redacted] single family home, that had two upstairs bedrooms. The front door faced north with a side entrance located on the east side of the residence. The residence was equipped with wrought iron security doors and windows. The front yard was adorned with a wrought iron fence that was approximately seven feet high. There is a detached garage to the rear of the location.

The location had a driveway that runs along the west side of the residence. Investigators observed a number of small lead fragments and plastic wading (Evidence Items 6 thru 10) commonly found in shotgun shells on the driveway.

Investigators were directed to the east side entrance near the rear of the location. The door appeared to have been forcibly kicked in (Photograph Evidence # D). FIS, Deputy Bandy took a number of photographs of the shoe print to be compared with the shoes that Suspect Billups was wearing at the time he was arrested.

It appeared entry was gained into the residence by kicking in the metal screen portion of the security door, causing a tear in the screen below the door locking mechanism. The metal screen appeared manually bent inward, allowing an access portal to the door locking mechanisms. Once the security door was unlocked and opened, the suspect then kicked in the wooden door, allowing entry into the home. Investigators observed broken wood molding and metal deadbolt parts on the floor inside the door.

Investigators checked the interior of the residence and found that the northwest bedroom had been ransacked. There was a dresser on th west wall which had been searched. The drawers and its contents were found on the bedroom floor. There were personal items strewn about the livingroom floor as well as the floor near the rear door. Both upstairs bedrooms appeared to have been searched as evidenced by clothing on the floor and beds. Several dresser drawers and closets were ransacked.

It should be noted that Investigators allowed the residents to enter the location after it had been photographed and checked for fingerprints for the purposes of identifying any missing items. The residents related that cash and jewelry was taken. It should also be noted that Investigators did not locate the missing money or jewelry.

Deputy Inzunza first encountered Suspect Billups in the driveway of [redacted]2nd Street. This location is a single family residence with a detached garage located to the rear, on the east side of the property. Investigators observed what appeared to be lead fragments (Evidence Item #11) on the sidewalk in front of the location. The residence is equipped with wrought iron security windows and doors. The driveway to the location is located on the east side of the house and runs parallel to the residence to the garage. The front gate is also wrought iron and is approximately six foot high. There is a six foot, five inch fence that runs the length of the east side of the residence. At the rear of the driveway was an entrance to the backyard which led to the west side of the property.

The rear residence at [redacted] Zamora Avenue was adjacent and east of the rear residence of [redacted] 92nd Street. Investigators were directed to the southwest corner of the property where the garage of [redacted] Zamora Avenue was located Investigators noted the garage had been converted into a residence and was equipped with a wrought iron security door that faced east. Inside the garage was the strong order of teargas that was still prevalent when Investigators arrived.

Investigators learned that this particular property site had two additional residences north of [redacted] Zamora Avenue. They were identified as [redacted] and [redacted] Zamora Avenue. A driveway was located to the rear and west of the residences and ran parallel to the residence of [redacted] 92nd Street. To the north of the garage was a cellular telephone (Evidence Item # 13) and Suspect Billiups' cut up clothing (Evidence Item # 12). A check of Suspect Billups pants pockets revealed, five, five dollar bills and a pack of "Camel" cigarettes in the right front pants pocket and two twenty dollar bills in left front pants pocket. The cigarettes were disposed of. The money, along with a set of car keys and the Cellular Phone (Evidence item #13) recovered from the suspect's clothing, were given to Sergeant Clark by Deputy Bandy.

Examining the front wooden door there appeared to be a number of circular shaped holes where Investigators learned were created during the deployment of tear gas by members of SEB.

Investigators subsequently contacted the owner of [redacted] 92nd Street. She was identified as Ms. [redacted] FH/ [redacted] She represented to Investigators that her residence had been ransacked and it appeared that some jewelry had been stolen. However, she was not certain at this time what had been taken. Based on the condition of the residence, Investigators advised her that once she and her family inventoried their loss, she should contact Century Sheriff's Station and provide them with that information.

Investigators were made aware that Suspect Billups may have been driving a white SUV. Investigators were subsequently made aware of a white Cadillac (Ca. # [redacted]) was discovered in front of [redacted] 92nd Street. A check of the license plate revealed that the vehicle belonged to Suspect Billups. It was subsequently towed to International Tow, 2225 89th Street, Los Angeles, Ph# (323) 583-1414.

Investigators also learned that the shotgun that Deputy Inzunza used was in the trunk of a radio car. Firearms Examiner Keil examined the weapon and found that it was loaded with two rounds in the tube, one fired round in the chamber and one live round in the chamber. According to Keil the weapon appeared to have malfunctioned.

WITNESS [redacted] INTERVIEWED

On Monday, April 4, 2011 at 1755 hours, Investigator O'Quinn interviewed Witness [redacted] (FH/DOB: [redacted]) at the Century Sheriff's Station. Also present during the interview were Deputy District Attorney Jason Lustig and Senior Investigator Sean Robinson of the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office Justice Systems Integrity Division, Sergeant John Rossi of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Internal Affairs Bureau, and observer Kwan Panchan of the Transnational Crime Affairs Section/United States Embassy, Thailand. Below is a synopsis of the recorded interview. For complete details, refer to the digital audio disc, which will become a permanent part of the Investigator's file.

Witness [redacted] stated she was standing near the midpoint of her driveway ([redacted]) at approximately 0830 hours on 04-04-2011. She was south of the sidewalk on East 92nd Street. Witness [redacted] explained that she lived in a [redacted] residence and her driveway opened to [redacted].

Looking west over the perimeter chain link fence, Witness [redacted] saw her neighbor ([redacted] FH/A, [redacted]) standing near the midpoint of her own driveway. She also saw a male adult walking east on the south sidewalk of East 92nd Street. Witness [redacted] said the male was dark skinned, bald, and wearing dark clothing.

Witness [redacted] saw the male walk south on [redacted] driveway and watched as he approached [redacted] She saw a uniformed Deputy walking east on the south sidewalk towards the same driveway. Witness [redacted] heard the Deputy call out to the male adult, telling him to "stop man, stop". Witness [redacted] saw the male walk up to [redacted] and "get really close to her" as the Deputy continued approaching. The Deputy called out to [redacted] asking her "do you know this guy?" Witness [redacted] heard [redacted] say "no". The male suddenly began to run north out of her neighbors driveway and then east on the south sidewalk of East 92nd Street. The Deputy pursued the male on foot and called out to both she and [redacted] telling them to "go inside". Later in the interview, Witness [redacted] stated she saw the male run "across the grass" in front of [redacted] residence as the Deputy pursued him (indicating a possible westbound direction).

Witness [redacted] began to walk to the side door of her residence. She did not see if there was anything in the hands of either the male adult or the Deputy. After entering her residence, Witness [redacted] heard one gun shot followed by three to four more. She estimated approximately 25 to 30 seconds elapsed between the time she saw the male run and the time she heard the gun shots. Witness [redacted] was not looking outside and did not see who was shooting or where the shots originated from.

Approximately five minutes later, Witness [redacted] received a knock on her door from Deputies, telling her she needed to leave her residence. The interview with Witness [redacted] ended at 1812 hours.

WITNESS [redacted] INTERVIEWED

On Monday, April 4, 2011 at 1820 hours, Investigator O'Quinn interviewed Witness [redacted] (MH/DOB: [redacted]) at the Century Sheriff's Station. Also present during the interview were Deputy District Attorney Jason Lustig and Senior Investigator Sean Robinson of the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office Justice Systems Integrity Division, Sergeant Scott Graham of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Internal Affairs Bureau, and observer Kwan Panchan of the Transnational Crime Affairs

Section/United States Embassy, Thailand. Below is a synopsis of the recorded interview. For complete details, refer to the digital audio disc, which will become a permanent part of the Investigator's file.

Witness [redacted] stated he was inside his residence [redacted] at approximately 0830 hours on 04-04-2011. His mother [redacted] FH/43) told him there were police officers in front of their residence. He said he looked out a large window between his kitchen and living room and saw four to five police officers with guns drawn. Witness [redacted] said the police officers were in an alley and appeared to be looking for someone.

Witness [redacted] said a few minutes passed and it appeared that the police officers had entered their vehicles and left. He went outside to feed his dogs near a small garage at the rear of his residence. Witness [redacted] heard one gun shot followed by five more about five seconds later. He did not see who was shooting or where the shots originated. Witness [redacted] saw police officers with guns drawn running on East 92nd Street towards Zamora Avenue.

Witness [redacted] saw a male adult jump over a block wall to the rear of his property. He described the male as a dark skinned Hispanic, bald, and wearing a black shirt and blue shorts. Witness [redacted] said the male ducked down and looked around. The male saw Witness [redacted] and raised a finger to his lips, indicating to [redacted] o "be quiet". He did not see anything in the hands of the male Hispanic and did not observe him to be bleeding.

Witness [redacted] saw the male enter the door of the small garage at the rear of his property and close it behind him. Witness [redacted] entered his residence again via his front door. He told his mother that he had seen the male enter the small garage. His mother told him to tell the police officers what he had seen. Witness [redacted] exited his front door and approached a male and a female Deputy. He provided a description of the male Hispanic to the Deputies and told them where he had last seen him.

Witness [redacted] was told to go back into his residence and he complied. Deputies came to his door a few minutes later and told him he needed to leave.

The interview with Witness [redacted] ended at 1835 hours.

WITNESS [redacted] INTERVIEWED

On Monday, April 4, 2011 at 1840 hours, Investigator O'Quinn interviewed Witness [redacted] (FH/DOB: [redacted]) at the Century Sheriff's Station. Also present during the interview were Deputy District Attorney Jason Lustig and Senior Investigator Sean Robinson of the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office Justice Systems Integrity Division, Sergeant Scott Graham of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Internal Affairs Bureau, and observer Kwan Panchan of the Transnational Crime Affairs Section/United States Embassy, Thailand. Below is a synopsis of the recorded interview. For complete details, refer to the digital audio disc, which will become a permanent part of the Investigator's file.

Witness [redacted] stated she was standing in her backyard [redacted]) near the back door of her residence at approximately 0800 hours. Looking west, Witness [redacted] saw a male adult opening an exterior door on the east side of the residence located at [redacted] East 92nd Street. As she watched, the male opened the door and then reached in and pulled the door closed. Witness [redacted] described the male as tall, medium complexion, bald, and wearing shorts and a blue "hoodie" sweatshirt.

Witness [redacted] said the male jumped a fence separating the two properties onto her side of the fence. She said the male approached her with his left hand inside his front sweatshirt pocket. The male walked to within one foot of her and asked her if she had a "joint". She said "no".

At this point, Witness [redacted] was nervous and scared and began to back away from the male. She heard a voice asking "do you know him?" Witness [redacted] turned in the direction the voice came from and saw two Deputies approaching her from the front of her driveway. She said "no".

Witness [redacted] saw that one Deputy had a large black "rifle" in his hands. The other deputy had his pistol drawn. Witness [redacted] said she "froze" and did not look at the male again. She looked up and saw the Deputies running west on East 92nd Street.

Witness [redacted] did not hear the Deputies say anything as they ran. A few seconds later, she heard one gun shot followed by two or three more. Witness [redacted] did not see who was shooting or where the shooting occurred.

Witness [redacted] said she remained "frozen" in her backyard until she heard her mother calling to her to come inside the residence. She entered her residence and remained there until Deputies called her via telephone several minutes later and ordered them to leave. Witness [redacted] said Deputies called her from her neighbors home [redacted] FH/A).

The interview with Witness [redacted] ended at 1900 hours.

WITNESS [redacted] INTERVIEWED

On Monday, April 4, 2011 at 1910 hours, Investigator O'Quinn interviewed Witness [redacted] (FH/DOB: [redacted]) at the Century Sheriff's Station. Century Station Deputy Alma Gonzalez #[redacted] interpreted Spanish during the interview. Also present were Senior Investigator Sean Robinson of the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office Justice Systems Integrity Division, Sergeant Scott Graham of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Internal Affairs Bureau, and observer Kwan Panchan of the Transnational Crime Affairs Section/United States Embassy, Thailand. Below is a synopsis of the recorded interview. For complete details, refer to the digital audio disc, which will become a permanent part of the Investigator's file. It should be noted that Witness [redacted] had an upset and crying child on her lap during the entire interview.

Witness [redacted] had been standing in front of her residence ([redacted]) on the morning of 04-04-2011. Looking north, she saw a male adult standing and then sitting down on the side porch stairs of her neighbor's residence, across an alley from her residence. Witness [redacted] described the male as bald and wearing a dark blue sweater. She saw several police officers and decided to go inside her residence.

Witness [redacted] said she heard at least one gun shot a short time later but did not see where it occurred or who was involved in the shooting.

The interview with Witness [redacted] ended at 1921 hours.

WITNESS [redacted] INTERVIEWED

On Monday, April 4, 2011 at 1927 hours, Investigator O'Quinn interviewed Witness [redacted] (FH/DOB: [redacted]) at the Century Sheriff's Station. Also present during the interview were Senior Investigator Sean Robinson of the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office Justice Systems Integrity Division, Sergeant Scott Graham of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Internal Affairs Bureau, and observer Kwan Panchan of the Transnational Crime Affairs Section/United States Embassy, Thailand. Below is a synopsis of the recorded interview. For complete details, refer to the digital audio disc, which will become a permanent part of the Investigator's file.

Witness [redacted] stated she had been inside her residence ([redacted] at approximately 0830 hours on 04-04-2011. Her daughter ([redacted] FH/A) was in the backyard at the time. Witness [redacted] heard a "bang" on an exterior wall and went outside through her east side exterior door to check on her daughter. She saw her daughter's hands were up near her shoulders in a "clenched" position and she looked "frozen".

Witness [redacted] saw a Deputy with a shotgun near the entrance to her driveway, looking in the direction of her daughter. She did not see anyone else. Witness [redacted] saw the Deputy begin to run westbound on East 92nd Street and out of view. She said she heard approximately two gun shots and called for her daughter to come into the residence. Witness [redacted] did not see who had been involved in the shooting or where the shooting had occurred.

The interview with Witness [redacted] ended at 1934 hours.

WITNESS [redacted] INTERVIEWED

On Monday, April 4, 2011 at 1719 hours, Investigator Schoonmaker interviewed Witness [redacted] who lives across the street from where the incident occurred. Present during the interview was Sergeant Scott Graham, from the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Internal Affairs Bureau, and Investigator Sean Robinson, from the Los Angeles County District Attorney's office. Below is a brief synopsis of the recorded interview. For complete details, refer to the digital audio disc.

Witness [redacted] stated she was woken up about 0830 hours by a loud "pop" similar to a blown car tire. Moments later she heard three rapid gunshots from outside. Witness [redacted] said she got up and looked out of her front window. She observed three to four uniformed deputies standing in front of [redacted]E. 92nd Street pointing their guns down the driveway. She heard the deputies yelling at someone to "Come out!"

Witness [redacted] said she could hear a male yelling back at the deputies stating, "I have a gun!" The witness observed as the deputies seemed cautious and would not approach the backyard area where the suspect was hiding.

During this observation, Witness [redacted] saw a shotgun on the ground near the deputies. It was then she realized the first loud "pop" she heard must have been a gunshot from the shotgun since the sound was louder than the following gunshots.

While the deputies were attempting to call the suspect out, Witness [redacted] saw the suspect run from the backyard of [redacted] E. 92nd Street ("the green house"), running eastbound, into the backyard of [redacted] E. 92nd Street ("the yellow house"). However, she said from the deputies position they were unable to see what she was observing.

Witness [redacted] said she became aware of a deputy who was positioned in the alley south of the aforementioned locations. It was this deputy who alerted the deputies on 92 nd Street that the suspect was running east.

Witness [redacted] described the suspect as a male Hispanic or light skinned male Black. He was slender in build and approximately 5'11" tall.

When the deputies shifted to the east after the suspect, she heard one of them yell, "Man down!" The witness assumed this meant the deputies caught the suspect. Awhile later, Witness [redacted] saw several deputies in green uniforms wearing helmets (Special Enforcement Bureau).

Believing the incident had ended, Witness [redacted] eft the location. She said she returned at approximately 1250 hours and noticed an even larger police presence. She observed the suspect being wheeled out on a gurney from behind the duplexes at [redacted] Zamora Avenue.

Witness [redacted] stated her father, Witness [redacted] lives in the same triplex as her but two doors to the west. She said he was outside watering the grass at the time of the incident.

Witness [redacted] had nothing further to add. The interview ended at 1735 hours.

WITNESS [redacted] INTERVIEWED

On Monday, April 4, 2011 at 1738 hours, Investigator Schoonmaker interviewed Witness [redacted] father of Witness [redacted] Present during the interview was Sergeant Scott Graham, from the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Internal Affairs Bureau, and Investigator Sean Robinson, from the Los Angeles County District Attorney's office. Witness [redacted] assisted as the interpreter. Below is a brief synopsis of the recorded interview. For complete details, refer to the digital audio disc.

Witness [redacted] stated he was watering the front lawn of the triplex at approximately 0800 hours. He observed two marked patrol cars on his street that "came out of nowhere." He suddenly heard one loud shotgun blast followed by three gunshots.

Witness [redacted] looked across the street but his view was blocked by a parked SUV on the curb in front of his house, a patrol car stopped across the street and a wooden fence that served as the property divider between [redacted] and [redacted] He could not see what was happening.

Fearing for his life, he ran into his house. He remembers hearing the deputies yelling at someone to "Come out!" Witness [redacted] said he never observed a suspect nor did he hear the suspect make any statements.

Witness [redacted] did not have anything further to add. The interview ended at 1750 hours.

FOLLOW UP INVESTIGATION

Investigator Schoonmaker directed F.I.S. Kari Bandy, from the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Criminalistics Laboratory, to take photographs from the perspective of where the two witnesses were standing at the time of their observations.

EVIDENCE HELD:

ITEM #19 DNA Oral Swabs - One white envelope containing two DNA oral swabs. Oral reference samples obtained from Suspect Tennell Billups and booked at the Sheriff's Crime Lab by Sergeant Fredendall on 04/28/2011 under lab receipt #K257935.

On April 20, 2011, the Honorable John A. Torribio, Judge of the Superior Court of California, County of Los Angeles, Southeast District, Department G in the city of Norwalk authorized and issued a court order for investigators to obtain a DNA reference sample from Suspect Tennell Billups. The court order was sought by investigators to obtain a DNA sample from the suspect and compare his DNA genetic profile to evidence seized in this case. The court order will remain a permanent part of the case file.

On April 20, 2011, at 1:52 p.m., investigators contacted Suspect Tennell Billups in Module 331 CTC, at the Twin Towers Correction Facility in Los Angeles. Investigators explained the reason for our presence and asked Billups to submit DNA samples pursuant to the aforementioned court order.

Suspect Billups became agitated and initially refused to submit a sample and cooperate with investigators. Sergeant Clark explained the entire procedure and the fact the court order authorized reasonable force if necessary to obtain a sample from him. Sergeant Clark also stressed the fact investigators didn't want to resort to physical force in obtaining a DNA sample and it would be in his best interest to comply with the order. Suspect Billups requested a copy of the court order and a copy of the order was provided to him by Sergeant Fredendall.

Suspect Billups read the court order and cooperated with investigators. Sergeant Fredendall utilized two swabs from the DNA kit and obtained a sample from each side of the defendant's mouth without incident.

Sergeant Fredendall later booked the evidence at the Sheriff's Crime Lab in Los Angeles under Receipt #K257935.

DECLARATION IN SUPPORT OF COURT ORDER

On Monday, April 4, 2011 at 12:40 p.m., Sergeants John Fredendall #[redacted] Kenneth Clark #[redacted] along with Detectives Marcelo Quintero #[redacted] and Richard Ramirez #[redacted] were detailed from Sheriff's Homicide Bureau to 92nd Street and Central Avenue (Command Post) in the unincorporated area of Los Angeles to investigate the circumstances surrounding a deputy involved shooting, that occurred at [redacted] 92nd Street in Los Angeles. Preliminary information was the suspect had barricaded himself inside a garage following the shooting incident involving a deputy sheriff assigned to Century Station. It was determined that the suspect had sustained gunshot wounds during the incident, and Sheriff's Homicide Bureau was assigned to investigate the matter.

Your affiant and Sergeant Clark interviewed DEPUTY GONZALO INZUNZA, regarding the deputy involved shooting that occurred at [redacted] E 92nd Street, in the unincorporated part of Los Angeles. The interview occurred at the Century Sheriff Station, in the Captain's conference room, and it was recorded in digital audio. Attorney Audra C. Call, from the law office of Green and Shinee was also present.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators that he and his partner were on patrol in unit 214-A, day shift. He said his partner, Deputy Erik Sibrian, was the driver, he was the book man and they were assigned to work the Firestone Park patrol unit. He told investigators that he heard a radio call of a Prowler and it was assigned to unit 216. He and his partner were on 59th Street at Central Avenue so they assigned themselves to the call as the assisting unit.

He said they were en route to the call when the handling unit directed them to go to Zamora Avenue and 92nd Street. He believed the handling unit was positioned on Baird Avenue, which was one block west of Zamora Avenue. When they got to their corner he received information over the radio that the suspect was seen in the rear yard of a house on 92nd Street. They were then told to go to the front side of the houses on 92nd Street and contain that area.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators his partner stopped their car on the northwest corner of 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue and they both got out the car. He said he was armed with the shotgun and the two of them started walking westbound on the south side of 92nd Street, from Zamora Avenue. His partner was behind him so he told his partner to keep his eyes trained on the houses as they slowly moved west.

He said when he reached [redacted]2nd Street he heard a broadcast that the suspect was just seen running eastbound. He told investigators that he and his partner headed west on 92nd Street until they came up to a long driveway and stopped. He said when he looked down the east side of the property he saw the suspect approximately 20 yards down a long driveway.

It should be noted that the first contact occurred on the east side of the location in a long walkway.

Deputy Inzunza said he saw a Hispanic female standing approximately one foot to the right of the suspect. The suspect was standing right next to the female and he believed that a radio broadcast was being made, at that time, saying that the suspect was just seen coming out of someone's house. He said he did not know which property the deputy in the broadcast was talking about but he could hear a report that someone they had seen the suspect.

He stated that, based on this, he believed that a burglary had just occurred. He said he could also see that the suspect he was now standing shoulder to shoulder with a Hispanic lady and as he studied the situation he saw that the male had a look of fear on his face. The man was now standing with his shoulder next to the shoulder of the lady and he now had a panic look on his face.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators his shotgun was pointed toward the ground when he asked the female "Ma'am do you know him?" He said the female looked at him, shrugged her shoulders, and said "no." Then she quickly moved away from the suspect and that created some distance between the two. He stated that the female then said "I don't know who he is, I think he's trying to break in", as she moved to get away from the suspect. He stated that it was at that moment that the suspect turned and ran behind the building while the female came toward him. He said he lost sight of the suspect, so he raised the shotgun and he and his partner started speed walking west on 92nd Street, mirroring the movement of the suspect. The suspect ran west as he and Deputy Sibrian headed west to cut him off.

He said they were on the south sidewalk and within seconds the suspect reappeared on the number 3 side of the house at [redacted]2nd Street. He stated that the suspect had run completely around the house and was now on the number 3 side, the west side of the property, running toward the front yard of [redacted]Deputy Inzunza drew investigators a hand sketch depicting the location and where the suspect reappeared. He described where he saw the suspect and said that the suspect was not exactly in the front yard.

He thought the suspect was mid-yard of the house at [redacted] 92nd Street. He described it as the house with a wrought-iron fence. He used the number 1 to indicate his position on his sketch and the number 2 to indicate the female's position. He told investigators he thought the female stayed on the east side of the house after the suspect ran behind the property.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators the suspect stopped and looked at him and he could see that the man was holding a gun in his hand. He said the suspect pointed the gun at him and he fired one round from the shotgun at the suspect while at the same time yelling "put your hands up, put your hands up". He said he felt that the suspect was going to shoot him or his partner behind him and that's why he shot. He tried to chamber another round into the chamber and couldn't because the slide got stuck. He tried three or four more times to get the slide to move while yelling at the guy "stop, stop put your hands up, put your hands up". He said he saw the suspect run and jump over the fence and that's when he threw the shotgun down and ran west to head off the suspect. He described seeing the suspect jump the fence and run across the yard at [redacted] 92nd Street. The suspect ran across the yard then south on the west side of the house and out of his view.

Deputy Inzunza said that he ran and took up a position of containment and pointed at his hand-drawn map. He indicated he ran west in the street and pointed to the area where he stopped. He said he saw the suspect run around the west corner of the house and as followed the suspect he yelled for him to stop. He said he saw the suspect stop then the suspect began to turn around while still holding the gun in his right hand. When the suspect faced him he pointed the gun in his direction. He said he feared for his safety and the safety of his partner so he fired 3 to 5 times at the suspect with his Beretta. He told investigators that he fired at the suspect to stop the threat.

He said he could see there was a wall or some type of solid structure behind the suspect when he fired. Deputy Inzunza stated that he saw the suspect turn, drop the weapon and run east between the house. He said he could see a deputy on the corner at Zamora Avenue, so he and Deputy Sibrian ran to the area where the suspect dropped the gun. He said he also heard over the radio that deputies could see the suspect and he was still running east behind houses. He said the suspect was now running in the opposite direction of where he initially started, which was back towards Zamora Avenue.

Deputy Inzunza said he didn't know if the area was contained so he and Deputy Sibrian ran back to the Corner of 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue and waited there until other units arrived. He said he could hear, over the radio, that deputies could see the suspect move so he had a good idea that the suspect was heading east between the houses. He told investigators he heard patrol units in the alley and he overheard someone say the suspect was running towards Zamora Avenue. He said that he started broadcasting a description of the shooting incident that just occurred.

Deputy Inzunza repeated his statement of pointing the shotgun and firing one shot at the suspect and not being able to rack the slide on the weapon. He said he lost sight of the suspect and how he broadcast what happened over the radio. He said he saw where the suspect tossed his gun and he and Deputy Sibrian recovered the weapon when he heard deputies say the suspect was running east. He said that he realized the suspect was running in the opposite direction of where he initially started.

He said he heard a deputy say over the radio that the suspect had entered a garage and he told investigators the suspect was wearing a blue jacket or a blue sweater. He said he was also wearing blue shorts and tennis shoes and he did not have a hat. He described the suspect as light complexion with short hair. He said the suspect looked like he was Hispanic but he now knows the suspect is a light complected African-American. He described the man as 20 to 30 years old, 5'7" to 5'9" tall, un shaven, weighing approximately 170 to 180 pounds.

Deputy Inzunza said when he initially saw the female, she looked petrified and very scared. He said when he heard the initial call and the additional information over the radio, he thought the prowler call was now a burglary in progress call. He said he told his partner, based on the additional information, to "keep your head up." He said he based his opinion on the additional information in the broadcast that a resident could see the suspect looking inside the window of a house, before losing sight of the suspect. He said when he and his partner saw the female, he could tell that she was scared. He told investigators he thought the address was 1[redacted]2nd Street. He said he could see the Hispanic female down the side of the house and she was standing on the right side of the suspect. He said the male and female were standing "shoulder to shoulder".

He told investigators that the male was very close to the female and they were both facing north. He said when he saw the suspect standing next to the female, it looked like the suspect tried to grab her when he asked the woman if she knew the man. He said when the suspect reached out and grabbed at the woman she moved her shoulder and moved toward him. When she did that, the suspect turned and ran to the back of the building and out of sight. Deputy Inzunza said the female's answer and action were odd and he realized she was trying to distance herself from the man and that's when the woman said she didn't know the man.

Deputy Inzunza said the suspect looked directly at him and they even made eye contact. He said the man tried to grab the woman but she moved her shoulder and got away. He said he realized that the man was the person that they were looking for, especially when the woman told him she didn't know the man. He said he felt that the suspect might grab the woman and take her inside the house since they were standing by the open door. He told investigators that the female did not scream but he could see that she was visibly shaken and scared. He described her as nervous and said she moved away from the man as soon as he reached out to grab her.

He said at the same time, he and his partner yelled at the suspect to raise his hands and they continued yelling this until the suspect turned and ran away. He told investigators he lost sight of the suspect when he ran behind the house, but he saw him come around on the west side and he was wearing the same blue clothing that he'd seen when the suspect was on the east side location, next to the woman.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators he did a slow walk west until the suspect reappeared. He said he thought the suspect was about 15 yards from him when he reappeared. He said he saw that the suspect was holding a weapon in his right hand and he was wearing the same blue clothing. He said when the suspect reached the gate area, he and his partner yelled for him to put his hands up but he didn't. He said that the suspect turned his back toward him and when he turned around the suspect was holding a gun in his hand. He told investigators that the suspect's back was facing him and then he suddenly turned around, faced him and pointed the gun at him and his partner. He said he thought the suspect was going to shoot so he fired first.

He stated that he did not have any solid cover to hide behind when he shot at the suspect. He said he remembered seeing a fence and a tree but there was no time for him to take cover behind anything solid. He said his frame of mind was initially to back up across the street to get cover but the suspect reappeared within seconds with a weapon in his hand. He stated that he didn't have time to take cover because his attention was drawn to the area where the suspect was last seen. He said he kept his attention on that threat and when the suspect reappeared, the suspect pointed a gun at him and his partner.

He repeated that he had no cover except for the fence and his frame of mind was focused on the suspect and the threat the suspect posed. He said he remembered hearing deputies over the radio say they could see the suspect running behind the building. He said the suspect suddenly reappeared and was now holding a gun in his hand.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators he was in fear for his life and his partners life who was behind him, so he fired one shot at the suspect to stop the threat. He said his partner had his Beretta out and he did not fire any shots at the suspect. He said he didn't think the suspect got a shot off at him with his gun. He told investigators he recovered the suspect's weapon and he now knows the type and caliber of the gun, but at the time of the shooting he did not know. He said he only saw the man with a black pistol in his hand.

He said after the first shotgun blast, the suspect ran west and climb the fence in the yard of [redacted] 92nd Street. He ran through the front yard of the house and around the west side of the building to the rear and out of his sight. He said he heard radio traffic that deputies could see the suspect running behind the building and thought he ran in an eastbound direction. He said he also remembered hearing someone say that the suspect had reversed his direction was now running west back towards he and his partner. He said the suspect reemerged and he was still holding the gun in the same hand he held it before.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators he and his partner yelled at the suspect telling him to stop and to raise his hands. He said the suspect ignored them and turned to his right and started to point his gun at them a second time. That's when he fired 3 to 4 rounds from his Beretta. He said his partner was still behind him when he fired and the suspect turned and ran between the buildings. He said they both saw the suspect drop the weapon and just about the same time he heard the suspect yell or make a strange noise. He said the suspect also made an unnatural type of movement as he yelled and he thought it was a reaction to the suspect being injured or shot.

He told investigators he and his partner recovered the suspect weapon after he heard deputies say over the radio that the suspect was running eastbound away from them. He said he didn't want the suspect to come back and rearm himself. He said after they recovered the weapon, they backed out of the area until they reached 92nd Street, then they went to the corner of 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue.

Deputy Inzunza told investigators he and his part ner recovered a .380 caliber, semiautomatic pistol that the suspect dropped. He said he put that weapon in the trunk of his radio car and his partner stayed at the radio car until they were relieved. He said they drove back to Century station and waited. He said he remembered seeing a deputy pick up the shotgun and put it inside a radio car. He thought it was done by the deputy working 216A. He told investigators he did not load the shotgun but his partner did. He said it was loaded with .00 buck shot and it was the older "Ithaca" shotgun.

He said he was the passenger in the car and his partner was driving. He said that is why he was in front of his partner the entire time, because he got out of the car first. Deputy Inzunza said he is familiar with the area and he knew that there had recently been a rash of burglaries and gang shootings. He said when he heard the call, his frame of mind was the prowler call would probably be a burglary in progress call. He said he remembers coordinating the call over L-TAC and when he arrived a containment had already been set up. He said a deputy at the scene reported that they had seen the suspect inside a different location and based on that information adjustments were made and they move to another position.

It should be noted that Deputy Inzunza was dressed in full class A sheriff's department uniform. He was wearing a badge displayed, a gun belt, radio and Departmental issued equipment.

Your affiant and Sergeant Clark conducted a thorough investigation of this matter and submitted the case to Los Angeles Metropolitan Court, Deputy District Attorney, Mario Coto-Lopez for filing consideration. Twelve felony counts, consisting of 245(d)(2) P.C., 69 P.C., 459 P.C.,12021(a)(1) P.C. and one count of 148(a)(1) P.C. were filed under Court Case #VA119391 on April 14, 2011.

THEREFORE, I am seeking a Court Order to obtain two oral swabs from inside the mouth of Tennell Billups and or a blood sample from him in a medically approved manner. Once obtained, the oral swabs or blood sample will be processed and analyzed by the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, Crime Lab, for the genetic profile (DNA) of Tennell Billups, to be compared to the genetic profile of the DNA obtained from the Lorcin, .380 caliber, black steel, semiautomatic pistol, serial #217662, collected at the crime scene.

EVIDENCE

The following evidence item was submitted for examination under laboratory receipt number K293652:

Item 16 One Lorcin, model L380, 380 Auto caliber semiautomatic pistol bearing serial number 217662, and one magazine.

EXAMINATION OBSERVATIONS AND CONCLUSIONS

The Lorcin pistol, item 16, was examined and determined to be non-functional. The firing mechanism was examined and the firing pin was determined to be broken. Item 16 was photographed for documentation purposes. Photographs were also taken of the broken firing pin from item 16 alongside a firing pin taken from an LASD reference firearm of the same make and model.

SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT

This report is supplemental to a report issued under the above listed file number.

EVIDENCE

The following evidence item was submitted under laboratory receipt number K293651 for examination:

F-1 One Ithaca, model 87, 12 Gauge shotgun bearing serial number MAG870029190. Received with three live Federal Tactical, 12 Gauge, 2 3/4, 4 Buck shotshells, and one fired Federal Tactical,12 Gauge, 2 3/4, 4 Buck shotshell.

EXAMINATION CONCLUSIONS

The shotgun, F-1, was examined, test fired, and determined to be functional. Several 12 Gauge "dummy" shotshells were cycled through, and several Federal Tactical,12 Gauge, 4 Buck shotshells were test fired in shotgun F-1 . No malfunctions occurred during this examination, however, a more detailed examination by the Department Armorer is recommended. Two test fire specimens were assigned laboratory receipt number K293647 for preservation. The one fired and three live shotshells from shotgun F-1 were sub-receipted to K293660 for preservation prior to the release of the shotgun back to Century Station.

On April 4, 2011, at the request of Detectives Clark and Fredendall, a field investigation was conducted in the area of [redacted] through [redacted] E. 92nd Street, Los Angeles. Detectives requested assistance in the documentation and collection of firearms related evidence items related to a Deputy Involved Shooting. Deputy Sheriff John Vanderschaaf was present from the Firearms Identification Section for training purposes.

SCENE EXAMINATION

The outside area surrounding the residences at [redacted] and [redacted] E. 92nd Street were examined. Fired cartridge cases were observed on the lawn, sidewalk, and parkway area northwest of [redacted] E. 92nd Street. Bullet holes/impacts were observed in the lawn west of [redacted] E. 92nd Street, in the north exterior wall of the garage south of [redacted] E.92nd Street, and in the north wall of a stairway leading to [redacted] Unit C, E. 92nd Street. Fired bullets were observed on the lawn north of the garage and also west of the structure at [redacted]. 92nd Street. Damage consistent with shot pellet related impacts were observed to the east and north exterior walls of [redacted] E. 92nd street. Possible shotshell wad material and lead/lead pellet fragments were observed on the driveway west of [redacted] E. 92nd Street. A possible pellet fragment was also observed on the sidewalk south of [redacted] E. 92nd Street.

The following bullets holes/impacts were observed:

A — Bullet related damage to the grass, located west of the walkway, west of [redacted]. 92nd Street. This bullet traveled southbound and downward creating a trough in the grass. A fired bullet was recovered from the lawn just south of this damage as item 15.

B — Bullet hole in the north facing surface of the north wall of the stairway leading to 1[redacted]. 92nd Street, Unit "C." This bullet traveled in a generally southbound direction and penetrated the wall. A fired bullet was recovered within the wall as item 17.

C — Bullet impact to the north exterior wall of the garage, located south of [redacted]. 92nd Street. This bullet traveled generally southbound and impacted the wall. A fired bullet was recovered from the grass north of this impact as item 4.

E — Shot pellet damage, located on the east and north exterior walls of 1[redacted]. 92nd Street. This damage consisted of three impacts on the east wall and two impacts to the north wall. These pellets traveled generally westbound, impacted the east wall, and ricocheted off the north wall at the northeast corner of the structure. No further trajectory could be determined.

EVIDENCE

Items 1, 2, 3, & 14	Four fired 9mm Luger caliber cartridge cases, all bearing "WIN" headstamp, located on the lawn, sidewalk and parkway northwest of [redacted]. 92nd Street.
Item 4	One fired bullet, located on the lawn north of the garage for [redacted]. 92nd Street. Related to impact "C."
Items 6 & 9	Possible shotshell wad material, located on the driveway west of [redacted] E. 92nd Street.
Items 7, 8, & 10	Possible lead pellet fragments, located on the driveway west of [redacted] E. 92nd Street.
Item 11	Possible lead pellet fragment, located on the sidewalk north of [redacted] E. 92nd Street.
Item 15	One fired bullet, located on the grass west of [redacted] E. 92nd Street. Related to the damage in the grass labeled "A" for identification.
Item 17	One fired bullet, recovered from within the north wall of the stairway leading to [redacted] Unit "[redacted] E. 92nd Street. Related to hole "B."

The following item was recovered from the trunk of LASD patrol vehicle SD3963, which was parked eastbound in the intersection of E 92nd Street at Zamora Avenue:

F-1	One Ithaca, model 87, 12 Gauge pump action shotgun bearing serial number MAG-870029190. This shotgun was recovered in a "jammed" condition. The safety button was in the "off" position; the slide action was positioned to the rear; a fired shotshell was observed in the chamber; a live shotshell was observed held by the extractors in a "ready to chamber" position; and two additional live shotshells were located in the magazine tube.

The following item was received from Deputy Sheriff Bandy while at the location:

Item 16	One Lorcin, model L380, 380 Auto caliber semiautomatic pistol bearing serial number 217662, and one empty magazine. This pistol was received with the slide closed, chamber empty, and magazine separate. The safety mechanism on the left side of the pistol frame is missing.

On April 4, 2011 at 1100 hours, I arrived at location #1 and contacted Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Homicide Detective(s) R. Ramirez (#[redacted] and M. Quintero (#[redacted] for a briefing related to a Deputy involved shooting resulting in a barricaded suspect.

At 1300 hours, I arrived at location #2 and #3, which consisted of several single-family residences adjacent to each other. Upon request, I conducted a technical investigation as follows:

I photographed the overall crime scene as it appeared upon my arrival which included intermediate and close-up photographs.

Forensic Identification Specialist J. Thompson (#[redacted] responded to the above listed locations and completed a hand-drawn sketch and evidence legend listing all the evidence and measurements. She took possession of evidence items EV/5 and EV/12. (See supplemental report)

Senior Criminalist R. Keil (#[redacted] responded to the above listed locations and conducted a firearms examination. I took photographs of the areas and evidence as directed by the Criminalist. He took possession of evidence items EV/1-4, EV/6-11 and EV/14-17. (See supplemental report)

Forensic Identification Specialist S. Watson (#[redacted] completed victim and suspect photographs in addition to aerial photographs of all the locations. (See supplemental report)

I photographed and conducted a latent print examination of location #2. I fingerprinted the interior of the location including the exterior side door, security door, master bedroom, upstairs bedrooms, downstairs closet, jewelry box, and large plastic bin. No fingerprints were recovered from the residence.

I photographed the interior and exterior of above listed vehicle.

At 2000 hours, I arrived at location #4. I photographed the interior of the location which consisted of a single family residence.

Deputy R. Davidson (#[redacted] responded to the location and conducted a latent print examination. (See supplemental report)

I received a gun shot residue kit (#[redacted] from Deputy A. Arevalo (#[redacted] and submitted it to the crime lab for further processing. (Lab #K095687)

Evidence (EV/13 - Cell Phone) was released to Detective M. Quintero.

The CF memory card and evidence were transported to the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Crime Lab for further processing.

Victim: Deputy Inzuna

Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Homicide Bureau Detective R. Ramirez requested the comparison of a pair of athletic shoes to multiple, partial footwear impressions on a door.

LABORATORY EXAMINATION

The following items were received for footwear impression examination and comparison under the designated laboratory receipt number:

CP-1 a pair of blue, size US 10, Nike Air brand athletic shoes (J955651); and
EV-D multiple, partial footwear impressions on a door preserved by photography.

The electronic photographic file bearing file number 911-05058-2176-055 was reviewed and life-sized (1:1 scale) images of EV-D were printed for comparison purposes. Transparent overlays of CP-1 shoes' outsoles were made by the fingerprint powder/roller transport film method The submitted shoes' outsoles and transparent overlays were visually compared with the multiple, partial footwear impressions on a door preserved by photography.

EXAMINATION CONCLUSIONS

The multiple, partial footwear impressions on a door, EV-D, could have been made by the right Nike Air brand shoe, CP-1, or another right shoe with similar class characters of outsole pattern, size, and wear in the areas visible in the partial impressions.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S CONCLUSION:

"The evidence examined in this investigation shows that Deputies Inzunza and Sibrian were investigating a prowler call and possible residential burglary when they saw Tennell Billups accosting [redacted] who appeared to be scared. [redacted] told deputies that she did not know Billups and thought he was trying to break in. Billups matched the description of the prowler. Upon seeing the deputies, Billups ran away. Ignoring the deputies' orders to stop running, Billups turned and raised a firearm at Inzunza and Sibrian. In imminent danger of great bodily injury or death to himself and his partner, Deputy Inzunza fired his service shotgun once and ordered him to put his hands up. Further ignoring the deputies' commands, Billups ran away from the deputies, jumping the fence into another property. Inzunza again ordered Billups to stop and drop his weapon. Billups turned around and again pointed his firearm in the deputies' direction. In reasonable fear for his life and the life of his partner, Inzunza fired his service weapon four times at Billups, causing him to drop his service weapon and ending the immediate threat. Eventually, Billups surrendered and was taken into custody."

"Billup's actions place Deputy Inzunza and others in the area in imminent danger of death or great bodily injury causing Deputy Inzunza to respond with deadly force. Given the rapidly evolving, life threatening situation that confronted Deputy Inzunza, we conclude that he acted lawfully in self-defense and defense of Deputy Sibrian. We are therefore closing our file and will take no further action in this matter."

RE: J.S.I.D. File #11-0254

Dear Captain Smith:

The Justice System Integrity Division of the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office has completed its review of the April 4, 2011, non-fatal shooting of Tennell Billups by Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department (LASD) Deputy Gonzalo Inzunza. We have concluded that Deputy Inzunza acted lawfully in self-defense and defense of his partner, Deputy Erik Sibrian.

The following analysis is based upon investigative reports, analyzed evidence reports and witness statements taken during the investigation by the LASD and submitted to this office by Detective Kenneth Clark. The District Attorney Command Center was notified of the shooting at approximately 1:20 p.m., on April 4, 2011. The District Attorney Response Team, comprised of Deputy District Attorney Jason Lustig and District Attorney Senior Investigator Sean Robinson, responded to the location. They were given a briefing of the circumstances surrounding the shooting and a walk-through of the scene. Compelled statements were not considered in this analysis.

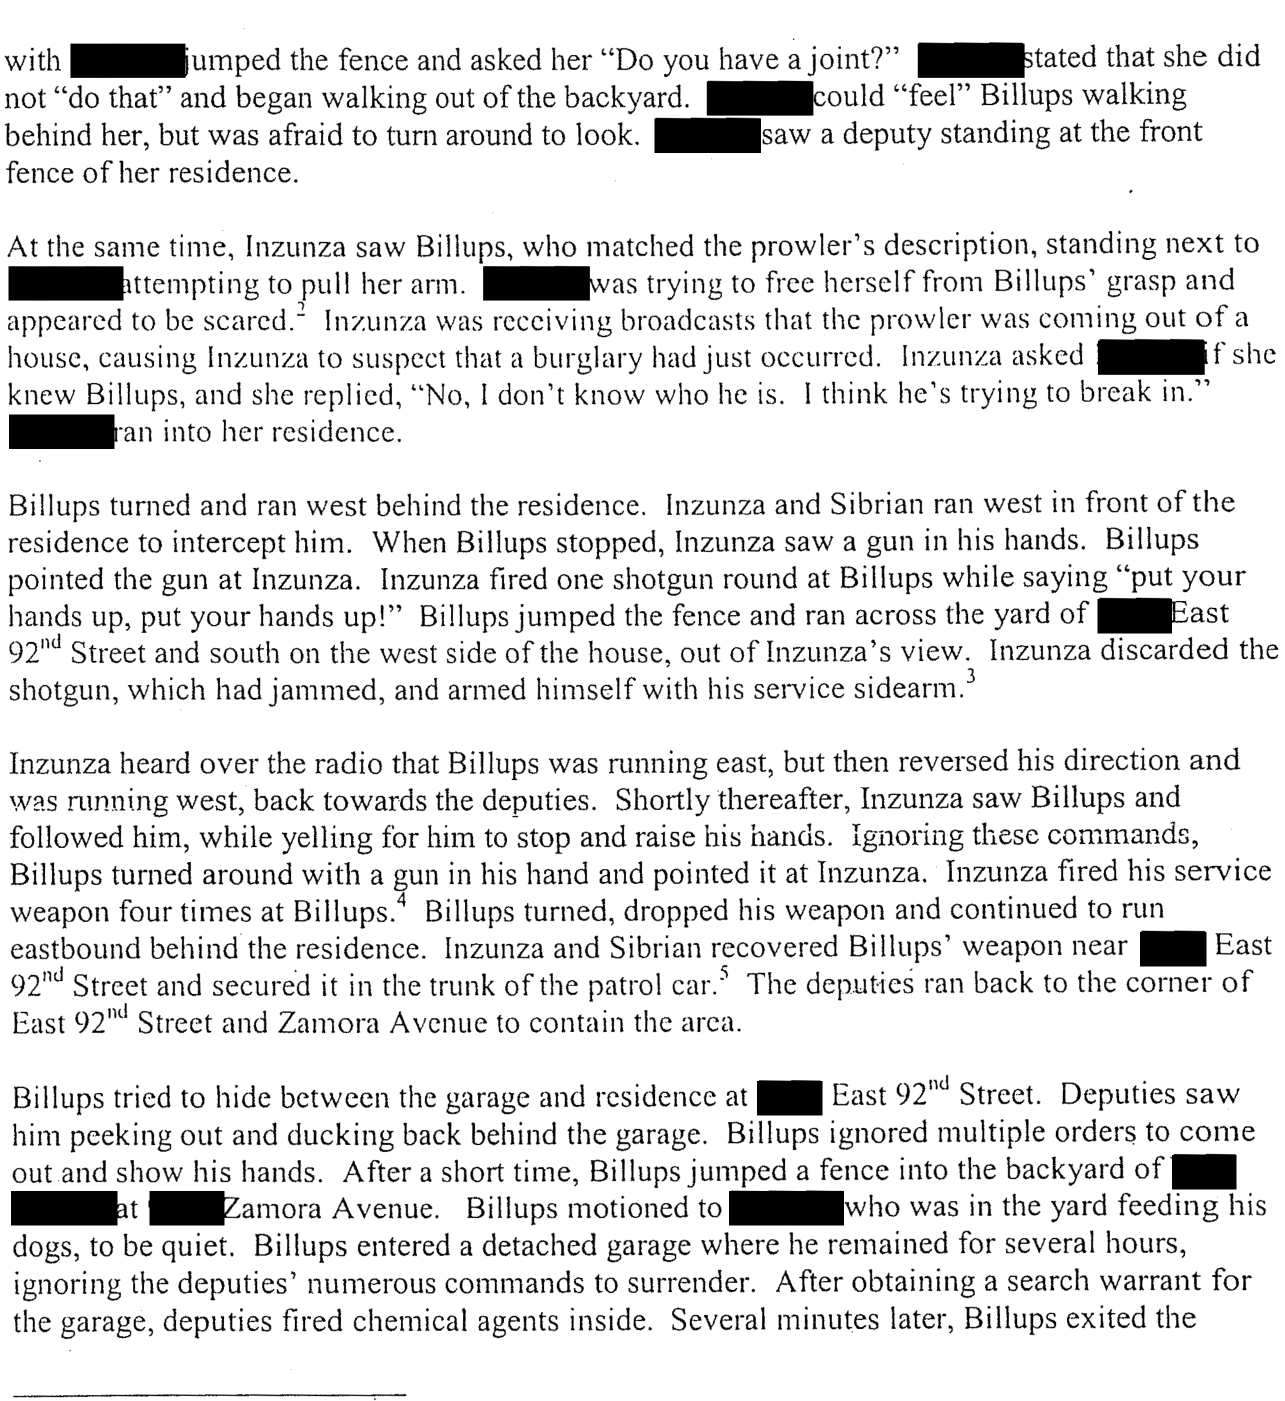

FACTUAL ANALYSIS

On April 4, 2011, at about 8:20 a.m., Deputies Sibrian and Inzunza were on uniformed patrol when they received a radio call of a male prowler looking into a house near Zamora Avenue and East 92nd Street, an unincorporated area of south Los Angeles. Other officers directed Sibrian and Inzunza to contain the front side of the houses on East 92nd Street. [redacted] was outside of her home on East 92nd Street when she noticed a male, later identified as Tennell Billups, exiting her neighbor's residence at [redacted] [1] Billups made eye contact with [redacted] jumped the fence and asked her "Do you have a joint?" [redacted] stated that she did not "do that" and began walking out of the backyard. [redacted] could "feel" Billups walking behind her, but was afraid to turn around to look. [redacted] saw a deputy standing at the front fence of her residence.

[1] It was determined later that this location and another in the area had been burglarized.

At the same time, Inzunza saw Billups, who matched the prowler's description, standing next to [redacted] attempting to pull her arm. [redacted] was trying to free herself from Billups' grasp and appeared to be scared.[2] Inzunza was receiving broadcasts that the prowler was coming out of a house, causing Inzunza to suspect that a burglary had just occurred. Inzunza asked [redacted] if she knew Billups, and she replied, "No, I don't know who he is. I think he's trying to break in." [redacted] ran into her residence.

Billups turned and ran west behind the residence. Inzunza and Sibrian ran west in front of the residence to intercept him. When Billups stopped, Inzunza saw a gun in his hands. Billups pointed the gun at Inzunza. Inzunza fired one shotgun round at Billups while saying "put your hands up, put your hands up!" Billups jumped the fence and ran across the yard of [redacted] East 92nd Street and south on the west side of the house, out of Inzunza's view. Inzunza discarded the shotgun, which had jammed, and armed himself with his service sidearm.[3]

Inzunza heard over the radio that Billups was running east, but then reversed his direction and was running west, back towards the deputies. Shortly thereafter, Inzunza saw Billups and followed him, while yelling for him to stop and raise his hands. Ignoring these commands, Billups turned around with a gun in his hand and pointed it at Inzunza. Inzunza fired his service weapon four times at Billups.[4] Billups turned, dropped his weapon and continued to run eastbound behind the residence. Inzunza and Sibrian recovered Billups' weapon near [redacted] East 92nd Street and secured it in the trunk of the patrol car.[5] The deputies ran back to the corner of East 92nd Street and Zamora Avenue to contain the area.

Billups tried to hide between the garage and residence at [redacted] East 92nd Street. Deputies saw him peeking out and ducking back behind the garage. Billups ignored multiple orders to come out and show his hands. After a short time, Billups jumped a fence into the backyard of [redacted] at [redacted] Zamora Avenue. Billups motioned to [redacted] who was in the yard feeding his dogs, to be quiet. Billups entered a detached garage where he remained for several hours, ignoring the deputies' numerous commands to surrender. After obtaining a search warrant for the garage, deputies fired chemical agents inside. Several minutes later, Billups exited the [2] Another neighbor, [redacted] saw Billups reach for [redacted] arm and [redacted] twist her body and move her arm to avoid him.

[3] Deputy Zamorano recovered Inzunza's shotgun and secured it in a Sheriff's vehicle.

[4] In his interview, Deputy Sibrian, who had completed his initial training two months earlier, stated that he was unable to see why Inzunza was shooting at Billups because Inzunza was in front of him. Sibrian had his service weapon drawn but did not fire it because he never had a clear view of Billups and Inzunza was in his line of fire.

[5] Billups' firearm was an unloaded, Lorcin, model L380, .380 caliber semiautomatic handgun. There was no record of the gun's ownership. Senior Criminalist Robert Kiel determined that the firearm had a broken firing pin and was, therefore, not functional.

garage and lied down with his hands underneath him. Billups refused orders to show his hands. He was taken into custody with the assistance of a K-9 unit.

Billups was transported to Saint Francis Medical Center where he was treated for three gunshot wounds to his left back, left thigh and right buttock, and dog bites.

In case number VA119391, the District Attorney's Office filed 12 felony counts against Billups for assault with a firearm on a peace officer, burglary and resisting arrest. The case is set for jury trial on August 24, 2011.

[redacted] – Billups' Girlfriend

[redacted] contacted a detective at the scene and introduced herself as Billups' girlfriend. [redacted] accompanied the detective to Century Station to be interviewed. While on her way home from an appointment, [redacted] received a text message from Billups at 11:55 a.m., saying that he was going to jail and needed her. [redacted] called Billups who told her that he had been shot by the police and was hiding "barricaded" in someone's yard. [redacted] advised him to surrender. Billups told her that he was in the area of 92nd Street and Avalon Boulevard.

Tennell Billups

On April 5, 2011, at 12:11p.m., Billups was interviewed in the Saint Francis Medical Center Intensive Care Unit. After waiving his Miranda rights, Billups told investigators that he was driving his Cadillac Escalade on Avalon Boulevard at 92nd Street, when it broke down and kept stalling.[6] He exited the vehicle and started walking. Billups knew he was going to have problems because he was in Blood gang territory wearing all blue clothing.[7] Some Black males drove up to him and one of them said, "What's up blood?" Billups began running down a side street and jumped a fence into a yard where he waited for 20 minutes.

When Billups jumped a fence into another yard to escape from the males, he saw the police who told him to "freeze!" The police started shooting at him, even though he told the police, "I don't have no gun." Billups ran into the backyard of another residence while still being shot at.

Inconsistently, Billups said that he did not know whether the males shooting at him were officers or gang members because he first saw them behind a car.[8] Billups never saw a police officer or a police car during the encounter, and did not know who was shooting at him. Later in the interview, he changed his version of the events again, telling the investigators that the police were shooting at him and that there were three different officers who shot at him before he was captured. Billups claimed that he did not have a gun in his hand or on his person during this incident. Billups denied entering anyone's home other than the garage where he was captured.

[6] Billups' vehicle was found parked on the street in front of [redacted] East 92nd Street. On April 8, 2011, Sergeant Fredendall examined the vehicle and found that it did not present the mechanical problems Billups claimed.
[7] Billups admits to being a member of the Crips street gang, a rival of the Blood gang.
[8] Deputies Inzunza and Sibrian were dressed in full Sheriff's department uniforms.

Billups has previously been diagnosed with [redacted] He was prescribed medication for [redacted] but had stopped taking it two weeks before this incident.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

California law permits the use of deadly force in self-defense or in the defense of others if it reasonably appears to the person claiming the right of self-defense or the defense of others that he actually and reasonably believed that he or others were in imminent danger of great bodily injury or death. (People v. Williams (1977) 75 Cal.App.3d 731.)

In protecting himself or another, a person may use all force which he believes reasonably necessary and which would appear to a reasonable person, in the same or similar circumstances, to be necessary to prevent the injury which appears to be imminent. (California Criminal Jury Instructions 3470.)

When the peril is swift and imminent and the necessity for action immediate, the law does not weigh into nice scales the conduct of the assailed and say he shall not be justified in killing because he might have resorted to other means to secure his safety. (People v. Collins (1961) 189 Cal. App.3d 575).

CONCLUSION

The evidence examined in this investigation shows that Deputies Inzunza and Sibrian were investigating a prowler call and possible residential burglary when they saw Tennell Billups accosting [redacted] who appeared to be scared. [redacted] told the deputies that she did not know Billups and thought he was trying to break in. Billups matched the description of the prowler. Upon seeing the deputies, Billups ran away. Ignoring the deputies' orders to stop running, Billups turned and raised a firearm at Inzunza and Sibrian. In imminent danger of great bodily injury or death to himself and his partner, Deputy Inzunza fired his service shotgun once at Billups and ordered him to put his hands up. Further ignoring the deputies' commands, Billups ran away from the deputies, jumping the fence into another property. Inzunza again ordered Billups to stop and drop his weapon. Billups turned around and again pointed his firearm in the deputies' direction. In reasonable fear for his life and the life of his partner, Inzunza fired his service weapon four times at Billups, causing him to drop his weapon and ending the immediate threat. Eventually, Billups surrendered and was taken into custody.

Billups' actions placed Deputy Inzunza and others in the area in imminent danger of death or great bodily injury causing Deputy Inzunza to respond with deadly force. Given the rapidly evolving, life threatening situation that confronted Deputy Inzunza, we conclude that he acted lawfully in self-defense and defense of Deputy Sibrian. We are therefore closing our file and will take no further action in this matter.
